ON THE HOLD-UP

Attempt by Defense to Fasten the Highway Robbery a Year Ago Upon Adry Hayward.

Evidence of a Livery Stable Keeper That Adry Had a Rig Out on That Evening.

Three People Say Miss Gine Told Them She Was Going to Extend Her Business.

Wilson Charges That Attorney Sweetzer Said Hayward Had Money and They Wanted His Testimony.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 27.—The defense in the Hayward murder case seems determined to fasten the responsibility for the highway robbery of April 27, 1894, on Adrian Hayward, the confessing brother of the accused. The chief incident of the session of the criminal court this morning was the testimony given by Fred Horst, of the postoffice alley livery stable, that Adry Hayward hired a horse at 9 p. m. on that very date and returned it at 10:30. This would have given him time to take part in the hold-up of his brother, and Miss Gine and Miss Vedder with whom he was driving.

The defense expects to show by other witnesses that Adry was seen near the scene of the robbery that night. The defense also devoted some time this morning to prove that Miss Gine had actually contemplated going into the millinery business on Nicollet avenue, an intention which would explain her desire to borrow money from Harry Hayward. The agent of the property to whom she talked of renting, and two ladies for whom she had worked, and to whom she had talked of her project, gave the evidence.

A watch repairer in the employ of Eustis Brothers testified as to the leaving for repairs by Harry Hayward of the watch which figured in the Blizz story of their box episode. The watch was left on the morning of the day of the murder.

There are renewed fears that the jury may not be able to stand the long strain of the trial successfully. Juror S. H. Dyer, the patriarchal boat builder, is suffering badly from various ailments. This morning he had to be carried up the stairs to the court room and provided with a cushioned rest for his legs.

M. D. Wilson, liveryman, who swore that he saw Harry Hayward driving with Miss Gine the night of the murder, was recalled and admitted that he had told various people it was too dark that night to see the face of the man. Wilson explained that he wanted to get out of testifying.

"Did you tell H. D. Davis," asked Ewin, "that you could make $400 or $500 out of old man Hayward?"

"I told him that a man could make $400 or $500 there if he wanted to, but that money could not buy me."

Wilson explained this remark by charging that Mr. Sweetzer, of counsel for the defense, had come to him and said: "Hayward has plenty of money and we need you." The defense was indignant at this charge and proposed to put Sweetzer on the stand to contradict it.

TROUBLE AT SAVANNAH.

Lectures by Ex-Priest Slattery Caused Serious Trouble by a Mob.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 27.—A mob of 5000 surrounded the Masonic temple where ex-Priest Slattery lectured last night. All the windows in the hall were broken. The entire white military force of the city was called out, and the mob was driven back several times at point of bayonet. Captain V. J. V. General Caffery arrived on the scene and counselled peace, declaring to the Catholics present that they were disgracing their religion by their conduct. The mob became more peaceable and Slattery and wife went to their hotel under protection of the troops. The hotel was guarded all night by police.

At noon today the board of managers of the Young Men's Hebrew association, which has the lease of the hall in Masonic Temple, adopted resolutions cancelling the contract for the hall with Slattery, the ex-priest.

About 1 o'clock this morning four 3-story buildings at Farm and Margaret streets were blown up. The explosion wrecked them completely. Efforts are making by some persons to connect this with the riots of last night, but there is no evidence thus far to sustain the charge.

HAS TOO MANY HUSBANDS.

A California Woman Troubled With a Superfluity of Spouses.

OAKLAND, Cal., Feb. 27.—C. R. Schoonover does not know whether to call his wife "Mrs. Schoonover" or "Mrs. Maxon," and the lady is not pleased at the possession of two husbands, one of which she will cheerfully relinquish.

On Dec. 12, 1894, Mrs. Maxon applied for a divorce from J. L. Maxon, now living in Walla Walla, Wash., for failure to provide and desertion. H. Maxon did not contest the divorce, having gone to Washington to make it easier for his wife to obtain her decree.

In a letter to his wife on Dec. 22 he acknowledged serving of the papers. Sixty days are allowed the defendant to answer and on Feb. 23 Mrs. Maxon would have been entitled to her divorce. She obtained a decree on Feb. 13, however, and on Feb. 17 obtained a marriage license and married Mr. Schoonover, the following day.

Learning the circumstances, Judge Frick set aside the decree of divorce. So now the double wife has a husband to spare. She is afraid to apply again for a decree or to be remarried and is in a quandary.

EXCITEMENT AT PIERRE

Charles McCoy Has Been Arrested for Complicity in the Defalcation of State Treasurer Taylor.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 27.—A Pierre, S. D., special to the Journal says: This city has been thrown into a fever of excitement by the arrest of Charles T. McCoy for complicity in the defalcation of State Treasurer W. W. Taylor.

Attorney General Crawford swore out the warrant on information furnished by the legislative investigating committee. Conspiracy is also charged against J. S. McCleskey, of New York; Daniel K. Tenney and H. Wells, of Chicago, and civil suits will be begun against them.

BIG SUIT DECIDED.

Union Pacific Wins a Suit Instituted by the Government.

TOPICKA, Kan., Feb. 27.—United States District Judge Riner has decided the big suit brought by the government against the Union Pacific railroad for $100,000 against three years' interest, in favor of the railroad company.

The suit was brought to recover the price of the right-of-way of the railroad roadbed through the land of the Delaware Indian reservation. The government claimed that the roadbed had been taken and taken, nor for the improvements which is fixed at $100,000. The railroad claimed the land under a grant from the government.

The other parties to the suit are Circuit court Attorney A. L. Williams, filed a demurrer to the suit which Judge Riner has sustained.

SERIOUS FIRE AT HALIFAX.

Property to the Value of One Million Dollars Destroyed.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 27.—Property to the value of $1,000,000 was destroyed by fire today in the vicinity of Deepwater terminus. All the immigration sheds, wharves, offices and the other buildings burned. Several firemen were injured. A heavy wind was blowing against the fire brigade to assist the city department.

La Libertad Safe.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 27.—The Mexican man-of-war, La Libertad, which was believed to have been lost during the recent northern on the Gulf, is now anchored off the jetty channel, out of coal and with her sails split. She will be towed to the city.

A New Postmaster.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—[Special to The Herald.]—G. V. H. Van Sherman, born was today appointed postmaster at Randall, Morrison county, Minn., vice G. F. Parker, resigned.

SOME RAILROAD RUMORS.

Several rumors of new railroads to the Mesaba range have been floating around of late. One which is now quite prominent is that the Wright & Davis Logging company will build this way and connect with the St. Paul & Duluth road and that an ore dock will be built at West Duluth.

MINERAL BILLS.

Hearing Given By the Legislative Joint Committee on the Bills By Spencer and Wyman.

J. H. Chandler of Chicago Criticized Both Bills, Pointing Out Provisions That Would Be Obnoxious.

President Bacon Invited the Members to Visit the Mines and They Will Probably Accept.

Six Decisions Were Handed Down By the Supreme Court Today, and Two Are Reversals.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 27.—The senate and house committees on mines and minerals gave a hearing to parties interested in the proposed mining inspection law. Two bills were under consideration, Senator Spencer's bill, S. F. 104, and Senator Wyman's bill, S. F. 317. Both bills were read by direction of Senator Spencer, who presided over the joint committee. J. H. Chandler, of Chicago, a mining expert, criticized S. F. 104 first. He suggested that the exception "of ordinary mine risks" be inserted in several sections.

He also objected to the provisions of this bill which gave the inspector the right to condemn appliances and plans in mines against the judgment of the best engineers and experts the owners can hire. He objected to this principle more than for its effect upon the practical management of mines. He said S. F. 104 was based upon the Michigan law.

The other bill, S. F. 317, he said, was based upon the mining laws of Pennsylvania and Illinois, which were drawn for the protection of coal miners, and the danger is much greater than it is in metalliferous mines such as those in the state. He discussed the several sections of this bill separately. He thought in general way that the Wyman bill was too stringent.

He objected to the limitation which prohibited employing in several important positions persons under 21 years of age. He said this should be changed to 18 years. Section 3, relating to escape from shafts through neighboring mines, was pronounced impracticable. Mr. Chandler insisted upon the right of mining companies to do as business as they please. He compared this right to that asserted in Martin Luther's time regarding freedom of conscience.

He dwelt particularly upon the point that if a mining company follows the directions of the state mining inspector against the opinion of its own experts and engineers, the state is still responsible for any accident which may result from the very work ordered by the mining inspector. He also discussed the proposition to have the judgment of the mining inspector enforced by order of the courts. He said if the day ever came when the business of iron mining was placed in the hands of the courts, he wanted to get out of it.

President D. H. Bacon, of the Minnesota Iron company, who was present, suggested that he would like to have the committee visit the mines.

Commissioner Powers, of the labor bureau, stated that he did not intend the bill which he had drafted, and which Senator Wyman had introduced, to give the mining inspector any arbitrary power or interference with the business of the mine. He said a high tribute to the careful management of the Minnesota Iron company, and the regard it had for the life and safety of its employees. He said he was not proposing to make a law which would require any practice of the best mining company.

H. V. Windell called attention to the wisdom of requiring that the mining inspector should be competent to make reports to the state of the growth of the general development, in order that the public may be fully advised of the late discoveries of the mineral resources of the state.

It was suggested by several members of the committee that a trip to the mines would suit them, and it is probable that one was arranged by the chairman of the two committees. No action was taken upon either bill. Mr. Chandler suggested that a combination of both bills would probably be satisfactory to all parties concerned.

SUPREME COURT DECREES.

Six Decisions Handed Down Today, Two Being Reversals.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 27.—Justice Collins, of the supreme court, this morning handed down six decisions, in four of which the decision of the lower court is affirmed. The first reversal is in the case of City Treasurer A. C. Haugen, of Minneapolis, appellant, vs. G. F. Lunwall, respondent. The city treasurer of Minneapolis had taken as security for some city money deposited in one of the banks a negotiable note transferred to him by the cashier of the bank, which was stolen after it was closed its doors. Haugen sued the maker of the note, and in his defense Lunwall set up that the cashier had no right to dispose of the note, and that by his act the provision of the insolvency law relating to fraudulent preferences was violated.

The other reversal is in the case of Benjamin Klee and Solomon Wallach, copartners as Klee and Wallach, et al., respondents, vs. E. N. Steele company, a corporation, appellant. The supreme court holds that sections 9 and 17 of chapter 76, general statutes 1878, must be construed together, and therefore, an action to sequester the property and to have a receiver appointed for a corporation—except banking and insurance companies—cannot be maintained by a creditor who has not first exhausted his legal remedies as required by section 9, save, possibly, in cases where it is made to appear that it would be useless to exhaust such remedies.

In the case of the Puget Sound National bank, of Everett, Wash., plaintiff, respondent, vs. John Mather et al., defendants, Minneapolis Trust company, garnishee, appellant, it is held that certificates of stock in a foreign corporation are personal property, and when in the hands of third parties within this state are subject to garnishment proceedings, under general statutes 1878, chapter 65, section 107, affirming the order of the lower court. Other decisions were:

In re application of Emmet Rice for a receiver, E. G. Rollins et al., appellants, vs. Emmet Rice, petitioner, respondent. Order affirmed.

Earl Fruit company, appellant, vs. Thurston Cold Storage and Warehouse company, respondent. Order affirmed.

THE G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

The Minnesota Veterans Holding an Encampment at St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 27.—The fifteenth annual encampment of the state department of the G. A. R. opened this morning at Ford's hall and it opened late.

The capacity of the hall was severely tested. In fact the hall was not large enough to accommodate the crowd. It was after 11 when Capt. I. L. Mahan called the gathering to order and Chaplain Bibbie delivered the invocation. Mayor Smith welcomed the veterans on behalf of the city. Capt. Van Sant, department commander, then formally opened the encampment. Routine business occupied the morning session.

THE NEW DULUTH BRIDGE.

The Bill Authorizing It Passed the Senate—Altamonte Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—[Special to The Herald.]—The bill authorizing the Wisconsin and New Duluth Bridge company to construct a bridge across the St. Louis river at New Duluth passed the senate at last night's session. It has already passed the house.

S. F. Sweeney, of Duluth, arrived in Washington today.

A big lobby on both sides of the Altamonte bill is here, and a desperate attempt will be made to get the bill up during the week, but the prospects today are that no time will be granted.

Maj. Baldwin secured the passage of a pension bill of $50 a month to Gen. M. C. Hobart, of Wisconsin.

Doings of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—There was a lot of debate in the senate today on the Gorman amendment to the sundry civil bill providing an issue of $100,000,000 of certificates of indebtedness to meet treasury deficiencies.

Mr. Hill offered a further amendment that hereafter all the treasury notes when presented to the treasury shall not be reissued but shall be cancelled.

Finally Mr. Gorman withdrew his amendment and Mr. Hill's amendment was declared out of order.

Fire at Bath Beach.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—A fire which has broken out in the B. McKim's drug store at Bath Beach, L. I., has destroyed business and residence property to the value of $50,000.

JURY IS STILL OUT.

No Verdict Returned as Yet in A. G. Highton's Case.

Yesterday afternoon the grand jury case against A. G. Highton was given to the jury after being argued by County Attorney Arbury and Mr. Crocker. After the jury had gone out at 4:15 Highton announced that if he was convicted he would appeal to the British government for aid. He claims to be a British subject. The only testimony in his behalf was given by himself. His attorney, Mr. Crocker, did not go on the stand in his behalf, as stated in the morning paper.

The jury remained out all night and was still out at noon with no apparent intention of coming to an agreement. The expectation at noon was that the jury's deliberations would result in a disagreement some time this afternoon. From a remark let fall by the court this morning it was not expected that a disagreement would be immediately accepted, and unless an agreement is reached soon the jury is likely to have a siege.

Highton has already spent nearly six months in the county jail, has had two indictments knocked out and has gone over several terms. Another trial would make more expense for the county and the whole cost would probably be as much as the prisoner is worth.

Judgment was rendered for the defendants in the case of Jacob Judnick against Frank Zaic et al. this morning in the case of B. Robinson against L. McNeil et al. Judgment was rendered by default for $397.41.

A default judgment for the amount claimed was rendered in the case of Thomas Mitchell against Mary M. Woodbridge et al. In the case of C. W. Field as trustee against Agnes G. Alexander et al. judgment was rendered for the amount claimed.

The case of Arvin Bagley against Thomas Shovein was reported settled. The lien case of Fred Engle against John Raswell et al. was on trial before Judge Engin at noon.

Warmest February Day.

Yesterday was the warmest February day on record in the Duluth weather bureau office, which was established twenty-five years ago. The thermometer reached 58 degrees above zero. The highest point attained previous to that was 57 degrees. Today the weather is almost as mild as yesterday and if the sun was out the thermometer might go higher than 58 degrees. A rain cloud is hanging over Northern Iowa, Southern Minnesota and the Dakotas, but Northern Minnesota seems to be the edge of a

FREIMUTH'S

THE CAPITAL GOSSIP.

The Report on the Condition of the Capitol Building Prepared by the Joint Committee.

Old, Decaying and Musty Books in the Basement Cause Foul Air in the House.

Rule Suggested to Prevent Use of Public Gallery by People Unseen in Their Person.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Representative Hicks, of Pennsylvania, has prepared the report of the joint committee that investigated the management of the architect's office of the capitol building. The report says the senate end of the capitol building is much cleaner and kept in a better condition, from a sanitary point of view, than the house end. The committee found that old, decaying and musty books, waste paper and materials, gathered from the floor of the house and committee rooms, were permitted to remain in storage in the basement rooms under the house in the terrace rooms. By the reason of their decaying, mouldy and filthy condition the air from them is foul and most unhealthy.

The kitchen in connection with the house restaurant is too small for the business and its requirements, is badly ventilated, and the air therein emitted therefrom, is offensive. The kitchen, says the committee, should be enlarged and a more liberal supply of fresh air forced into it. If a thorough renovation of the basement and the terrace rooms be made and they be treated to a whitewashing of pure lime and be kept free from the accumulation of books, etc., the bad air in the house, the report says, will largely cease.

The committee suggests that top grates in the floor of the house for admitting air be removed, thus preventing cigar ashes, tobacco, etc., from getting under the floor. As the air must necessarily pass over these before reaching the hall, this would remove one means of contamination and would keep the air much cleaner and purer. The hall should be thrown open for a time before the meetings of the house and after the adjournment.

The committee believes that much of the ventilated air from the house comes from the general public gallery and suggests that some rule be adopted to prevent its indiscriminate use by persons unclean in their person and about whom it is only as a convenience and a place for idling, loafing and passing their time and not for the purpose of listening to the transfer of public business. The bathrooms in the basement are also, says the report, to a considerable degree subject to neglect, and the Salubrious committee has been made of the odor of gas escaping from pipes.

As the architect has neither supervisory nor charge of the house buildings, nor in the terrace, and the kitchen, he is not responsible for their condition, and the report adds there is nothing in the large and small business transacted by him that reflects on his honesty, integrity or character. The report is signed by three members of the house public buildings committee, who participated in the investigation and by four members of the architecture committee.

The secretary of the interior, in practically revoking a decision of the department rendered last year, has decided that actual residence in the particular district where surveying work is done is not required of a deputy mineral surveyor, and for that reason there is no objection to a party holding simultaneously a commission as deputy mineral surveyor in more than one state or land district. The work of a surveyor is of a scientific character, and the department rules can be followed by a competent non-resident as well as an actual resident. The selection accordingly should not be restricted to territorial limits.

Representative Haight, of New York, has introduced a bill appropriating $10,000 for the erection of a monument in memory of the late Commander Timothy Green Benham at Richmond, Staten Island, N. Y.

An Heir Missing.
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—The estate of Sarah Towson of Shea in New York valued at $500,000 and the claim of the dead woman's son. He came to California fifteen years ago and worked on ranches in various parts of the state. For the last few years no word has been received from him.

Will Erect a Monument.
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—The body of Lieut. Richard Reaff, poet and warrior, whose grave a party of English tourists vainly endeavored to locate, rests in the Grand Army plot of Old Fellows cemetery. These English admirers have announced their desire to erect a monument to the literature.

Suicide with Dynamite.
FOSHU LAKE, Wis., Feb. 27.—Julius Toph, a farmer in the town of Osceola, yesterday committed suicide by blowing himself to pieces by dynamite. The terrific explosion almost stunned the members of his family. One arm was blown away. Toph was 60 years of age.

Too Mild for Curling.
ST. PAUL, Feb. 27.—The mild weather has knocked the bottom out of the state curling bonspiel and the curlers have returned to their homes. Unless cold weather again sets in the "spiel" will be postponed until next season.

Bid for National Conventions.
SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 27.—The federal relations committee has decided to report favorably on a joint resolution inviting the national convention to meet here in 1896.

WANT AN OPEN SUNDAY.

Meeting in New York for Relief from So-Called "Blue Laws."

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Various labor organizations and German singing societies met at Terrace garden last night to take steps toward inducing the legislature to pass more liberal "blue laws" and permit of a more open Sunday. Over 100 organizations representing 110,000 voters had delegates present at the meeting.

Resolutions were adopted deprecating the present "blue laws" and their strict enforcement, and calling on the legislature for relief. A committee of fifteen was appointed to call for a mass meeting of liberal minded citizens and to draft a bill to present to the legislature to provide either directly for an open Sunday or to leave the question to a popular vote of the people.

THE CROOKS' ASSOCIATION.

Juvenile Thieves Steal Coals From Schools in New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—An organized gang of juvenile thieves during the past two weeks have stolen coals from the coal rooms in many of the up-town schools of this city. A former pupil named Elliott was arrested, and the police subsequently arrested five other boys.

Elliott made a full confession. He said the boys organized two weeks ago. They called themselves the "Crooks' association." They had taken twelve overcoats from Grammer School No. 54 and nine from Grammer School No. 93. They had pawned the coats, receiving from $1.50 to $4 on each coat. The prisoners were arraigned in court and held for examination.

Chasing Train Robbers.

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 27.—There are no new developments in the hold-up at Stein's pass. The robbers have been taken to the mountains and a posse is in pursuit. It is a wild country, and it is doubtful if the capture of the bandits will be effected. At Stein's pass in 1888 the overland train was held up by four or five bandits who got about $10,000. They were followed into Mexico by Bob Spaul and a posse, and the band killed.

Salvation Army Boycotted.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—The boycott of the War Cry by the Typographical union will probably result in an order being issued against the Salvation Army by the trades union. Steps are being taken by the union to accomplish the result, and copies of their manifesto are being distributed to members of the union to refrain from having anything to do with the Salvation Army have been sent all over the coast.

Billiardist Dies Ill.

DENVER, Feb. 27.—Ives, the billiard champion, died last night of pneumonia in the match with Schaefer at Coliseum hall. He was confined to his bed at the hospital and the physician says he was threatened with fever. He is reported better this morning, and it is hoped that he will be able to leave his room in a day or two.

Li Hung Chang in Favor.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—A dispatch to the Times from Peking states that Li Hung Chang has been received three times in audience by the emperor of China who treated him graciously. It is added that the viceroy has accepted the mission to Japan in order to negotiate for peace with that country.

A Frisco Failure.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—Robert Haight & Co., of 220 Front street, the oldest commission house in San Francisco, has assigned for the benefit of their creditors. The firm has been in business for thirty years. Liabilities are estimated at between $300,000 and $700,000. The assets are said to be nearly $500,000.

An Heir Missing.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—The estate of Sarah Towson of Shea in New York valued at $500,000 and the claim of the dead woman's son. He came to California fifteen years ago and worked on ranches in various parts of the state. For the last few years no word has been received from him.

Will Erect a Monument.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—The body of Lieut. Richard Reaff, poet and warrior, whose grave a party of English tourists vainly endeavored to locate, rests in the Grand Army plot of Old Fellows cemetery. These English admirers have announced their desire to erect a monument to the literature.

Suicide with Dynamite.

FOSHU LAKE, Wis., Feb. 27.—Julius Toph, a farmer in the town of Osceola, yesterday committed suicide by blowing himself to pieces by dynamite. The terrific explosion almost stunned the members of his family. One arm was blown away. Toph was 60 years of age.

Too Mild for Curling.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 27.—The mild weather has knocked the bottom out of the state curling bonspiel and the curlers have returned to their homes. Unless cold weather again sets in the "spiel" will be postponed until next season.

WANT AN OPEN SUNDAY.

Meeting in New York for Relief from So-Called "Blue Laws."

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Various labor organizations and German singing societies met at Terrace garden last night to take steps toward inducing the legislature to pass more liberal "blue laws" and permit of a more open Sunday. Over 100 organizations representing 110,000 voters had delegates present at the meeting.

Resolutions were adopted deprecating the present "blue laws" and their strict enforcement, and calling on the legislature for relief. A committee of fifteen was appointed to call for a mass meeting of liberal minded citizens and to draft a bill to present to the legislature to provide either directly for an open Sunday or to leave the question to a popular vote of the people.

THE CROOKS' ASSOCIATION.

Juvenile Thieves Steal Coals From Schools in New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—An organized gang of juvenile thieves during the past two weeks have stolen coals from the coal rooms in many of the up-town schools of this city. A former pupil named Elliott was arrested, and the police subsequently arrested five other boys.

Elliott made a full confession. He said the boys organized two weeks ago. They called themselves the "Crooks' association." They had taken twelve overcoats from Grammer School No. 54 and nine from Grammer School No. 93. They had pawned the coats, receiving from $1.50 to $4 on each coat. The prisoners were arraigned in court and held for examination.

Chasing Train Robbers.

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 27.—There are no new developments in the hold-up at Stein's pass. The robbers have been taken to the mountains and a posse is in pursuit. It is a wild country, and it is doubtful if the capture of the bandits will be effected. At Stein's pass in 1888 the overland train was held up by four or five bandits who got about $10,000. They were followed into Mexico by Bob Spaul and a posse, and the band killed.

Salvation Army Boycotted.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—The boycott of the War Cry by the Typographical union will probably result in an order being issued against the Salvation Army by the trades union. To the Public.
The Herald takes great pleasure in announcing that arrangements have been concluded whereby its standing as the leading newspaper at the head of the lakes will be even more firmly established. The efforts to furnish the people of Duluth with a first-class newspaper have been handsomely supported, and the result is that The Herald of today stands unequalled in its own field. It has no equal in this section and it acknowledges no rival. But the management is not content with the present conditions. Its aim is to improve the paper so that it may be favorably compared with any evening newspaper in the country. Duluth deserves the very best newspaper that business conditions will warrant, and this The Herald proposes to furnish to a greater extent in the future than it is doing even now.

Within a few weeks The Herald will be printed from matter set entirely by machines. Five Mergenthaler Linotype machines were ordered six months ago, and word was received today of their shipment. By a fortunate circumstance The Herald was able to have its order filled at this early date, although the manufacturers are pressed with orders which it will take many months to carry out. The machines are of the latest improved pattern, and these most recent products of inventive genius are greatly improved over the machines placed in the offices of the St. Paul and Minneapolis papers but a few months ago. The Mergenthaler machines are now in operation in many of the leading newspaper offices throughout the country, and the manufacturers are rushed with orders from the other prominent journals. There are not many newspapers that have more machines than will soon be in operation in the composing room of The Herald. These five machines will easily set each day in eight hours an amount of matter equal to the work of twenty men for the same time under the old method of hand composition. With these additions to The Herald's already extensive equipment, it will be in a position to turn out the most complete newspaper ever issued in this section of the country. While introducing this amount of labor-saving machinery, The Herald will not dispense altogether with hand composition. The department for setting up the advertisements and headlines will be enlarged and improved, and the services of a number of men will be required in this branch of the work. The operators of the machines will be selected from the force of compositors now in The Herald's employ, several of whom have been connected with the paper for years.

In addition to presenting a much larger amount of news daily, The Herald will, by the aid of these machines, greet its readers daily in a new dress. Not only this, but it will be able to change from a minion to a nonpareil dress, solid or leaded, as may be desired. The style of dress can be changed readily by a change of channel board, and the solidity or openness of the matter set can be regulated almost in a moment.

The Mergenthaler Linotype machine is the greatest of typographical inventions, and its simplicity and perfection of operation are truly wonderful. It marks the departure of the time when the compositor had to work all evening distributing type in order that he might set it up again the next day, and it likewise places at the command of the news editor practically unlimited facilities for presenting the latest and most complete news reports. Naturally such marvelous products of inventive genius are costly. The five machines, with the necessary equipment, represent an outlay of $30,000 by The Herald, but the management is convinced that the investment will be fully justified by the increased patronage of the people of Duluth and the neighboring country. Of course, it will take a few months to get the machines into first class running order and to develop the proper speed on the part of the operators.

A Vicious Measure.
The house the other day voted to recommend for passage Senator Sperry's bill relating to divorce. The bill takes on to the present divorce law a clause which makes the offensive use of tobacco a sufficient ground upon which to obtain a divorce. As every complainant would of necessity be her own judge and witness as to whether her better half's use of tobacco was unbearable by her delicate nerves, the door seems to be thrown open for divorces galore, where the erring husband has not the presence of mind or will power to sever connection with tobacco.

The bill has not been passed yet, and The Herald trusts that the members will see the necessity of promptly killing it when it comes up for final passage. Only a few days ago the prominent newspapers of the country were severely criticizing the action of the South Dakota legislature, which has passed a bill requiring only three months' residence in the state before applying for a divorce. This bill was properly condemned as an invitation to people from other states who desire divorces easily and quickly. It is a scandalous law and a disgrace to South Dakota. The people of Minnesota will be equally disgraced by the passage of the bill fathered by Senator Sperry. Its enactment would open the door to a new ground of securing divorces that would tend to still further loosen the marriage tie and encourage immorality. Instead of increasing the opportunities for securing divorces, the legislature would benefit society by restricting them. The reputation of Minnesota demands that Senator Sperry's bill be strangled at once.

Our Foreign Policy.
Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, has contributed to the March number of the Forum an article, entitled "Our Blundering Foreign Policy," in which he says:
"If the Democratic party has had one cardinal principle beyond all others, it has been that of pushing forward the boundaries of the United States. Under this administration, governed as it is by free-trade influences, this great principle of the Democratic party during nearly a century of existence has been utterly abandoned. Thomas Jefferson, admitting that he violated the constitution while he did it, effected the Louisiana purchase, but Mr. Cleveland has labored to overthrow American interests and American control in Hawaii. Andrew Jackson fought for Florida, but Mr. Cleveland is eager to abandon Samoa. The Democratic party, in its leaders at least, has been successfully Cobdenized, and that is the underlying reason for their policy of retreat."

There is much truth in what Mr. Lodge says. The facts, unfortunately, support his assertions.

The Augusta, Ga., Chronicle, in an article approving the movement for providing schools with the American flag, takes occasion to give a rap at Southern sectionalism which, administered by a Northern paper, would call forth indignant protests from less candid papers of that section. It remarks: "There is too much talk of the South and too little talk of the nation in this section of the country. A newspaper is the best in the South. A speaker is the most eloquent in the South. A cotton mill is the largest in the South; and so it goes throughout all our comparisons. We want to hear less of the South as a sectional division. We want to stop treating ourselves as outside of the country, and referring to the government as though it belonged to the North, and we were only outside spectators, or citizens by sufferance. It is our country, our government and our flag, and we should rear and educate our children to feel that way about it."

The Boy as a Barmore.
Kansas City Star: Yesterday a boy of this town, standing upon the heel of one boot for a center, described the circumference of a circle with the toe of the other. It was a marble ring, and spring's first and surest barometer is here. The migratory birds may be deceived. The trees may swell their buds with a false joy at the deceitful breath of the south wind. Waters may laugh merrily at their temporary release from bondage, as the mouse rejoices when the cruel cat lifts up her tantalizing claw. The sky and the earth and the air may seem to read the signs of spring and be mistaken, but the boy is nature's masterpiece. He does not err in interpreting the sound of nature's voice.

Scramble for Dead Men's Shoes.
New York Tribune: The scramble among the Democratic politicians for the post of American minister to Mexico, made vacant by the death of Mr. Gray, shows that this country is suffering from a burdensome surplus of statesmen out of employment. It is unfortunate for our productive industries that a few hundred of these waiting gentlemen cannot divorce themselves from the profession of politics and go to farming or cutting logs.

"Tribby" has found a defender in the pulpit. Rev. Dr. Joseph Silverman, of New York, expresses the opinion that

Pure Blood

Is absolutely necessary in order to have good health. The greatest affliction of the human race is impure blood. There are about 2400 disorders incident to the human frame, the large majority arising from the impure or poisonous condition of the blood. The best remedy for all blood diseases is found in Hood's Sarsaparilla. Its remarkable cures are its loudest praise. It is not what we say but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does that tells the story.
"No remedy has ever had so marked success, or won such enormous sales. Scrofula in its severest forms yields to its potent powers, blood poisoning and salt rheum and many other diseases are permanently cured by it. For a general Spring Medicine to remove those impurities which have accumulated during the winter, or to overcome that Tired Feeling, nothing equals

"I wish to say that 3 years ago we had a beautiful boy born to us. At the age of 11 months he breathed his last, a victim to impure blood. On Aug. 4, 1891, another boy was born, who at the age of two months became afflicted with the same disease. We believed the trouble was constitutional, and not common sore mouth. I procured a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and commenced to give it regularly to both mother and baby. Improvement began at once. We have succeeded in eradicating the scrofulous blood from the system, and today we are blessed with a nice, fat baby boy, 18 months old—the very picture of health."
All life and full of mischief—thanks to Hood's Sarsaparilla. I am a minister in the Methodist Protestant church, and it affords me much pleasure to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all as a safe, sure remedy. Even my wife, after taking Hood's, became healthy and fleshy and has the bloom of youth again." Rev. J. M. PATE, Brookline Hotel, Missouri.

HOOD'S Sarsaparilla

the book is no more immoral than the escape of the foolish Joseph from Mrs. Popphar, who, it must be presumed, was a very ugly woman—the Biblical tales of Ruth and Esther, or Solomon's song of songs.

It is a common saying among English-speaking people that "there is luck in odd numbers," but the Siamese do not think that way. They have a horror of odd numbers and never never count put five, seven, nine or eleven windows in a house or temple.

Kansas City Star: Yesterday a boy of this town, standing upon the heel of one boot for a center, described the circumference of a circle with the toe of the other. It was a marble ring, and spring's first and surest barometer is here. The migratory birds may be deceived. The trees may swell their buds with a false joy at the deceitful breath of the south wind. Waters may laugh merrily at their temporary release from bondage, as the mouse rejoices when the cruel cat lifts up her tantalizing claw. The sky and the earth and the air may seem to read the signs of spring and be mistaken, but the boy is nature's masterpiece. He does not err in interpreting the sound of nature's voice.

Scramble for Dead Men's Shoes.
New York Tribune: The scramble among the Democratic politicians for the post of American minister to Mexico, made vacant by the death of Mr. Gray, shows that this country is suffering from a burdensome surplus of statesmen out of employment. It is unfortunate for our productive industries that a few hundred of these waiting gentlemen cannot divorce themselves from the profession of politics and go to farming or cutting logs.

The Up-to-Date Navy.
St. Louis Republic: In ordering some new battleships the house of representatives has made a wise decision. Americans have invariably built superior ships when they set themselves to the task. So they will in meeting modern naval demands. The United States will be formidable enough to prevent careless insult.

Congress a Mist.
St. Louis Globe-Democrat: Congress is said to be a representative body, but this depends. The house has represented nothing since November last but an avalanche of condemnation, while twenty-one Democratic senators are misrepresenting Republican states.

The Hawaiian Cable Scheme.
Detroit Free Press: It may be assumed with a reasonable degree of confidence that when business justifies a cable line to Honolulu there will be plenty of capital to build it. There is no substantial reason, therefore, for the government of the United States to invest millions of dollars in an enterprise that is without use or reason.

HAS SEVERAL SIDES

Project of Opening of Jefferson Street Through East Duluth Has Its Supporters and Objectors.

Street Railway Company Wants to Lessen Its Grades and Give the People Quicker Service.

Property Owners Are Opposed Because it Will Compel the Payment of a Heavy Assessment.

The plan for the opening and improvement of Jefferson street which is desired by the street car company in its plan for shifting the line from Superior street in East Duluth to the street nearer the lake front now seems covered by a cloud of doubt.

In January, a petition, signed by ninety-two citizens residing in Lakeside, asked the council to take steps for opening and improving that part of Jefferson street yet unopened through East Duluth. The argument was advanced that the high elevations and steep grades on the present line of the street railway compel the company to operate the line at a loss. Then, too, a trip occupies more time than it would by a shorter route, with easier grades and lower elevations.

The fact that the new water main will be located on Superior street, along the present street car line was advanced as an argument why the Jefferson street route should be brought into use, for the reason that the work of construction will interfere with the traffic and, at times, wholly stop the running of cars.

Then the removal of Jefferson street will shorten the time, lessen the grades and decrease the running time.

The council, after the reception of the petition, duly proceeded to name commissioners in condemnation. Those are C. F. Johnson, J. E. Cooley and C. H. Eldredge. They commenced their work this morning, and when it is finished will certify it to the city council for confirmation.

There has developed much opposition to the idea. At the last session of the council some strenuous protests were submitted. Lucy Gray Harrison, executrix of the M. B. Harrison estate, through her agent, protested, first, on the grounds that there is no need or necessity for the improvement and that the only pretended reason or excuse is to afford the residents of Lakeside a highway of travel to and from Duluth. The remonstrant also states that nearly half a mile of frontage on Superior street belonging to the estate had improved upon it a large assessment in order that the present street car line might be built to Lakeside. That is sufficient for the benefit of the Lakeside residents. The remonstrant further says that at the time the present line was built the company was urged to go onto Jefferson street but a refusal was made on the grounds that Superior street was the proper place and upon the representation that the line would be permanently kept on that street. Consent to the improvement was not only given, but a block of land was given to facilitate the construction. To improve Jefferson street and impose the cost on the property of the remonstrant she holds to be unjust, especially when a majority of property owners are opposed to it.

The East Duluth Land company, represented by Billson, Congdon & Dickinson, owns 3850 feet frontage along this unopened portion of Jefferson street. This company protests for the same reasons as Mrs. Harrison, and then says that, as owners of frontage on London road, it paid an assessment of $40,000 for the improvement of that and also as owner of a mile of frontage on Superior street an assessment of $5,000 was paid when the present car line was put through. At the time, too, the street car company was urged to put the line on Jefferson street, but refused, claiming that that was not the proper place. The land company then gave a valuable tract for the use of the street.

The East Duluth company it is asserted says it understands that the Duluth & Iron Range Railway company will sell the street car company 50 feet of right-of-way off its 150 right-of-way for a nominal sum, rather than be assessed for the improvement of the street. That, also, would leave Jefferson street unimproved by the street car tracks.

The East Duluth company believes that it would be oppression to compel the property owners to improve that street solely for the benefit of the street car company. A majority of the owners of abutting property are opposed to it and of the ninety-two persons signing the petition for the improvement, the remonstrant does not know of one owning property that would be liable to assessment. The land company also asserts that, to a certainty, it owns ten times as much frontage as all the petitioners combined.

The Duluth & Iron Range Railway company, through President Greatsinger, asserts the ownership of a frontage of 3950 feet and protests against the improvement.

The council still has full powers in the matter. If it seems best not to improve the street, the matter can be ended easily by refusing to confirm the work of the commissioners in condemnation. There is also ample foundation for the statement that the Duluth & Iron Range Railway company will sell fifty feet at a nominal sum and the street car company will give that matter careful consideration. Of course, if the property owners were compelled to improve Jefferson street, the street car company would be that much ahead. Hence it is only natural that the improvement should be desired, especially when lessening the distance and time would convenience the public.

A. T. C. Pierson chapter Rose Croix and A. A. S. R. will work the eighteenth or Rose Croix degree Thursday evening, Feb. 28, North Star Lodge of Perfection No. 6 will also hold their regular meeting for the election of officers for the ensuing three years.

NEARING AN END

The Defense in the Hayward Murder Trial
Has Reached the End
in Sight.

Attorney O'Dell Went on the Stand and Denied Flatly the Story of Miss Wachter.

A Man Who Says He Walked With Pointed Toe Shoes Around Where the Body Lay.

Messenger Who Carried Note to Miss Ging, Day of Murder, Denies Harry Sent It.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 28.—The end of the long drawn out Hayward murder trial is in sight. The defense will conclude its case today, the state will take two days for rebuttal and the defense half a day for surrebuttal. The addresses to the jury will consume from two to three days and the charge part of another day, so that the case will probably go to the jury Thursday of next week. This is the sixth week of the trial.

The first witness this morning was James Ward, and his evidence was intended to further impeach that of M. D. Wilson, the liverman. He declared that Wilson had told him that Harry Hayward could not be touched as the man he had seen in the buggy with Miss Ging was not Harry at all. Ward's impression was that Wilson had said Harry was the man, but his impressions were ruled out.

Paul Born, a messenger, who carried a note to Miss Ging the morning of the murder of the body, described the man who sent it. The description did not fit Harry. She had torn the note up after reading it.

Deputy Sheriff Warren swore that Blixt, when asked how he kept his feet from getting bloody after the murder, had replied: "By keeping them out of the buggy." Blixt was sent for from the jail, and pending his arrival his two statements were read to the jury with some comments passed on by the court.

Shortly after 11 o'clock the defense rested, having secured a denial from Blixt of the assertions of Witness Warren.

The first witness in rebuttal was Oliver G. Torrance, who went to where the body lay on the night of the murder with the officers. He wore pointed toe shoes and walked all around the road at that point. This evidence was intended to explain the mysterious pointed shoe tracks found by the detectives.

M. B. Griffin, a paper hanger, corroborated Harry's testimony and impeached Blixt by swearing that he found the two together in the Hayward office when he called on Nov. 30. He was not shaken in his identification of the date by Mr. Erwin's cross-examination.

R. R. O'Dell, attorney for Blixt, denied the story of Maggie Wachter, his stenographer, point blank, and declared that Blixt had not made the statements with reference to Harry's complicity attributed to him by Miss Wachter.

CHARGES AGAINST JUDGES.

They Will be Investigated by the South Dakota Legislature.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 28.—A Pierre, S. D., special to the Journal says: A resolution was introduced in the senate this morning providing for the investigation of certain charges made by C. J. Lane, formerly of Redfield, S. D., and now of Ohio, against Judges Corson, Kellam, of the South Dakota supreme court.

Lane declares that he has been deprived of his property through a decision based on misrepresentation, fraud, and that the judges were aware that it was so based when it was made.

The original case was an attachment proceeding brought by Noyes Brothers & Cutler, of St. Paul, Minn., against Lane for drugs. Lane has repeatedly made the charges, but little attention has been paid to them. He has made them so publicly now, however, that it has been thought best to have them investigated to protect the good name of the court and of its judges.

WANTS TO COMPROMISE.

State Treasurer Taylor Starts Negotiations
Through a Friend.

ST. LOUIS CITY, Feb. 28.—A special to the Times from Redfield, S. D., says: W. C. Kiser, who has always been a close friend of the defaulting state treasurer, Taylor, is agent for Taylor at Pierre to negotiate a compromise with the state. A letter from Taylor of recent date engaged Kiser to negotiate the compromise. Kiser wins he is to receive $5000. Kiser is now at Pierre.

ALTA MONTE FIGHT ENDED.

The Bill Will Not Come Up Again Before the Present Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—[Special to The Herald.]—After a ten minutes' session this morning, the senate committee refused to go on with the hearing of the Altamonte bill, and Senator Frye informed the Altamonte representatives that, owing to the opposition which had developed, their bill could not pass the senate this session.

Accordingly S. A. Thompson followed up his maps and in company with Messrs. Jennison and Vincent, withdrew. They were disappointed and running down over the ice and may move it at any time. When it does it will flood the town. Near the lower side of Port Deposit, residents are moving their goods up stairs, making preparations for the gorge.

THE LA PRAIRIE ELECTION.

List of the Nominees at the Citizens' Caucus
Last Night.

LA PRAIRIE, Minn., Feb. 28.—[Special to The Herald.]—At the citizens' caucus held at this village last night Eugene A. Arnold was nominated for president; Ed Johnson, Will Slater and Milton Brader, trustees; Joseph McMahon for recorder; John A. Bowman, Jr., for treasurer; Courtney A. Buell and Capt. Leahy for justices of the peace and A. Harmon for constable.

A precinct committee of three was selected by the chair (Moses Mauston) to act for the ensuing year, consisting of Eugene A. Arnold, J. B. Bechtold and Robert Bailey. The meeting then adjourned.

WILSON WAS NOMINATED

Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee Selected by President Cleveland to Succeed Bissell.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The president has nominated William L. Wilson, of West Virginia, to succeed Wilson S. Bissell as postmaster general.

William L. Wilson is best known to the country in connection with his recent tariff work in congress. He has been a tariff student since he first entered congress in 1885, but it was not until the present congress that he became chairman of the ways and means committee, and as such the official leader of the majority in the house.

Prior to his first election to congress in 1885 he had taken little part in politics, except in being a delegate to the Democratic national convention at Cincinnati and subsequently an elector at large from West Virginia. Early in 1882 he was chosen president of the university of West Virginia. This would have fixed him as a professor of work had it not been for a political ruction and party split at his home in Charleston, W. Va., which was settled by the opposing factions uniting on Mr. Wilson.

The campaign was a hot one. Mr. Wilson finally won by nine votes. He was then re-elected to six successive congresses. He received good committee assignments from the first, going on judiciary, appropriations and ways and means. His experience shortly after the war as a professor of law in Columbian college equipped him for the work on the judiciary committee.

In the four congressional eras of recent years, changing the Morrill bill, the Mills bill, the McKinley bill and the Wilson bill—Mr. Wilson took a leading part. He did much of the work in constructing the Mills bill and the Representative Breckinridge started on a successful tour of platform speeches throughout the East, endorsing President Cleveland's tariff revision message.

During the Mills-Crisp contest for the speakership Mr. Wilson cast his vote with Mr. Mills, and when Mr. Crisp won, he designated Mr. Springer chairman of the ways and means committee. When re-elected speaker, however, Mr. Crisp named Mr. Wilson chairman of the ways and means and in this capacity he framed the measure which was the basis of the present tariff law.

GREEN GOODS SWINDLE.

A Duluth Man Who Went to Chicago and Was Taken In By An Old Game.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—A well dressed stranger left the Harrison street station last evening to take the train for Duluth. Before leaving he gave the name of J. S. Brown. That he said was not his right name, and all efforts of Capt. Hartnett with Mr. Mills, and when Mr. Crisp won, he designated Mr. Springer chairman of the ways and means committee.

When re-elected speaker, however, Mr. Crisp named Mr. Wilson chairman of the ways and means and in this capacity he framed the measure which was the basis of the present tariff law.

"Recently I received a circular from a man in Chicago which alleged that the writer was in possession of a stolen government plate with which he could make money equal for all purposes to the genuine. The circular offered $3000 for $600. We re-entered the cab, the value being placed under our feet.

"In a little while one man complained that it was in his way and suggested that I carry it on my knees. We drove to the Illinois Central station in Twelfth street. The man stepped out, taking another valise and saying they wished to check it in the baggage room. I waited and then went to look for them. I opened my valise. It was filled with paper. When I returned, the cabman had driven away. It was a white horse and the driver wore a gray overcoat."

DISCUSSED DIVORCE LAWS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Complaint against the present system of divorce laws was the burden of today's session of the national council of women. The entire day session was devoted to the theme and a number of interesting addresses were delivered before a crowded hall.

A Flood Expected.

PORT DEPOSIT, Md., Feb. 28.—The river is slowly rising and running down over the ice and may move it at any time. When it does it will flood the town. Near the lower side of Port Deposit, residents are moving their goods up stairs, making preparations for the gorge.

BILLS KILLED.

Duluth Normal School Bill Killed in the Senate and Senatorial Courtesy Buried With It.

There Was a Small Attendance, But the Bill's Opponents Would Not Let It Lie Over.

Sensational Petition in the House Asking for Impeachment of Judge Frank Ives, of Crookston.

He is Charged With Lack of Knowledge of Law and Also Accused of Venality.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 28.—Senatorial courtesy seems to have developed into a "back number," at least so far as the Minnesota senate is concerned, and as a result Senator Spencer's bill for the establishment of a state normal school at Duluth was killed and buried, and senatorial courtesy was interred with it. When the senate calendar was reached the attendance was light, and Senator Spencer asked, in view of that fact, that his normal school bill be allowed to lay over until a later date. Ordinarily such a request is granted out of senatorial courtesy, but this time it was emphatically vetoed by the senate, and the roll called on final passage of the bill.

Seeing his bill was to be defeated Senator Spencer voted in the negative, in order—as he announced at the time—that he might later move a reconsideration. The vote resulted yes, 16; nays, 21. According to all precedent Senator Spencer's announcement that he would later move a reconsideration should have headed off like action by any other senator, but again "senatorial courtesy" took the seat, and the senator from Freeborn county, Senator Knatvold, made a motion to reconsider the vote and that motion was defeated, finally killing the bill and showing the temper of the senate on the question of any Duluth normal school bill.

There was a brief but warm discussion during the time the bill was being killed, but the most noticeable feature in the whole matter was the very decided absence of that senatorial courtesy of which so much is boasted.

Senator Spencer introduced a bill to prohibit the use of pious notes in any lake. The bills on the calendar were all given their final passage except the Duluth normal school, as follows: To amend general laws of 1887, relating to drainage of wet lands; the Gibbs resolution to congress asking that the old Fort Snelling buildings be ceded to the state; to prohibit the aiming of firearms at a human being; to amend statutes of 1875 relating to entry of judgment; the Schurmeier bill, proposing an amendment to section 1, article 7, of the constitution, relative to the elective franchise.

Senator Young of the conference committee, considering the seed grain loan bill, reported that a majority of the committee recommended that the senate should concur in the amendments the house attached. The report of the conference committee was adopted.

When the senate went into committee of the whole, Senator Wyman occupied the chair. S. F. 248, provide for state fire marshal, was indefinitely postponed. A "total policy bill" was next on general orders. The bill provides that where loss is total, the full amount of insurance mentioned in the policy shall be paid. Senator Spencer, the author of the bill, made a speech in its favor. Senators Yale and Stebbins opposed, while Senator Keller was very enthusiastic in its support.

Senator Greer made an effective speech against the bill, referring to the way in which the law worked in other states. Senator McCall favored the bill, and President Day. The debate was still on at 1:20, and there was no sign of a let up, a recess was taken until 2:30.

DOINGS OF THE HOUSE.

Sensational Petition Asking That Judge Ives of Crookston be Impeached.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 28.—During the introductory routine in the house this morning Mr. Knutson, whose threshing machine bill, protecting farm laborers was reported unfavorably from the judiciary committee tried to have it placed on general orders anyway, but was promptly overruled. The temper of the house has thus far been decidedly averse to any reversal of committee reports, and this was not considered the time to change the policy.

Chairman Gibbs, from the committee on grain and warehouse, reported H. F. 327, by Mr. Cant, to facilitate traffic of wheat and other grain, to pass; H. F. 295, to prohibit railroads charging excess for overloading cars, to pass; and H. F. 414, to exempt scales in railroad yards from local inspection to pass.

Chairman Craig, from committee on education, reported H. F. 160, relating to duties of county superintendents, indefinitely postponed; S. F. 212, to grant additional powers to cities, to pass; S. F. 195, to amend laws relating to duties of county superintendents, to pass; H. F. 330, to provide for organization of school districts, to pass; H. F. 322, for encouragement of graded schools, a substitute was introduced.

Chairman E. E. Smith, from committee on taxes, reported H. F. 161, to pass; S. F. 33, to pass; H. F. 350, by Mr. Cant, to encourage payment of taxes, to pass, as amended; and H. F. 410, to be indefinitely postponed.

Mr. Underleak, from the committee on judiciary, reported as follows: S. F. 153, relating to independent school districts, to pass.

AGAINST THE BOUNTY.

House Members Are Not Pleased With the Senate Amendments to the Sundry Civil Bill.

They Are Particularly Opposed to the Provision Made for the Payment of Sugar Bounty.

Most of the Senators Pleasantly Surprised By the Improved Outlook for a Bimetallistic Agreement.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Much dissatisfaction is expressed by the members of the appropriations committee of the house over the amendments which are being added to the sundry civil bill by the senate. Particular dissatisfaction is manifested against the sugar bounty provision, since the house has already voted upon that question in different ways and always signified its opposition to the bounty. That it will do so again is not doubted by the Democrats, and there may be a serious difference between the two houses over the question.

Another matter that troubles members of the house is the number of public buildings for which appropriations have been added to the sundry civil bill. The Democrats of the committee will make a fight against these additions, and the members whose items originally received the committee's sanction are fearful that the buildings for their own districts may be endangered by the additions, and that complications will be brought about which will threaten the success of all the building provisions.

The joint committee on library of the two houses of congress held a brief session today for the inspection and consideration of the moving picture of Gen. Grant, which has been proposed under the direction of the G. A. R. for erection in the capitol. A wide difference of opinion as to the merits of the work was developed and no final action was taken. Owing to the fact that some of the members of the committee consider the statue as a very inadequate and unsatisfactory portrayal of the features of Gen. Grant, there is some doubt as to whether it will be placed in statutory hall.

The members of the senate are not so much concerned with domestic legislation as to preclude their giving careful attention to the movement in Europe for another international conference looking to the re-habilitation of silver. The successful presentation of Mr. Everett's resolution in the British house of commons proved a pleasant surprise to a large majority of the senators. The more extreme silver men go further than the senators who advocate international bimetallism only, and still contend that the United States need not wait upon any other government, but a majority of them comprehend thoroughly that if an international agreement can be arranged it will at one stroke remove all their difficulties, and they appreciate the improved prospects abroad while still contented for independent action by the United States.

Very few of the senators, of whatever views on the silver question, were prepared for the action of the British parliament, for they had not considered that the present government would consent to another conference, but now that the Everett resolution has been adopted some of them interpret it to indicate that resistance to it means the downfall of the present administration. Hence they find special encouragement in the inference that the British nation is behind the official action of its legislature.

In view of these facts they regard the conference as an assured fact, and the opinion is almost uniform that the result of its proceedings must be far more satisfactory to the advocates of bimetallism than was the Brussels conference.

Senator Sherman is one of the senators, however, who considers it still doubtful whether anything will be accomplished in the interest of silver.

Senator Teller, representing probably the other extreme in the senate, expressed doubt whether England will consent to a modification of her currency.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adopting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50 cent bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

system, but he thinks that other nations, such as France and Germany, may make a change, which is more, he says, than has heretofore been expected. Senators Allison, Platt, Chandler and Hill and others regard the adoption of the resolution as a most propitious omen. Senator Allison, who was a member of the Brussels conference, expressed the opinion that England would make important concessions in case of another conference.

BISSELL HAS RESIGNED.

The Postmaster General Has Tendered His Resignation and Hon. W. L. Wilson Will Probably Succeed Him.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Postmaster General Bissell late yesterday afternoon placed his resignation as a member of the cabinet in the hands of the president to be accepted on the appointment of his successor.

The joint committee on library of the two houses of congress held a brief session today for the inspection and consideration of the moving picture of Gen. Grant, which has been proposed under the direction of the G. A. R. for erection in the capitol. A wide difference of opinion as to the merits of the work was developed and no final action was taken. AN AWFUL EXPLOSION

Twenty-Three Miners Killed and Eighteen Injured at White Ash Mine in New Mexico.

Eleven Huddled Together in One Drift Where They Had Been Overcome By the Gas.

Explosion Probably Caused by the Accidental Breaking In of a Chamber Charged With Gas.

LOS CRILLIS, N. M., Feb. 28.—The White Ash mine, three miles from this place, was the scene of a terrible explosion yesterday. Thirty-seven men were taken out in a dying condition. The other twenty-six have doubtless been taken out.

The scene around the mouth of the pit as the dead and dying were being taken out was heartrending. The news of the explosion spread rapidly, and the wives and families flocked to the pit. Not until last evening were the rescuers able to descend on account of the vapors that arose. Later in the evening eleven dying miners were discovered in a branch. They were promptly sent up. The explosion is supposed to have been caused by the accidental breaking in a chamber charged with gas.

At 3 a. m. today it was believed that all the victims of the White Ash mine explosion had been taken out of the mine. The dead number twenty-five and the injured eighteen, some of whom may die. The names of the wounded are: Louis Desirant, father; Henry Desirant, son; Louis Desirant, son; Angelo Ruffati, Richard Deiro, Emil Homel, George Spalte, Anthony Henry McCoy, Mike Ryan, Alexander Kelly, one name unknown.

Will Oppose the Government. LONDON, Feb. 28.—The Exchange Telegraph company says that the Redmond party does not make a secret of the fact that its members intend to vote against the government tonight on the motion of the chancellor of the exchequer, Sir William Vernon Harcourt, to take all the time and energy of government members for the furtherance of government business.

Deaths of a Maniac. ALFRED, Me., Feb. 28.—Leroy Fernald, who murdered his mother in their home in East Lebanon yesterday and then set fire to the barn and ran to an attic to await death in the flames, was found dead this morning in his cell in the jail where he was placed last night. Leroy was insane.

The Stolen Fair Will. SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28.—Charles L. Fair, who received a second letter from an unknown correspondent at Brookings, S. D., stating that he witnessed the abduction of the will of the late James C. Fair, from the county clerk's office on Jan. 8, and offering to reveal the identity of the thief for $15,000. The writer gives Fair until Feb. 25 to remit the money.

Lively Rate War Probable. LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 28.—It is said that the Southern Pacific company has reduced its rate $5 from Chicago to the Pacific coast under the cover of a rate cut. The Santa Fe has declared that unless the Southern Pacific acted squarely it would cut rates until the old time rate of $30 from Kansas City was reached. It is not unlikely that a lively war is brewing.

Verdict Against Insurance Company. TACOMA, Wash., Feb. 28.—In the federal circuit court a jury returned a verdict for $24,276 in favor of Mrs. Cora Dixon against the Pacific Coast Life Assurance society of New York. The decision hinged on whether or not the company gave notice as required by New York statute that the payments were due, and non-payment would forfeit the policy. The court and jury held that notices were not given. The insured man was Thomas L. Dixon, a well known mining man.

Swedish Antarctic Expedition. NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—The Daily News of Stockholm, an anonymous source has been organized in that city. Dr. Otto Nordenskiöld, son of Baron Nordenskiöld, will be the leader of the party, which will include Dr. Axel Ohlin, of the university of Lund.

Supposed to Have Perished. DAYTON, Ohio, Feb. 28.—Charles Schneider, a well known man, has not been heard from since a letter was received saying he intended leaving Germany for home, about the time the ill-fated Elbe sailed. It is feared he was a passenger on that ship and sank with her.

After Whisky Smugglers. SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28.—The whisky smuggling traffic has grown to such enormous proportions in Alaska that the revenue cutter Corwin will sail for the North, being especially detailed to patrol the coast from Sitka northward and to keep a sharp eye out for illicit traders.

WEST DULUTH ITEMS

The Boys' Brigade of the Presbyterian Sunday School Had a Lively Battle This Week.

It Occurred Through a Scramble for the Possession of the Armory After the Meeting.

The Older Boys Were Pitted Against the Younger, but the Fight Was Interesting, Nevertheless.

The boys' brigade which was organized some time ago as an adjunct of the Presbyterian Sunday school has been drilled quite regularly of late and has become quite proficient in attacking imaginary foes. The first experience in actual service, however, took place at the meeting this week and since the battle there is a question whether there are enough left in the ranks to make a respectable showing at drill.

The brigade is composed of both large and small boys and it has been customary after the regular weekly drill for the company to disband and the boys depart severally to their homes. The brigade is a semi-religious affair and the meetings are always opened with prayer and at the close the little boys are enjoined to go directly to their homes and be tucked into their beds. Instead of going home the big boys have been in the habit of returning to the armory after the smaller ones had disappeared, and having a big time with music and dancing.

The little fellows finally got onto the scheme and this week when the big boys got back to the armory the door was locked and their small comrades were in possession of the armory. By forcing entrance through a side passageway the big boys gained admission and then took place probably the hardest boy fight that ever occurred in West Duluth.

The little fellows defended their position with lances, batonettes and other implements and as the story goes there were kicks and cuffs and knock downs enough to suit any one looking for gore. The little fellows were obliged to succumb finally and give up the fort.

The encounter has evidently crushed out all brotherly love between the two factions and the meeting which opened with prayer and closed with a free-for-all will furnish a prolific subject for illustration and discussion on next Sunday when the boys meet their teachers.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is usually the result of inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but a common cold of the mucous surface.

We will give $100 reward for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's catarrh cure. Send for circular free.

Sold by druggists, 25 cents.

SALT-RHEUM, FLASK CRACKED OPEN

AND BLEED!

Miss Lottie Clark, River Falls, Pierce County, Wisconsin, writes:

"I give up pleasure to express my faith in the virtue of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Having suffered for three years from salt-rheum, and after having been unsuccessfully treated by a good physician, I began the use of the 'Discovery.' The humor was in my hands. I was obliged to keep a covering on them for months at a time, changing the covering morning and night. The itching and burning and itching sensation would be so intense that at times it seemed as if I would go crazy. When I bent the fingers, the flesh would crack open and bleed. It is impossible for me to describe the intense pain and suffering which I endured night and day. After using six bottles of the 'Discovery' I was entirely cured. I cannot praise Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery enough." Sold by Dealers.

If you can't escape having the grip, you can at least cure it quickly by taking our White Pine Expectant. Since this unwelcome foreigner became a naturalized American citizen, he has wrought havoc among us. Our Grip Cure is the most potent remedy for the disease yet offered. It is useless to struggle with the grip without the aid of medicine. There's no telling how the influenza may leave you, if neglected. An uncured cough is apt to lead to something else. The price of our White Pine Expectant is only 50 cents a bottle. Follow directions in taking. Sold only at

SLATTERY IN SAVANNAH.

Will Lecture Again Tonight and Trouble is Feared.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 28.—Everything points to an immense meeting at Odd Fellows hall tonight when ex-Priest Slattery lectures on "The Secrets of the Catholic Confessional." A large part of the audience, it is expected, will be armed to defend Slattery in the event of an attack, as the declaration is openly made by many people that the ex-priest will not need the protection of the military or police tonight but that the citizens will take the matter in hand themselves. Many members of the secret societies of the city will attend. Slattery's lecture of Odd Fellows hall for two lectures today was due to interest taken in the matter by women. A committee of ladies declared that they would get a hall for Mrs. Slattery's lecture if they had to pay for it themselves. One committee succeeded in getting Odd Fellows hall.

The determination of citizens to suppress the riotous element tonight themselves, seems to have a salutary effect, and it is not believed that another demonstration will be made. The priests and the better element of Catholics here have worked to the same end.

CATTLE ARE BARRED.

The French Decree Does Not Apply to Tinned or Dressed Beef.

PARIS, Feb. 28.—Contrary to the cable reports received here the United States ambassador to France, James B. Eustis, has not received instructions to protest against the French exclusion of American cattle from this country. It seems that there is a misapprehension in the United States in regard to the scope of the decree, which applies only to American live cattle and which does not affect tinned or dressed beef.

It is learned that France took this step with the greatest reluctance. M. Hanotaux, the minister of foreign affairs, says: "I myself was greatly opposed to the issue of the decree and it was only done after the minister of agriculture had assured us that there was positive evidence that disease among the cattle landed existed."

"I am not willing to agree to any step which could be construed as unfriendly to the United States, but Germany, Belgium and England have already taken exactly the same precautions and we are the last nation to do so."

REBELS WERE BETRAYED.

Prominent Cubans Arrested Before the Uprising Took Place.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—The Ward line steamer Oriaba which arrived this morning from Havana brings news that the whole island has been under martial laws since Feb. 24. Great excitement prevailed in Havana on Sunday morning last, owing to the arrest of the old Cuban Gen. Sangli, and about thirty members of the first families of Havana who were imprisoned in the military fort at Cabanis.

It was reported that about 300 persons who sympathized with the revolutionists were also arrested and imprisoned. There was no news from the interior of the island. It was stated that the people of the northern portion of the island were in favor of Gen. Manuel Garcia taking charge of operations against the government, while the people of the southern part of the island were unfavorable to him and wanted another leader.

It was rumored that the threatened uprising of the Cuban revolutionists had been betrayed by one of their own party and the government took prompt measures to suppress the uprising by arresting Gen. Sangli and his immediate followers.

F. 330, relating to the use of stone in the construction of public buildings, indefinitely postponed; S. F. 263, legalizing off rail acts heretofore done by notaries public, to pass; H. F. 303, relating to the reporter of the supreme court and the manner of printing the reports of the said court, to pass; H. F. 410, Cant, relating to the proof of publication of legal notices and proceedings by newspapers, to pass; S. F. 181, authorizing the use of waters of meandered lakes and streams for protection of cranberry marshes, to pass; S. F. 281, providing for the use of stone in the construction of public buildings, cut and dressed within the state, to pass; H. F. 368, McInnis, relating to re-assessments for local improvements by cities, to pass as amended; H. F. 243, providing for the continuance of corporations for certain purposes, to pass as amended.

Mr. Scofield introduced a resolution recalling from the senate S. F. 31, which had been amended by the house because the amendment was unconstitutional. The bill was that transferring $50,000 from the school text book fund to the general revenue fund, and having amended to make the transfer to the internal improvement fund.

Mr. Foss introduced a resolution all the committee investigating a press companies ten days' additional time, and the resolution was adopted. Mr. Dressel presented a resolution for the appointment of a committee of five to investigate the distribution of $150,000 appropriated for the World's fair exhibition, Mr. Furlong, who was one of the World's fair commissioners, very promptly moved the adoption of the resolution, but Mr. Warner gave notice of debate and it went over.

Mr. Foss then introduced a communication announcing the approval of house files 79, 170 and 134. The following bills were introduced:

Mr. Downs, to appropriate $30,000 for improvements at the soldiers' home; to repeal law of 1893 relating to transfer of soldiers' relief fund. Soldiers' home.

Mr. McInnis, to provide for keeping and recording lists of stockholders and making such list prima facie evidence in all cases in court. Judiciary.

Mr. Gibbs presented a substitute for H. F. 378, which was favorably acted on by his committee but had been lost, and it was read and placed on general orders. It is a bill for the modification of all the grain laws.

Mr. Ahlstrom, providing for incorporation of grand lodge of the Order of Good Templars, Inc. Mr. Cant, to amend general laws 1878 relating to regulation of labor, limiting a day's work to ten hours, and extra pay for extra work, except in case of children under 14 years of age.

Mr. Knuteson, to amend general laws relating to usury, forfeiting for excessive rates and declaring it a misdemeanor. Banking.

Mr. Grondahl, to change name of state reform school and to consolidate the various acts relating thereto. The school shall be known as the state training school for boys and girls.

Mr. Feig presented a petition and asked careful attention to its reading. The petition was from residents of Polk county, and recited the election and service of Judge Frank H. Ives, of Crookston, of the Fourteenth judicial district, charging him with ignorance of law and venality. It recited specific cases where in the petitioners claim that the charges were shown to be true and asked for his impeachment and removal from office.

Mr. Feig then, without expressing any opinion as to the truth or falsity of the charges made in the petition, moved that it be referred to the judiciary for investigation and report. After a brief discussion, the motion was changed into the form of a resolution and adopted, their being seventy-eight affirmative and no negative votes. Judge Ives is a Populist but the petition was signed by Populists, Democrats and Republicans.

The Schumacher amendment to the elective franchise came from the senate with an amendment requiring thirty days' residence in the precinct and the bill passed as amended. It recess was then taken until 2:30 o'clock.

CHICAGO'S SOCIAL SENSATION.

Upper Tendon in a Flutter Over a Romantic Love Story.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—A romantic story which is agitating ultra fashionable circles in Chicago, is developed by the hurried marriage at Milwaukee last night of Miss May Belle Benson and Allen L. Howard.

Miss Benson, who lived with her mother in Michigan boulevard at Thirtieth street, and is a member of one of the most exclusive social sets in the city, had for some time been engaged to Seth A. Crouse, a prominent New York society man and a well-known official of the New York Central railroad.

The marriage was to have occurred last Monday night and the invitations were out. Mr. Crouse arrived from New York last Sunday. Upon his arrival, Miss Benson and her mother requested an interview with the groom-elect and the young woman confessed to him that her affections had been given to young Howard, at the same time professing her willingness to marry Crouse if he insisted.

The tearful interview resulted in Crouse generously releasing Miss Benson from her engagement. Seth and young Howard decided to be married in Milwaukee, immediately. Crouse went back to New York without his bride, and Chicago all agreed over the cancelled wedding invitations.

Could Furnish Collateral. NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—The Northern Pacific reorganization committee has just taken a total amount of receivers' certificates, $5,000,000. The receivers' certificates, $5,000,000, but have withheld $100,000 because of inability to furnish collateral to secure that amount, as required by the order of court allowing this issue.

National Baseball League. NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—At 3 o'clock no conclusion had been reached by the National Baseball league committee considering the Pfeiffer case, and it is likely that the schedule will not be settled until tomorrow.

Presented With a Chair. WALLACE E. HARVEY, of No. 148 1/2 East Third street, was surprised by a call from the members of the produce exchange of which he is secretary, and the presentation of a handsome chair. It was a wedding remembrance for Mr. and Mrs. Harvey who were married a few weeks ago. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey entertained their guests in a happy manner.

The Calamity Prophecy. KANSAS CITY STAR: When the United States signal service so often fails to verify its predictions twenty-four, or even twelve, hours ahead, it is not reasonable to believe that the long-distance weather sharps are entitled to respect. The country is full of these pretended prophets and the trouble of it is that a great many people are alarmed by their croakings. A man who is guessing all the time is likely to guess right once in a while. And when he does he is the most surprised and happiest man in the country.

Done Cotech de Trilby Fad. WASHINGTON STAR: "Aren't you ashamed," said the philanthropic lady, to let your little girls go about bareheaded, as you do?" "Sho, lady," replied Aunt Mirandy. "Dat ain't no 'casion for indignification. Dis family is done cotech de Trilby fad."

The Weather.

U. S. AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT, WEATHER
BUREAU, DULUTH, Feb. 28, 1895.—An area of low pressure has moved rapidly eastward to Lake Superior during the past twenty-four hours. It has been followed by a marked rise in pressure north of Montana and over the entire lake with light snow or rain in the Canadian Northwest, Montana and North Dakota.
In other reporting sections the weather has
east to Lake Erie.
The lowest temperature at 7 a. m. today was 3
degrees above zero in the Saskatchewan valley.
It was above the freezing point in all sections,
except the Northern Rocky Mountain region
and the Canadian Northwest.
Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 38 degrees above zero; maximum yesterday, 45 degrees
above zero.

Duluth, Feb. 28.—Forecast for Duluth and vicinity till 7 p. m. tomorrow: Generally fair; cooler this evening; decidedly colder tonight and Friday; northwest winds.
Local Forecast Official.

Chicago, Feb. 28, 10 a. m.—To observe, Duluth, Minn.: Breeze, mild and warm; the temperature will fall 20 degrees by Friday night.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Fair tonight; Friday fair and decidedly colder. Wind, northwest winds, shifting to northwest Friday. For Minnesota: Fair and cold; snow tonight and Friday; brisk northwest winds.

Another Monetary Conference.

The prospect of an international agreement on bimetalism has greatly improved
within the past two weeks, and there are numerous signs that the rehabilitation of silver may be effected before many months have passed. The German reichstag, led by the agrarians, has voted for an international monetary conference for the rehabilitation of silver. Prince Hohenlohe is willing for it, and a proposal to the government of the United States to attend a conference not unlike the Brussels conference—held at our suggestion—is likely to be received at Washington. The agrarians in England are moving in the same direction, and many members of parliament are credited with bimetallic tendencies. In fact the house of commons has passed a resolution which is practically a declaration in favor of bimetalism. The resolution, which was introduced by a private member and was opposed by the government
leader in the house, Sir William Harcourt, reads as follows:

"Resolved, that the house regards with increasing apprehension the growing divergence between the values of gold and silver, and heartily concurs in the recent expression of the opinion of the governments of France and Germany in regard to the serious evils arising therefrom.
The house therefore urges the government to co-operate with the powers in the calling of an international conference."

Sir William Harcourt expressed the belief that another monetary conference
would be as futile as the last one was. Mr. Balfour, the Conservative leader, who is ill with the grip, was not able to be present, but would have supported the resolution had he been able to resume his seat. The passage of the resolution indicates that there is a growing sentiment in England in favor of bimetalism. It is well known that the Conservative leaders are bimetalists,
and their return to power at the next general elections, which now seems probable, would undoubtedly be followed by action favorable to the bimetallic cause. A strong propaganda has been made throughout England by the bimetallic league, and the result has been the wholesale adhesion to bimetalism of a number of populous centers which have hitherto either opposed the system or remained neutral. Bimetallism is not a subject upon which the sluggish minds of the British populace can be induced to understand that their interests are affected, but business men everywhere are said to be more moved in the matter than they have been at any period, and are reported to be joining the ranks of the bimetalists in great numbers. The cabinet is solidly monometallic, but if Germany initiates
an international conference, England will send delegates to Berlin. In the meantime there is a growing conviction
in the minds of the ministers that Germany will begin the conference.

A Vienna dispatch today intimates that Austria-Hungary will accept an invitation to join in an international monetary conference. Italy and France would undoubtedly be ready to join in such a conference, and the only thing
now lacking is a decision as to who shall issue the call. From present indications, it is probable that Germany
will take the initiative.
The Brussels monetary conference failed to accomplish anything, but it is altogether probable that another conference would not be so barren of results.
As the Baltimore Sun pointed out in a recent article, the two years that have since intervened have been full of practical teaching and warning upon the subject. It is not simply the growth of the silver sentiment, for that of itself does not give any better promise of wise and practical statesmanship than heretofore.

It is not merely the growing discontent
of the agricultural and working classes
in Europe as well as America, who are prone to attribute the depressed market for their products and the decrease in their wages to the "demonstration" or "degradation" as it is sometimes called,
of silver. Overproduction is a much more potent factor in bringing about the state of things of which they complain.
But the renewed agitation of the question has undoubtedly led to an increased sentiment abroad in favor of bimetalism.
This is abundantly shown by recent speeches upon the subject in the German reichstag and by the adoption last Saturday by a handsome majority of Count von Mirbach's resolution in favor of another international conference with a view to the rehabilitation of silver as money, as well as by the adoption of Mr.
Everett's resolution by the British house of commons.

Both the leading parties in the United States are in favor of such a step. The Democratic party, in its platform, declares in favor of the free coinage of both metals, but on the express condition that the dollar unit in each case

able value, or be adjusted through international agreement, or by legislative safeguards as shall insure the maintenance of the parity of the two metals.

LOVERS IN FICTION.

WOOLING SCENES PAINTED BY WELL KNOWN NOVELISTS.

Some Lovers Kneel and Some "Gambol Like Tigers"—Making Love by Intimidation in Romance Fiction—Simple and Poetic Scene in "John March."

The love scene occupies a prominent place in fiction, and there are many who are cited as a proof of their author's delicate skill. Literature is full of love scenes, and wane, but the love story still remains the prime favorite with "the general." So enslaved are we by the nursery tradition that we feel we have been cheated out of something if the novel does not end with some version of the old fairy tale formula, "So they were married and lived happily ever after," although we have learned by our own experience or that of others that matrimony is not always the gateway to bliss.

Love scenes in fiction are of many kinds. Howells once described some sparrows in a garden as "squabbling like the lovers in a lady's novel," and it is a fact that the average feminine novelist makes her turtles doves peck each other with great frequency and vigor. They blither and peep, squabble and part forever again, sometimes a week until finally they kiss and make friends as a prelude to matrimony. Often there is a pair of light comedy lovers to balance those whose passion assumes a tragic cast.

It is our tradition to believe that the greater order is felt by the man, but even who loves is chosen by the woman, and even the woman who is chosen by the man, is chosen by the woman. In these long gone days, invoked the moon and twined her brazen wheel, chanting the while, "My magic wheel, draw home to me the man I love," there have always been women who were spoils to lure toward them the fickle or timid lover. It has been said, "When he who loves is chosen by the woman, he is chosen by the woman who is chosen by the man," yet there are heroines of fiction who go considerably more than half way to win the hero from his haughty silence. So we find it in the case of Charlotte Brontë's Shirley, who, in her proud, imperious way, lets the poor tutor see a glimpse of her heart as if feeling that her heavy and forbidding penitence her to exercise the right of a queen. The wild love scenes between Emily Brontë's Heathcliff and Catherine are like a fevered fever, and the love scenes of a pair of tigers whose claws seldom sheathed even in play. In feminine fiction the gentleman often pays his addresses in a manner that seems to intimidate. He seems to fancy that he can better the lady into an ardent affection for himself and is usually successful in so doing.

But this is not the ideal love-making. We imagine that there should be tender reverence on the man's part, for as the lady says, "My secret, my key, my heart, when they get on their feet, they walk away." The lover who does not believe his sweetheart an angel has made an idealism that will make marriage appear to him a very dull, sordid thing, lacking that rosy glow with which illusion irradiates the commonplace.

The work of Ruth Pinch and John Westcott in the Temple garden is usually ranked among the famous love scenes of fiction, and there is a certain truth in the fact that between Olive and Ethel Newcome—which is as kind in sentiment and touched by a far finer literary art. It is not always easy for a novel to present to the mind the charming childishness of lovers without making them seem silly and unattractive, but this Charles leads in "The Widdow's Tale" and "The Widdow's Tale" has succeeded in doing. There are passages in the courtship of Victor Hugo's Marius and Cosette which have a fullness and prettiness and likewise an attractiveness that does not always belong to love-making in French fiction.

The figures of Tito and Renzo, when the first and brighter mingles in their first embrace, stand out with a colorful picture against the rich background of old romance which is the background of the novel. The figures of Tito and Renzo, when the first and brighter mingles in their first embrace, stand out with a colorful picture against the rich background of old romance which is the background of the novel.

A real girl, not pipe, happy love, pipe on to these dear little things. A real girl, not pipe, happy love, pipe on to these dear little things. A real girl, not pipe, happy love, pipe on to these dear little things.

Tennyson at Home.

Tennyson was never "at home" except to those cherished friends as his neighbor, the late Professor Tyndall. Access to his study was consequently denied to nearly all callers, and even the presence of those who obtained the privilege of entrance there was sometimes refused to the poet, whose part in the conversation usually consisted of monosyllables, as I remember to have once happened during my stay, but he could be very gracious to callers when in the mood. On the other hand, Sir Edwin Arnold, in his "Reminiscences" of the poet, says, "Alfred, you say 'Private' and pointed on the first red of his domain and 'Private grounds' inscribed upon the first boundary of his fence, he did not like company to pass him on the road without recognizing him. Something New in Biology.

Some curious experiments made at Naples during 1893 with the salts of lithium gave some startling results. Eggs of marine creatures were treated with the salts and then allowed to hatch, whereupon it was found that they had limbs, fins, eyes, etc., in all sorts of abnormal positions. The exact cause of this will be the subject of future scientific inquiry.—St. Louis Republic.

HIS RESIGNATION IN

C. Powell Grady Today Shortened His Time of Retirement as Clerk of the Municipal Court.

He Will Enter Upon His Duties as Assistant Postmaster Tomorrow Morning and Has Resigned.

T. H. Fairfax Will be the New Clerk and J.
 H. Tschart Will Remain as Deputy.

C. Powell Grady this morning tendered his written resignation as clerk of the municipal court to take effect March 1.

He also expressed much satisfaction
 over the pleasant relations always maintained between himself and the judge
 during his connection with the office, and expressed regret over the severance of their present relations. Tomorrow Mr.
 Grady enters upon his duties as assistant postmaster.

Judge Powell will at once accept Mr.
 Grady's resignation, and upon the approval of proper bonds by the incoming judge, W. D. Edson, will appoint T. H.
 Fairfax as clerk, it being understood that his appointment has been decided upon by Judge Edson.

J. H. Tschart has been expecting to seek other employment, but Judge Edson
 has announced his decision to retain him
 as chief deputy, so he will remain. Miss Babbs also will probably be retained.

M. Roach will resign his position as court stenographer, hang out his shingle and engage actively in the practice of law. Miss Stebbins, it is understood, will succeed him as stenographer.

Judges Powell and Winje end their terms next Monday, March 4.

CEMETERY ASSOCIATION.

Twenty-Five Leading Hebrew Citizens Have Organized One.

Articles of association of the Woodland Cemetery association were filed with the register of deeds this morning.

The object of the association is to hold lands for burial purposes, and it is composed of twenty-five of the leading Hebrew citizens of Duluth. The grounds are to be at Woodland Park. Bernard Silberstein is chairman and L. R. Bondy is secretary.

The following trustees are named: To serve one year, R. Krojanker, L. R.
 Bondy, L. Rose; to serve two years, B.
 Silberstein, D. Van Baalen, L. Hammel;
 to serve three years, I. Freimuth, G. A.
 Klein, P. H. Oswald.

Mission Services Opened.

The mission services at St. Paul's Episcopal church began last evening
 and a large congregation was present.

Rev. P. C. Webster, of Boston, who will conduct the mission, preached a fine
 sermon and was given close attention.
 At this morning's service he preached on "Prayer." These services will be given every morning at 10:30 o'clock and every evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Stole Eighty Pounds of Coal.

In police court this morning James Scott pleaded guilty to stealing eighty pounds of coal, valued at 20 cents, from a Northern Pacific railway car. In default of $5 and costs the defendant was committed to the county jail.

Samuel Tibbets went up ten days for drunkenness and Sam Johnson paid $3
 and costs for disorderly conduct.

Some Facelious Youths.

On one of the early cars up from West
 Duluth this morning there were about fifteen boys who attended the Central high school. They were loaded for the street car conductor. When that individual called for fares, each boy in turn paid in copper pennies. When the conductor ended his rounds one side of his coat hung about a foot lower than the other.

New Vessel Inspector.

W. R. Tibbals, of Rock Island, Ill., has succeeded John D. Sloan as supervising inspector of steam vessels in the Fifth district. This includes the offices of the local inspectors at Dubuque, Iowa, and Duluth. The local office yesterday had notice of the change. The inspector's headquarters will be at St. Paul as in the past.

All Aboard For Jerusalem.

Train leaves from Congregational church tomorrow evening. A pleasant and safe journey is guaranteed all as the train will be in charge of the ladies of the church. The fare has been made very low, 15 cents, so that all can go.

Your attention is called to the advertisement in this paper of B. Webster & Co., 103 West Superior street, Duluth's
 leading bakery and confectionery store.

HIGHTON FOUND GUILTY.

Jury Was Out Thirty Hours But Finally Reached a Verdict.

After a sojourn of nearly thirty hours
 in the jury room the jury in the Highton
 case came into court, which had convened for the purpose of receiving the verdict, at 9:45 last night, bringing a verdict against A. G. Highton of guilty of grand larceny in the second degree.

The jury recommended Highton to the mercy of the court on the ground of his age, ill health and the peculiar conditions surrounding his case.

He will be sentenced Saturday with the remainder of the criminals convicted at this term. The punishment for larceny in the second degree is two to five years in the penitentiary. A number of the jury stood for acquittal, and the recommendation to mercy is believed to be the result of a sort of compromise
 which was brought about by the prospect of another cheerless night in the jury room.

The calendar of court cases is rapidly melting away and will not last much over the week. The lien case of Fred Engle against John Russell et al was still on trial at noon before Judge Edson.

There are a number of lien claimants,
 each of which is putting in proofs of his claim and considerable time is being spent in the case of Maria Brahmot against George Simmons et al, Judge Moor ordered judgment for the defendant. The case of Mark Gasser against M. M. Gasser was on trial at noon.

Solomon Berry was brought up before Judge Moor yesterday afternoon to answer for contempt and arranging to obey court order requiring him to refrain from molesting his wife, who is suing for a divorce. Judge Moor thought there was no cause for trouble and he dismissed
 the matter.

A LADIES' MATINEE.

The Expert Billiardists Will Play for the Women
 Tomorrow Afternoon.

Tomorrow afternoon's play in the billiard hall between W. F. Hatley and Frank Maggioni, at the St. Louis billiard room will be made a special matinee for the ladies. It will begin at 2:30 o'clock and arrangements will be made for the accommodation of all ladies who may wish to attend. Chairs
 will be reserved, ushers provided, smoking will be prohibited and the comfort of the ladies provided for in every way.

There are not a few in Duluth who are admirers of the game and good players,
 too, and they will be pleased to have this opportunity to see some scientific playing.

This morning Hatley made 300 while Maggioni was scoring 140. The score now stands, Hatley, 2100; Maggioni, 1318.
 The score was as follows:

Hatley—Unfinished run, 7, 75, 31, 9,
 72, 9, 9, 1, 4, 9, 7, 82, 9, 28; unfinished.
 Total, 300.
 Maggioni—6, 9, 2, 33, 32, 0, 0, 0, 39, 19,

WAS A COMPLETE SURPRISE.

More Details of the Crescent Line's Capture
 by the Union Transit.

The capture of the Crescent line by the Union Transit line was a complete surprise all around, says a Buffalo dispatch.

It was known that Manager French of the Union Transit company was looking for boats. There was a rumor started sometime ago that he was about to charter the Eastern line and it was not denied that there was some reason for the story, but it was not suspected that the plan was to merge a whole line into the young one.

But the fact is that negotiations of the same nature were started two years ago,
 only the high price asked preventing the carrying out of the plan. The capture of the Crescent line by the Union Transit company was a complete surprise all around.

The change necessarily displaces H.
 L. Chamberlain, who has been at the head of the Crescent line from the days when it was under the management of Eber Ward and was called Ward's line.

It is not likely that the line will ever do business again, for earnings have not been satisfactory for some time.

Ward's line was the pioneer of the lower lakes in the Lake Superior trade
 and for awhile had it to itself and did not think it worth the while to come to Buffalo. However, the competition of the Lake Superior "Trake" company at length obliged it to make Buffalo its lower terminus.

Then the powerful Northern, Western Transit and Anchor line cut business in two so many times that there was little margin for any of them. Manager French will make as little change as possible, though some readjustment is unavoidable.

Are Getting Tired of It.

The members of the board of trade are getting desperate. A most unpleasant and sickening smell has obtained complete control of the board room and refuses to be driven out. The board of health has been notified three or four times, but has failed as yet to make any move. This condition has continued for two weeks and the source from which the stench arises remains undiscovered. The thought that they may be inhaling disease breeding germs is not pleasing to the members, and unless the health department or somebody takes action there pretty quickly, the bulls and bears will go on the warpath, and something will drop real hard.

Rainy Lake Property Sold.

Deeds were filed this morning in the office of the register of deeds recording
 the sale of two pieces of gold property
 in the Rainy Lake country owned by Otto
 A. Waiske, one of the principal owners of the Lyle property on Drywood island.

The land is on a small island in the south shore of Rainy Lake City, and each piece contains two and one-quarter acres, both lying in section 20-71-21. The purchasers are Albert L. Gieseler and J.
 Iam Becker, and the price was $250 for each piece of land.

Legislature Urged to Pass Laws for Introduction of Military Training in the Public Schools.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 28.—The state encampment of veterans opened earlier this morning and considerable business was transacted, because of the election of officers having been made a special order for 10:30, and the anticipated arrival of the commander-in-chief. Several minor resolutions of a complimentary and business nature were offered and adopted, and an independent resolution, introduced by Capt. Mahan, was carried by acclamation, without being sent to the regular committee. It urges the legislature to enact such laws as may be necessary for the introduction and maintenance of military training in our public schools.

The regular committee on resolutions
 then presented formal resolutions for the collection and keeping of records, which were adopted.

The committee which had been referred the reports of officers made a detailed report, paying high compliments
 to the retiring officers, commending the outside soldiers' relief fund, recommending the formal celebration of the birthday of Lincoln by posts generally, advising the reference of the picket post or vidette idea to a committee for further consideration,
 approving the decision of the judge
 advocate, and disposing of some minor financial matters. This was adopted, and then the department settled itself to the election.

Ell Torrence, of Minneapolis, was chosen department commander and J. J.
 McCord, of St. Paul, senior vice. This places McCord in line for the chief position when St. Paul entertains the grand encampment in 1896. Judge Torrence had no opponents and was therefore elected by the adjutant general's ballot.

There was practically the same unani-mity with regard to the position of senior vice commander. G. C. Lawler and staff arrived at this point and were given an ovation. The election of officers was then resumed with the following result:

Junior vice, E. B. Wood, Long Prairie;
 chaplain, H. G. Billie, Owatonna; medical director, Dr. J. H. Tucker.

Nominations were then sent in for the council of administration, and in the midst of this the encampment took a recess, to resume the struggle this afternoon.

A resolution was adopted extending sympathy to J. H. Mullen. A committee of three from the W. R. C., consisting of Mrs. Nettie M. Norton, Mrs. Mary Leavens and Mrs. Ed Milham, were admitted and introduced, and Mrs. Norton extended the cordial greetings of the corps.

A JOINT SESSION.

ST. PAUL, March 1.—The state legislature in joint session at 11 o'clock today, Speaker Van Sant presiding, received Commander-in-Chief Lawler of the G. A. R. and his staff. The occasion was taken advantage of by the Minnesota Grand Army representatives to make the formal presentation to the legislature of the picture of Maj. Gen. George H. Thomas, the "Rock of Chickamauga," the address being delivered by Gen. R. W. Johnson, of St. Paul, who was one of the leaders immediately under Gen. Thomas during the entire war.

Lieutenant Governor Frank A. Day on behalf of the state, formally accepted the picture, designating Senator H. F. Stevens to make the final speech of acceptance. Senator Stevens has earned the reputation of being one of the best orators in the Northwest, and his address on this occasion was a most eloquent tribute to the patriotism of the American soldier, and to the sterling worth of Gen. Thomas, and to the good to come to the republic from the members of the Grand Army. So long as their noble example is perpetuated, there need be no fear from possible dangers to our government from those elements that are antagonistic to the spirit of the republic.

For the house of representatives, Hon. A. B. Robbins, who followed Gen. Thomas throughout the war, paid eloquent tribute to his old leader. Other brief informal speeches were made by Senators D. F. Morgan and J. T. Wyman and Representatives John L. Gibbs and Henry Johnson.

Commander-in-Chief Lawler was then introduced by Speaker Van Sant and delivered an eloquent address, eulogizing his old corps and department commander, whose picture was today placed on these legislative halls as a reminder of the patriotism and loyalty of Gen. Thomas, and thanking the legislature for what has been done in this state for the old soldiers. Col. Roper gave a few army songs and the joint session adjourned.

GEN. MASON HONORED.

The Legislature Asks the President to Make Him a Brigadier General.

ST. PAUL, March 1.—The legislature this morning by a unanimous vote adopted the joint resolution asking President Cleveland to appoint Brigadier General Edwin C. Mason, commander at Fort Snelling, to the vacant brigadier generalcy. Col. Mason received his brevet for gallantry in the Modoc war, and as he retires in July, it is desired that he may do so with the full rank of brigadier general.

In the house it was passed by a rising vote, and Speaker Van Sant called Gen. Mason to the speaker's stand for the purpose of introducing him to the house. The general responded to the call and was given a military salute by the members. In response, Gen. Mason said that, even if he was able to make a public speech, which he was not, his heart was too full to express his emotions. He regarded it as a crowning blessing upon a long military career, and he thanked the house cordially for its action. After the general had returned to the floor, the speaker extended to him an invitation to be present at the formal presentation of Gen. Thomas' picture. The invitation was accepted.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE SENATE.

Aitkin and Carlton Petition for the Soldiers' Relief Fund Bill.

ST. PAUL, March 1.—In the senate this morning Senator Allen presented a petition from people in Aitkin and Carlton counties in favor of the soldiers' relief fund bill.

President Day announced the appointment of Senators Illis and Keller as the committee to investigate the location of the Birch Coulee monument. Senator Stevens introduced a bill, which was passed under suspension of the rules. It allows photographers to make public display of three copies of any photograph, unless objection is made by the subject of the photograph or some guardian. A written objection to such display, if disregarded, is sufficient to make the photographer liable for damages. The bill was suggested by the Photographers' association and a decision of the supreme court.

Senator Lloyd introduced a bill relating to the deposits in insolvent banks, which was passed by a two-thirds vote under suspension of the rules. It is the counterpart of a bill which passed the senate and was supposed to be all right, but it is a banking bill and should have received a two-thirds vote. The attorney general decided that this was necessary, and hence the passage of the new bill.

Senator Stevens, from the judiciary committee, reported for passage S. F. 201, Senator Schaller's bill repealing the special law fixing the salary of the county attorney of Jackson county. While the bill was in progress the time arrived for holding the joint session with the house, and it had to be given up for a time.

When the senate reconvened, the only

motion put was to take a recess until 2 o'clock and this was carried.

THE DOINGS OF THE HOUSE.

Grant for the School of the Deaf Was Passed.

ST. PAUL, March 1.—In the house this morning the senate bill appropriating $3500 for the Minnesota school for deaf-mutes was passed under suspension of the rules. Among the bills favorably reported from committees were Senator Masterman's bill providing penalty for false stealing of logs and fixing punishment for damaging dams. Mr. Grondahl's bill changing the name of the state reform school; the house bill to extend the work of the state experiment station.

Mr. Scofield then called up his resolution recalling from the senate the senate bill transferring $50,000 from the school text book fund to the general revenue fund, which had been amended by the house to make the transfer to the internal revenue fund and moved its adoption. A lively debate was precipitated, and finally Mr. Feig's motion to lay the resolution on the table was carried—44 to 36.

After the joint session the house took a recess until 2 o'clock.

Among the bills introduced this afternoon in the house was one by Mr. McInnis regulating steam vessels and other water crafts. In the senate the Jackson county attorney matter was sent back to a committee and the question of method of conducting the state census was taken up, a resolution for the assistant state secretary to do the work being presented.

RAISED TREASURY NOTES.

A Station Agent Arrested for a Very Serious Offense.

ST. PAUL, March 1.—J. C. Kidd, station agent at the little town of Odessa, has been arrested by Deputy Marshal Campbell on a warrant charging him with raising and counterfeiting treasury notes. Campbell took him to Fergus Falls for examination before the United States commissioner at that place.

The arrest created some excitement in the village of Odessa. Mr. Kidd had apparently followed an old and very clumsy method of raising $1 bills to $20, by crasing the "one" and tearing off the number of a larger bill, the number of which was used on the "one."

Several of these bogus twentys were passed in the village, and each one of the merchants receiving them declared he had received it from Kidd. In each case Kidd redeemed the bill. Kidd then received the matter to the United States marshal, offering his services in detecting the offenders who had passed the notes on him. He did not explain why he himself had passed them and that led to his arrest.

THE CUBAN REVOLUTION.

A Report That the Insurgents Have Defeated a Force of Two Thousand Spanish Troops.

ST. LOUIS, March 1.—Special telegrams received here from Havana say the report has reached there that the insurgents have defeated a force of 2000 Spanish troops, but no details are given. It is reported that Vincent Garcia, brother of Manuel Garcia, was also killed in the engagement near Aguacali. Another battalion of government troops left Havana for the east.

Many encounters are reported in Matanzas. At least 1000 trained men have left Havana in the last sixty days. They went a few at a time, so as to disguise the fact. Several former Cuban chiefs have been among them. The insurgent band led by Marrero, near Jaquero in the province of Matanzas, has been dispersed by regular troops and some of its members arrested.

Irregular troops overtook the Guantamano insurgents last evening and opened fire upon them. The insurgents stood their ground, but the result of the fight is not known.

Will Send Troops, If Needed.

LONDON, March 1.—A dispatch received here from London says the steamer Umbria will take out tomorrow 280,000 in American eagles and bar gold for American account of the gold bond syndicate. This makes an aggregate of 1,775,000 shipped to the United States since Jan. 13.

More Gold Coming.

NEW YORK, March 1.—A dispatch received here from London says the steamer Umbria will take out tomorrow 280,000 in American eagles and bar gold for American account of the gold bond syndicate. This makes an aggregate of 1,775,000 shipped to the United States since Jan. 13.

Storage Warehouse Burned.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 1.—The Portland cold storage warehouse burned today. Loss $75,000. The building was owned by Charles C. Wells, of Boston, and was fully insured. The heaviest loss is C. B. Trescott, who had stored in the building fifteen cars of frozen fish valued at $200,000.

Miners' Wages Reduced.

PANA, Mich., March 1.—The Pana Coal company operating two mines here and employing hundreds of men has reduced miners wages from 45 to 40 cents per ton or an alternative of $2 per day. Rumors of a strike on March 4 are not generally credited.

NYE IS ABSENT

The County Attorney Has Nervous Prostration and Unable to Attend the Hayward Murder Trial.

The Jurors Look Like Ghosts, Lawyers Are Worn Out and the Judge Appears Weary.

But Harry Hayward Comes Into Court Daily as Fresh as If It Were a Matinee.

The State Today in Rebuttal Knocked a Few More Progs From Under the Defense.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 1.—The Hayward murder trial proceeded today in spite of the fact that County Attorney Nye is confined to his bed from nervous prostration. It is remarked that while the jury look like ghosts after their six weeks' pull at the case, while the lawyers are worn out with work and worry, and while even the judge on the bench looks weary and bored, the defendant, Harry Hayward, comes into court each morning as fresh and smiling as if it were a matinee he were attending. Neither the bad air of the court room nor the evidence piled up against him seems to affect him.

The state knocked a few more progs out from under the defense in rebuttal today. Louis Behm swore that he was present at the conversation between Liveryman Wilson and James Ward, when the former was alleged to have said that it was not Harry but Adry Hayward he saw driving with Miss Gine on the night of the murder. Behm declared that the Haywards were not mentioned in the whole conversation.

Ernest Gamash testified that he saw George Grindall on the East side, many blocks away, at the very time when Grindall swore he saw the mysterious "third man" get into the buggy with Miss Gine. Thus are two important witnesses for the defense impeached.

A gun expert was then called to show that the bullets in various makes of cartridges differed in weight. This was to offset Erwin's coup showing that the cartridge used to kill Miss Gine was a .38-long and not a .38-short, as Blixt testified.

Dr. F. A. Dunsmoor, after a critical examination of the skull, testified positively in answer to a hypothetical question that the lacerations of the face and fractured skull might have been caused by a fall from the buggy of the body, such as was described by Blixt or even that the bullet might have caused the fracture.

Dr. Dunn, another expert for the state, followed and gave similar testimony. Mr. Erwin was unable to shake the belief of either that the thing was possible. Dr. Dunsmoor had known of double fracture resulting from the fall of a body standing on its feet.

ANTON SEIDL IS DYING.

The Celebrated Musician Lying at the Point of Death.

NEW YORK, March 1.—The Press says: Anton Seidl is at the point of death and by the time this is read he may have gone to the silent land. On Tuesday evening Mr. Seidl and a specially selected orchestra played at the Haydn musicale given at Washington by Mrs. Hearst, the widow of the late senator from California.

Mrs. Hearst had special uniforms made for the performers. Mr. Seidl wearing one. The uniform was heavy and close fitting, and when the music was over, Mr. Seidl foolishly exposed himself, contracting a severe cold. This developed into pneumonia on Wednesday and yesterday the disease became acute. Last night it was stated at his home that he was not expected to recover.

WAS KILLED IN A DUEL.

A Parisian Editor Killed by an Officer of the Marne.

PARIS, March 1.—M. Percher, one of the editors of the Journal des Debats, was killed in a duel fought with swords this morning by M. LeChevalier, an officer of marines. The duel was the result of a personal difficulty between the two gentlemen.

It occurred on the island of Grand Jatte in the river Seine. At the first encounter, M. LeChevalier's sword passed through M. Percher's guard, penetrated his body below the right arm pit and pierced his right lung. The wounded man died in a few minutes.

Too Much Liquor Did It.

WELCH, W. Va., March 1.—On Short Pole creek last night Bill Tom Hatfield, a member of the Hatfield family, made famous by a feud with the McCoy family, of Kentucky, was killed by Adam Bailey. This is the first member of the Hatfield family ever known to have died a violent death, and in this case it was the result of too much liquor.

British Columbia Lumber.

VANCOUVER, B. C., March 1.—The large British ship Olive Banks, 2800 tons, now at Port Townsend, has been chartered to load lumber for South Africa. She will take away the largest cargo ever loaded here. The American schooner Falstich, which arrived at Westminister to load lumber for San Francisco. About fourteen small schooners are under contract by the same mill and will arrive at intervals of two weeks.

Governor Holcomb Ill.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 1.—Governor Holcomb is seriously ill with grip. It was not thought serious at first but Mrs. Holcomb was telegraphed for last night.

A JOINT SESSION.

ST. PAUL, March 1.—The state legislature in joint session at 11 o'clock today, Speaker Van Sant presiding, received Commander-in-Chief Lawler of the G. A. R. and his staff. The occasion was taken advantage of by the Minnesota Grand Army representatives to make the formal presentation to the legislature of the picture of Maj. Gen. George H. Thomas, the "Rock of Chickamauga," the address being delivered by Gen. R. W. Johnson, of St. Paul, who was one of the leaders immediately under Gen. Thomas during the entire war.

Lieutenant Governor Frank A. Day on behalf of the state, formally accepted the picture, designating Senator H. F. Stevens to make the final speech of acceptance. Senator Stevens has earned the reputation of being one of the best orators in the Northwest, and his address on this occasion was a most eloquent tribute to the patriotism of the American soldier, and to the sterling worth of Gen. Thomas, and to the good to come to the republic from the members of the Grand Army. So long the noble example is perpetuated, there need be no fear from possible dangers to our government from those elements that are antagonistic to the spirit of the republic.

For the house of representatives, Hon. A. B. Robbins, who followed Gen. Thomas throughout the war, paid eloquent tribute to his old leader. Other brief informal speeches were made by Senators D. F. Morgan and J. T. Wyman and Representatives John L. Gibbs and Henry Johnson.

Commander-in-Chief Lawler was then introduced by Speaker Van Sant and delivered an eloquent address, eulogizing his old corps and its distinguished commander, whose picture was today placed on these legislative halls as a reminder of the patriotism and loyalty of Gen. Thomas, and thanking the legislature for what has been done in this state for the old soldiers. Col. Roper gave a few army songs and the joint session adjourned.

GEN. MASON HONORED.
The Legislature Asks the President to Make Him a Brigadier General.

ST. PAUL, March 1.—The legislature this morning by a unanimous vote adopted the joint resolution asking President Cleveland to appoint Brevet Brigadier General Edwin C. Mason, commandant of Fort Snelling, to the vacant brigadier generalcy. Col. Mason received his brevet for gallantry in the Modoc war, and as he retires in July, it is desired that he may do so with the full rank of brigadier general.

In the house it was passed by a rising vote, and Speaker Van Sant called Gen. Mason to the speaker's stand for the purpose of introducing him to the house. The general responded to the call and was given a military salute by the members.

In response, Gen. Mason said that, even if he was able to make a public speech, which he was not, his heart was too full to express its emotions. He regarded it as a crowning blessing upon a long military career, and he thanked the house cordially for its action. After the general had returned to the floor, the speaker extended to him an invitation to be present at the formal presentation of Gen. Thomas' picture. The invitation was accepted.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE SENATE.

Aitkin and Carlton Petition for the Soldiers' Relief Fund Bill.

ST. PAUL, March 1.—In the senate this morning Senator Allen presented a petition from people in Aitkin and Carlton counties in favor of the soldiers' relief fund bill.

President Day announced the appointment of Senators Iltis and Keller as the committee to investigate the location of the Birch Coulee monument.

Senator Stevens introduced a bill, which was passed under suspension of the rules. It allows photographers to make public display of three copies of any photograph, unless objection is made by the subject of the photograph or some guardian. A written objection to such display, if made, is sufficient to make the photographer liable for damages. The bill was suggested by the Photographers' association and a decision of the supreme court.

Senator Lloyd introduced a bill relating to the deposits in insolvent banks, which was passed by a two-thirds vote under suspension of the rules. It is the counterpart of a bill which passed the senate and was supposed to be all right, but it is a banking bill and should have received a two-thirds vote. The attorney general decided that this was necessary, and hence the passage of the new bill.

Senator Stevens, from the judiciary committee, reported for passage S. F. 291, Senator Schaller's bill repealing the special law fixing the salary of the county attorney of Jackson county. While the debate was in progress the time arrived for holding the joint session with the house, and it had to be given up for a time.

When the senate reconvened, the only

motion put was to take a recess until 2 o'clock and this was carried.

THE DOINGS OF THE HOUSE.

Grant for the School of the Deaf was Passed.

ST. PAUL, March 1.—In the house this morning the senate bill appropriating $3500 for the Minnesota school for deaf-mutes was passed under suspension of the rules. Among the bills favorably reported from committees were Senator Masterman's bill providing, penalty for false scaling of logs and fixing punishment for damaging dams. Mr. Grondahl's bill changing the name of the state reform school; the house bill to extend the work of the state experiment station.

Mr. Scofield then called up his resolution recalling from the senate the senate bill transferring $50,000 from the school text book fund to the general revenue fund, which had been amended by the house to make the transfer to the internal revenue fund and moved its adoption. A lively debate was precipitated, and finally Mr. Feig's motion to lay the resolution on the table was carried—44 to 36.

After the joint session the house took a recess until 2 o'clock. Among the bills introduced this afternoon in the house was one by Mr. McInnis regulating steam vessels and other water craft. In the senate the Jackson county attorney matter was sent back to a committee and the question of method of conducting the state census was taken up. The arrest of some excitement in the senate to do the work being presented.

RAISED TREASURY NOTES.
A Station Agent Arrested for a Very Serious Offense.

ST. PAUL, March 1.—J. C. Kidd, station agent at the little town of Odessa, has been arrested by Deputy Marshal Campbell on a warrant charging him with raising and counterfeiting treasury notes. Campbell took him to Fergus Falls for examination before the United States commissioner at that place.

The arrest created some excitement in the village of Odessa. Mr. Kidd had apparently followed an old and very clumsy method of raising $1 bills to $20, by crumpling the "one" and tearing off the corner of a larger bill, the number of which was used on the "one."

Several of these bogus twenties were seen in the village, and each one of the merchants receiving them declared he had received it from Kidd. In each case Kidd redeemed the bill. Kidd then reported the matter to the United States marshal, offering his services in detecting the offenders who had passed the notes on him. He did not explain why he himself had passed them and that led to his arrest.

THE CUBAN REVOLUTION.

A Report That the Insurgents Have Defeated a Force of Two Thousand Spanish Troops.

ST. LOUIS, March 1.—Special telegrams received here from Havana say the report has reached there that the insurgents have defeated a force of 2000 Spanish troops, but no details are given. It is reported that Vincent Garcia, brother of Manuel Garcia, was also killed in the engagement near Aguacal. Another battalion of government troops left Havana for the east.

Many encounters are reported in Matanzas. At least 1000 trained men have left Havana in the last six days. They went a few days to the disarming camp. Several former Cuban chiefs were among them. The insurgent hand led by Marrero, near Jaguay Grande in the province of Matanzas, has been dispersed by regular troops and some of its members arrested.

Irregular troops overtook the Guantamomo insurgents last evening and opened fire upon them. The insurgents stood their ground, but the result of the fight is not known.

Will Send Troops, if Needed.

LONDON, March 1.—A dispatch received here from London says the steamship Umbria will take out tomorrow 250,000 of last night announcing that the Spanish government was prepared to send reinforcements of troops to Cuba, if such a step is found to be necessary. It is now stated that the Spanish government has issued definite orders for the immediate transportation of seven battalions of troops, each composed of 900 men, to Havana. It addition it is said that another battalion of troops has been ordered to Havana from Porto Rico, making a total of over 7000 men to be dispatched in haste to Cuba.

Not Considered Serious.
MADRID, March 1.—The government of Spain believes that the rising in Cuba will be quelled without much difficulty. There are 42,000 Spanish troops in Cuba. The rising is said to be lacking the support of the Union, Constitutional, Autonomist and Reformist parties in Cuban politics, which groups, as represented in the cortes, united to pass the Cuban reform bill of Feb. 13.

More Gold Coming.
NEW YORK, March 1.—A dispatch received from London says the steamship Umbria will take out tomorrow 250,000 in American eagles and bar gold for American account of the gold bond syndicate. This transaction aggregate of 2,770,000 shipped to the United States since Jan. 13.

Storage Warehouse Burned.
PORTLAND, Ore., March 1.—The Portland cold storage warehouse burned today. Loss $75,000. The building was owned by Charles G. Wells, of Boston, and was fully insured. The heaviest loss is C. B. Treasott, who had stored in the building fifteen cars of frozen fish valued at $200,000.

Miners' Wages Reduced.
PANA, Ill., March 1.—The Pana Coal company, operating two mines here, and employing hundreds of men has reduced miners wages from 45 to 40 cents per ton or an alternative of $2 per day. Rumors of a strike on March 4 are not generally credited.

NYE IS ABSENT

The County Attorney Has Nervous Prostration and Unable to Attend the Hayward Murder Trial.

The Jurors Look Like Ghosts, Lawyers Are Worn Out and the Judge Appears Weary.

But Harry Hayward Comes Into Court Daily as Fresh as If It Were a Matinee.

The State Today in Rebuttal Knocked a Few More Props From Under the Defense.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 1.—The Hayward murder trial proceeded today in spite of the fact that County Attorney Nye is confined to his bed from nervous prostration. It is remarked that while the jury look like ghosts after their six weeks' pull at the case, while the lawyers are worn out with work and worry, and while even the judge on the bench looks weary and bored, the defendant, Harry Hayward, comes into court each morning as fresh and smiling as if it were a matinee he were attending. Neither the bad air of the court room nor the evidence piled up against him seems to affect him.

The state knocked a few more props out from under the defense in rebuttal today. Louis Behn swore that he was present at the conversation between Liveryman Wilson and James Ward, when the former was alleged to have said that it was not Harry or Adry Hayward he saw driving with Miss Gingham on the night of the murder. Behn declared that the Haywards were not mentioned in the whole conversation.

Ernest Gamash testified that he saw George Grindall on the East side, many blocks away, at the very time when Grindall swears he saw the mysterious "third man" get into the buggy with Miss Gingham. These are two important witnesses for the defense.

A gun expert was then called to show that the bullets in various makes of cartridges differed in weight. This was to offset Erwin's court showing that the cartridge used to kill Miss Gingham was a .38-long and not a .38-short, as Blix testified.

Dr. F. A. Dunsmoor, after a critical examination of the skull, testified positively in answer to a hypothetical question that the lacerations of the face and the fractures of the skull might have been caused by a fall from the buggy of the body, such as was described by Blix or even that the bullet might have caused the fracture.

Dr. Dunn, another expert for the state, followed and gave similar testimony. Mr. Erwin was unable to shake the belief of either that the thing was possible. Dr. Dunsmoor had known of double fracture resulting from the fall of a body standing on its feet.

ANTON SEIDL IS DYING.
The Celebrated Musician Lying at the Point of Death.

NEW YORK, March 1.—The Press says: Anton Seidl is at the point of death and by the time this is read he may have gone to the silent land. On Tuesday evening Mr. Seidl and a specially selected orchestra played at the Haydn musicale given at Washington by Mrs. Hearst, the widow of the late senator from California.

Mrs. Hearst had special uniforms made for the performers, Mr. Seidl wearing one. The uniform was heavy and close fitting, and when the musicale was over, Mr. Seidl foolishly exposed himself, contracting a severe cold. This developed into pneumonia on Wednesday and yesterday the disease became acute. Last night it was stated at his home that he was not expected to recover.

WAS KILLED IN A DUEL.
A Parisian Editor Killed by an Officer of the Marne.

PARIS, March 1.—M. Percher, one of the editors of the Journal des Debats, was killed in a duel fought with swords this morning by M. LeChevalier, an officer of marines. The duel was the result of a personal difficulty between the two gentlemen.

It occurred on the island of Grand Jatte in the river Seine. At the first encounter, M. LeChevalier's sword passed through M. Percher's guard, penetrated his body below the right arm, pit and pierced his right lung. The wounded man died in a few minutes.

Too Much Liquor Did It.
WELCH, W. Va., March 1.—On Short Pole creek last night Bill Tom Hatfield, a member of the Hatfield family, made famous by a feud with the McCoy family, of Kentucky, was killed by Adam Bailey. This is the first member of the Hatfield family ever known to have died a violent death, and in this case it was the result of too much liquor.

U. S. AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT, WEATHER
BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., March 1.—The barometer is higher in Duluth and lower in northeast Ohio. It has risen very decidedly in the latter section and the upper lake region with a moderate cold wave. The lowest temperature reported this morning is 10 degrees below zero at Winning and Port Arthur. The fall in temperature over Eastern Manitoba and Northern Minnesota is from 30 to 40 degrees during the last twenty-four hours.
Heavy rains are reported in the middle Mississippi valley, lower Missouri and lower Ohio valley, and rain or snow in the latter region. Fair weather prevails this morning west of the Mississippi.
Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 2 degrees above zero; minimum yesterday, 45 degrees
above zero.

Duluth, March 1.—Forecast for Duluth and vicinity till 7 p. m. tomorrow: Fair; colder
today; warmer tonight and Saturday; winds becoming southerly.

JAMES KENNEL,
Local Forecaster, Official.

Chicago, March 1.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Light local snow
today; fair and cold wave tonight; Saturday
fair with warmer in evening; Sunday, fair;
northwest rains. For Minnesota: Fair tonight;
colder in east portion; slightly warmer west;
Saturday fair and warmer; northwest winds
shifting to southerly Saturday.

The Municipal Charter Bill.
At a meeting of the legislative committee on municipal legislation on Wednesday evening the municipal charter bill
was discussed by several gentlemen
from the different cities of the state, and it was found that provisions that are satisfactory to some would be decidedly unjust to others. One feature which created considerable discussion and upon which there is an apparently hopeless
difference of opinion is the assessment of property for local improvements. The system pursued in Duluth is not favored by St. Paul or Minneapolis, while the system which prevails in those cities
would certainly not be acceptable to Duluth and, in fact, would be a serious hindrance to the prosecution of improvements which are much needed here.
Another point which was raised by City Attorney Morris, of this city, is of great importance. Judge Morris very properly contended that bonds issued for purchasing or erecting water-works and light plants should not be included in the 5 per cent limit of the city's bonded indebtedness. The committee reached no decision on the matter. The position assumed by Judge Morris is eminently sound. Water and light bonds differ essentially from all other municipal bonds, because they are backed by the value of the plants themselves, and the revenue derived from the plants is more than sufficient to pay the interest and provide a sinking fund to redeem the bonds at their maturity. If the legislature should adopt the proposition to declare such bonds part of the city's regular bonded indebtedness and provide that the latter should not exceed 5 per cent of the assessed valuation, the result would be very serious to Duluth. Not only would it be impossible to buy the present plant or construct a new one, but improvements of all kinds would be brought to an immediate standstill.
The bill is open to strong objection in another particular. It proposes that the municipal elections shall be held in the fall upon the same date as the state and federal elections. This would be a great error and would prove disastrous to the cause of good municipal government. It is difficult enough now to keep municipal elections free from the contamination and corrupting influence of party politics, but the difficulty
would be increased a hundred fold by changing the date of the election to the fall, when
in the scramble for the politicians for the state, federal and county offices, good municipal government would stand but
a sorry show, and the offices of mayor, aldermen, treasurer and comptroller
would be the prey of designing politicians, who would run the city government in the best manner to strengthen their political ring and without regard to the true interests of the citizens.
This plan will never do, and the members of the legislature should understand that it is not acceptable to the people who live in the cities. Probably the members from the country districts who contend that all elections should be held upon the same day do so because of their ignorance of the conditions that exist in the cities. The only hope of keeping the municipal government from the control of the spoilsman and of securing an administration of city affairs along business lines is by keeping the municipal elections separate and distinct from all other elections. The nonpartisan idea in municipal government has made great progress in recent years. The great political rings, which have become centers

of corruption of the worst character and have resulted in the looting of the cities'
treasuries, have aroused the people to the necessity of divorcing the municipal contests from national politics.
In discussing this question the other day, the Boston Transcript said: "National politics should not weigh in choosing municipal rulers, and the party which insists, after the experience of New York city, in filling up local offices
with partisans, might well be opposed by some other party, bearing aloft the banner of municipal reform. This would be a very taking rallying cry taken in connection with others of a similar nature, suggested by popular needs and demands." There is as much need in St.
Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth of non-partisanship in municipal campaigns as there is in New York. And for this reason it is essential that the municipal elections shall be held in the spring of the year or at any other time than the month of November when the party issues in the state and national campaigns
would make almost impossible the selection of the best men to conduct the city government.

A Minneapolis Scheme.
The latest scheme of Minneapolis is to sell the exposition building to the state for a capitol. Of course there is no probability of the scheme succeeding, and it only exhibits in a striking manner the amount of cheek which the people of that city possess. The exposition scheme itself was a colossal failure. It was started originally out of spite towards St. Paul and with the idea of drawing from that city business which naturally went there on account of the annual state fair at Hamline. The Minneapolis exposition was very creditable
so far as the exhibits were concerned,
but it was a colossal failure financially.
Efforts are now being made by those who were induced to take stock in the enterprise to raise $100,000 to prevent the building being sold to satisfy the claims of creditors. The prospect of raising this amount is not very bright, so the brilliant scheme of unloading the
"white elephant" upon the state was conceived. A member living outside of Minneapolis was persuaded to introduce a resolution for the appointment of a committee to look into the matter. This was to create the impression that the idea did not originate in Minneapolis.
The committee was appointed and yesterday visited the building and conferred with the exposition directors.
It is stated that the members of the committee were not greatly impressed with the idea of making a capitol out of the building. Mr. McInnis said he thought it would make a good insane asylum, and the other members agreed with him. Certainly the men who conceived the scheme of turning it into a capitol are eligible for admission to an insane asylum established there or elsewhere.

Twenty-five years ago the British government bought out the interests of the three public telegraph companies, which did service in the isles. In the last year of their service these had handled 6,500, 000 messages. Last year, under government control, 70,000,000 messages were sent; the number of offices has been tripled and the miles of wire increased from 60,000 to 200,000. The rate, at the same time, has been reduced from 25 to 12 1/2 cents for twelve words. The United States government should take these figures as a hint.

The Herald is pleased to notice that the Winona Republican has changed the paragraph at the head of its editorial column so that it now claims a much larger circulation than any other paper published outside the cities of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth, the last two words being added since The Herald directed attention to their omission. There is no doubt that the amended claim of the Republican is correct. No other city of Winona's size has as good a daily newspaper.

Lord Rothschild a few days ago gave a dinner to the staff of "Punch" to meet the Dukes of York and Fife (son-in-law to the Prince of Wales). The gold plates used were so gorgeous that his grace of Fife told the baron that if he owned them they should be used only as parlor ornaments. The St. Louis Star-Sayings thinks that after the bond loan money is all in, the dishes will probably be studded with diamonds.

The New York Recorder suggests an international life-saving prize fund for sailing shipwrecked life at sea. The idea is excellent, as it would cause every derelict to be overhauled, every ship in distress to be assisted, if possible, and every boat signal observed to be attended to. There is room for reform in the existing methods on the high seas and a prize might be an incentive to the practice of a little more humanity.

The laws of the order of Whitecaps in Georgia are not only peculiar but run close to the border line of treason. Members swear to dispose of people guilty of "lying, cheating, stealing, etc." as if they were the enemies of the state. Some of our brothers to be hanged or burned
or shot by the laws of the country, or by military law.

Business in New England this year has really been more promising than anywhere else in the United States.
There are 30 per cent of the workmen of the country out of employment today,

off 44 per cent, but in the happy district
the percentage is only 30, and the wage rate has fallen off only 10 in two years.

It seems certain that the whipping
post is again to become an institution of New York, and that flogging will be mandatory for all but the first offense in cases of assaults on women and on children under 16 years of age. It is the proper punishment for such brutes, the only one that properly fits the crime.

The United States supreme court has decided—for the first time in its history,
it is said—that the jury is not the judge of the law in the criminal case, but must take the law from the bench. Justices Gray and Shiras dissented from this opinion.

The continued senatorial deadlock in Delaware leads to the suspicion that the much talked about wealth of Mr. Addicks is a myth and that he has not got the price.

The Building Trades Journal says that "indications point to excessive building

better." This is good news.

Rainy Lake Rides.
Todd County News: The Rainy Lake region is attracting considerable attention this spring and the development of its resources is going to put Minnesota
right to the front as a money state.

The News Tribune Fakers.
St. Paul Globe: The Duluth fakes are at work again. It is too warm to tell stories about eight people being frozen
to death near Rainy Lake or the thermometer rushing down to 56 below zero
at Deer River, but it is the proper weather to pilot a bear into the streets of West Duluth and have him chase a newswy
for morning exercise.

"Happy the Man." (Quoted by Lord Randolph Churchill as his platitude.)
Happy the man and happy his alone
Who can call his own.
His wife who within can spy
Tomorrow do thy worst for I have lived today.

The joy I have possessed in spite of fate and mine
Not Heaven itself ever thus past hath power,
But what has been has been and I have had my hour —Dryden.

Want the News Complete.
Anoka Union: The Union has heard
a great deal about newspaper readers
favoring great condensation of news.
'Tis false. The Minneapolis Tribune has published full stenographic reports of the Ging murder trial, and everybody wants to read the Trib.

A First Cousin.
Minneapolis Journal: That bear who is reported in morning papers to have unsuccessfully fought with a newswy in the streets of Duluth yesterday, must be some relation to the woodchuck that went back into hiding after Candlemas day.

Discarded Motives.
Duluth Herald: What the men are most desirous of knowing just now is:
When will the women quit editing newspapers and come home again to the bosom of their families? Some of the old mottoes, "God Bless Our Home,"
"What Is Home Without a Mother," and the like, are getting a trifle faded and shabby and should be replenished.

STOLE ALL HIS MONEY.

Frank Mahovich, a young German from Philadelphia, met with an experience upon his arrival in Duluth this morning, which, although it was expressive of him, probably taught him the useful lesson that an unsophisticated young man should not place his trust in smooth-spoken strangers, especially when he is from those verdant villages as Philadelphia or Hoboken. Mahovich is a green German boy of 18 or 20 and he arrived in Duluth this morning with his worldly wealth, $211, in a roll of greenbacks.

While in St. Paul on his way here he was acquainted with three very pleasant gentlemen, who were also on their way to Duluth. Frank was alone and as they seemed to be very agreeable

Robert Downing. Mr. Robert Downing is adding to his historic laurels by presenting at his splendid production of that great play "David Garrick," in which he will be seen here assisted by Eugene Blaylock and a large company of excellent players, on Tuesday at the Lyceum. Mr. Downing is known to be a generous manager, as regards the salaries of his players, and his scenery, costumes and stage effects are every where acknowledged to be superb. The policy he has followed of striving to give people the full value of their money has won for him a large and constant patronage.

"The Gladiator," the play in which Mr. Downing, will appear on Tuesday evening, is a play of a serious and of a powerful historical interest. Its opening act is located in the catacombs under Rome, and deals with the persecutions of the Christians under the Emperor Nero. There is nothing didactic about the play. It is full of action, and contains in the arena scene one of the most powerful and stirring scenes in dramatic literature.

Circular No. 2 has been issued by F. W. Denton, of Soudan, secretary of the Lake Superior Mining institute, which holds its third annual meeting in Duluth on Wednesday next. Special rates from Michigan mining towns and all stations on the South Shore road have been secured.

was met on his way to the court by the intelligence that the case on which he was called, McGinty against the city, had been dismissed. McGinty, he recalled, was called there by the clerk, he received his summons, and he was informed that he had $220 fees coming to him, and he was advised to see the clerk about it. He set about to get ready and showed his subpoena in the city's office. He was referred to one of the clerks, who told him to go back to the clerk's office, where he would go to the sheriff's office. He was sent back to the clerk's office, where he was told that one of the city sheriffs had drawn the money and was about to spend it for cigars. He was advised to see the county attorney.

At that time a committee from the West End protested against such action, but it was shown that the branch was not used enough to pay for keeping it. No action was taken last night, but the committee was formally decided to urge people to use the branch more often. It was a good showing as possible between now and May, the time set for closing the branch.

There was a lively discussion over the name for the organization. "The Central Business Men's club" was suggested, but it was thought the title too local, and that it would lose influence outside. A final decision was made on the "Duluth Commercial club."

companionship. The four came up together on the St. Paul & Duluth limited, and they were met by the police at the depot. From the depot, according to the boy's story, they walked west up the hill, and then down on the way to the general store. They were very confident and tried to lend them $1.50 to get their breakfast with.

The boy complied, and pulled out his money and gave the amount. The next thing he knew his money was all gone, and one of them had it. In his excited condition he did not know who had it. He began to protest but his friends quieted him and said that it would be all right. They gave him a check for $1.50 and gave him a check for $1.50. West End they turned up and went into a saloon. Here one of the men wrote a check for $1.50 and gave it to the boy, and the three left for West Superior.

The check was on the First National Bank of Duluth, and was signed "Stonewall Brothers." Of course it was worthless, and it did not take long for the police to find out. The police went to the depot and told his story, and in a short time the police were on the track of the swindlers. From the boy's description they were able to find out the names of the men, and on the basis of the account of his excited state of mind, the detectives thought that they recognized at least one of them as a member of a well-known gang. The police then went to the swindlers, known to the police as the "Big Mit Gang."

JUDGE PRIEST COMING.

He Will be in Duluth With District Attorney Stringer.

Judge Henry S. Priest, of the Eastern district of Mississippi, arrived in St. Paul yesterday, and in the federal building met the government officials. He will hold the March term of the United States courts at Minneapolis for Judge Nelson, who is expected to be forthcoming.

He might be here for Duluth with Mr. Stringer, the district attorney, who will file a number of informations against the "Big Game" men, and with a handsome, agreeable gentleman, and while this is his first trip to the Northwest, he is not a stranger, as he has been here every year for the past thirteen years on hunting and fishing expeditions. He has been on the bench of the United States district court only about six months.

It has been expected that R. T. O'Connor would qualify as marshal before his arrival in St. Paul, but Mr. O'Connor has not yet been sworn in.

THEY FELL TO DEATH

Five Men Perished by the Fall of a Wall of an Old Building in New York.

They Were Engaged in Tearing Down the Building Which Suddenly Collapsed
With a Crash.

In Addition to the Five Men Killed, Several Were Injured and Two Will Die.

NEW YORK, March 1.—The wall of an old 5-story building at Forty-third and Tenth fell at 9:30 o'clock this morning, killing and injuring many men who were engaged in tearing it down. So far three dead bodies have been removed from the ruins and several injured have been extricated. There are probably a score of men still in the ruins, many of them believed to be dead. The list of dead and injured at 10:50 o'clock was:

Dead: Charles Bobson, 32 years old; an Italian, apparently 30 years old, known only as "No. 3"; boy, about 17 years old, name unknown.

Injured: Patrick Curran, 40 years old; F. Meeney, 30 years old; Michael Creedy, 21 years old; Joseph Mallory, 24 years old; Louis Stein, 22 years old.

The building which was being demolished is the old malt house of E. & E. Schuyler, brewers, for two years it has not been occupied. The portion of the building that fell is the old kiln house and was six stories high.

For three weeks a gang of men under Contractor George O'Keefe has been tearing down the building. This morning
most of the gang were at work on the old kiln house, on the Forty-third street side. During the first part of the morning a portion of the roof had been taken off, and the naked wall on the West Forty-third street side was left standing.

Suddenly there was a terrific crash.
There was a roar of falling brick and timber that was heard for blocks, and a great cloud of dust went up. In the midst of the roar were heard the cries
of the men, many of whom had fallen to death. The three upper stories on the Forty-third street side had toppled into the interior of the building. Tons of brick and mortar had fallen on the workmen.

A dozen men ran distracted in all directions to send in fire alarms and calls for ambulances. In a few minutes fire engines and ambulances were on the scene. Ambulances were there from every hospital in the city. Groans and half-stilled cries could be heard from beneath the mass of bricks.

The laborers who had escaped, the firemen and the crowd attracted by the noise of the falling walls ran to the ruins
like madmen and began tearing the debris away with their hands and with crowbars. A leg here, an arm there and a head in another place showed the best points of attack.

The men who were at work on the ruins were thoughtless of danger at the first, and then cooler heads saw that only kill the rescuers, but bury the unfortunate men still deeper. In a short time ten men were taken out. Of these two were already dead. Among a man of 20 years, who later was identified as Charles Bobson, was unconscious and breathing feebly. He was hurried into an ambulance but died on the way to the hospital.

It was absolutely impossible on the start to get any accurate description of the wounds of the injured. Some had broken limbs, other injured cuts in the head and face. All were thickly covered with dust.

The building as it stands shows on the Forty-third street side a wall broken off at the third story. The wall just opposite is broken off at about the same point.
The walls on the other sides are still standing, five stories high and here lies the greatest danger for the firemen and the rescuers.

Contractor O'Keefe and his partner, Patrick Keegan, were arrested and locked up in the Forty-seventh street station. No bail would be taken when the owner of the fallen building, James Nickelby, called to offer security.

Chief Gicquel said at noon that he thought there were two more bodies in the ruins. This would swell the list of dead to five. The body of the unknown
Italian was identified as that of Angelo Ticcor. Contractor O'Keefe denied the statement that a lot of material had been on the floors of the building. Of the injured men Mallory and Dobson will die,
and there may be more trouble.

THEY WANTED REVENGE.

Two Bad Men Met a Hot Reception in Indian Territory.

ARDMORE, I. T., March 1.—Guy and Ellison Keel, brothers of Iveson Keel,
who died last week from a bullet wound
received in a fight with United States
marshals some two months ago, came here late last night to avenge their brother's death.

They opened fire on a posse of officers about to arrest them. Guy was shot in the head and probably elsewhere, and his brother is lurking around town. Officers are patrolling the street. The Keels had not left town at a late hour
and there may be more trouble.

TWO JAPANESE VICTORIES.

Field Marshal Oyama Reports Two Victories
Over the Chinese.

HIROSHIMA, March 1.—Field Marshal
Count Oyama reports under date of Feb.
27 that he met the enemy near Taping Shin and defeated them. He adds that on Feb. 24, 13,000 Chinese troops attacked Hai Ching but were repulsed and retreated to Yin Kao.

The Japanese loss was twenty killed and 250 wounded. The enemy lost 200 killed. The number of Chinese wounded is not known.

Murderer Executed.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., March 1.—Harry Hill, the murderer of Matthew Alston,
a Cass county farmer, was hanged at 4
a. m. today. His neck was broken by the fall. The crime was committed Nov.
1, 1893, and was a most brutal one.

PLUNGED DOWN A CANON.

Horrible Loss of Life by a Railroad Accident
in Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, March 1.—An excursion train coming into this city on the Interoceanic railroad met with an accident yesterday afternoon. While rounding a curve on the side of a mountain five coaches jumped the track and went down the canon. Forty-two people were killed and thirty or more seriously injured.

The first news of the disaster was received by Dr. Alfred B. Ray, an American physician of Mexico, asking him to come to Ayatoto to care for the wounded.
The train was a special of ten passenger coaches filled with religious pilgrims,
which left the City of Mexico yesterday morning for the Shrine of Sacramento in Anicameca. On the return trip it was derailed near Ayatoto. A relief train was dispatched to the scene with Dr. Ray and a surgeon. The engineer, an American, name unknown, is fatally injured.

TO AID SUFFERING FARMERS.

St. Louis Will Assist Those in the Drouth
Stricken Districts.

ST. LOUIS, March 1.—A joint meeting of members of the Mercantile exchange and the Chamber of Commerce today took action in regard to the appeal of farmers in the drouth stricken districts of Nebraska, Kansas, Western Iowa and South Dakota. It was agreed that St. Louis, in common with other cities, should extend to the suffering
farmers in those states such assistance
as will enable them to put in their crops,
and thus be able to provide for themselves
during the coming year.

It is proposed to raise a fund with which to purchase enough food for stock,
the same to be distributed by local committees, duly organized and authorized
in the various counties, the amounts given to each farmer to be paid for by his note which will be the first lien on the crop. Committees will be appointed to take charge of the matter.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease,
and prescribed remedies, and by constantly
failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. It is now known to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Cathartic, manufactured by J. A. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally
in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful.
It acts directly on the blood and greatly cleanses the system. They offer $100 for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars

THE DISTRICT COURT.

Robert B. Whitesides Against George C. Greenwood et al on Trial.

Before Judge Ensign this morning the case of Robert B. Whitesides against George C. Greenwood et al was on trial.
The suit is for the lease of the Zenith mine because of the failure of the Zenith Iron company to fulfill the conditions of the lease. The lien case of Engle against Roswell was taken under advisement yesterday afternoon. In the case of M. Gieriet against M. M. Gasser, Judge Moor yesterday ordered judgment
for $155.98 for the plaintiff.

This morning Judge Moor was trying the case of H. A. Schulze against Fannie Brown to recover payments alleged to be due in a real estate transaction. The case was tried once before and a new trial granted by the supreme court.

BIDS WERE SCARC.

Marquette and Ashland Breakwater Work Not Badly Sought After.

The number of bids received by Maj.
Sears for the breakwater work at Ashland and Marquette was not so large as was expected. For repaving the breakwater at Ashland, the lowest bids for material were as follows: Stone, Ashland Brownstone company, $4.10 per cord;
slabs, Peter Ferguson, of Ashland, $1.50 per cord. For the timber, no bids were put in. There is but a small amount of this to be furnished. The amount to be expended is about $12,000.

For the Marquette work which is to be the building of the concrete superstructure on the breakwater the lowest bids for material were as follows: Portland cement, Sandusky Portland Cement company, $3.20 per barrel; natural cement, Milwaukee Cement company, represented by Cutler & Gilbert, of Duluth, $1.04 per barrel; iron and timber, Powell, Mitchell & Marquette; sand and broken stone, A. & D. Sang, of Duluth, $11.64, estimated. About $25,000
in all is to be expended.

IT FAILED TO PASS.

Scheme to Add Pooling Bill to Another Bill Blocked.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Mr. Storer's
bill amending the interstate commerce act, and which the opponents of the pooling bill claimed was a scheme of the senate to tack on the pooling bill in conference, was voted on in the house, the vote being 127 for and 20 against.

This indicates a failure of the bill, as thirty-three less than the necessary two-thirds voted for it.

SEVERAL PEOPLE KILLED.

A Building in New York Collapsed This Afternoon.

NEW YORK, March 1.—A building at the corner of Rivington and Allen streets collapsed at 4 p. m. Calls for ambulances have been sent out. It is believed that several people have been killed.

Later—Fifteen persons are said to have been injured by the collapse of the building at Rivington and Allen streets.

Tinsley Rejected.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The senate
today in executive session discussed the nomination of A. D. Tinsley to be postmaster at Sioux Falls, S. D. Senator
Pettigrew defended Tinsley and Senator Kyle favored him. The nomination was rejected by a vote of 13 to 41.

Would Be No Experiment.

Auburn (Wash.) Argus: The Nooksack
Reporter, published at Nooksack City, Whatcom county, has found a man suitable to its choice, and unfurls the name of Cushman K. Davis, of Minnesota, as a possible candidate for the next president.
Mr. Davis may be a proper man, but at present he is a comparative stranger before the public. No stranger need apply. The people have experimented to their dire regret, and they will now insist on a man "who has been tried and not found wanting"—if he is to be had.

Kent (Wash.) Journal: C. K. Davis has been a public man for more than a quarter of a century. He is a man of the people, and was elected to his president position as an inspiring man, and to day he is the peer of any man, in point of ability, in public life in this country.

INSECTS AS ACTORS.

CREATURES THAT CHANGE IN APPEARANCE TO ELUDE ENEMIES.

Even the lovely butterfly is up to tricks. Moths that try to look as if they had bee stings—ants copied by spiders—A caterpillar's fierce disguise.

All creation below man is in a state of war, and any creature that cannot take care of itself quickly falls an unspiced victim. Those that have teeth or claws or stings fight with them, and those that have none of these are driven to seek safety by aping the appearance and manner of some better endowed relative. Butterflies in general are most helpless creatures, but some of them are possessed of a peculiar defense. They have a bad taste. Birds that try to eat them find themselves made ill and naturally stop the feast. Now, the uniform of such a butterfly is a valuable protection, and the sweet edible butterflies that live in the same fields avail themselves of it. If the favored fly is red, some butterflies that ought perhaps to be yellow are found arrayed in shades of red which is a pretty close match of the one copied. If the poisonous one has a marked spot on his wings, the imitator will grow a spot similar like it, and even when the first has so distinctive a mark as a swallow tail wing the poor hunted cousin is not discouraged, but sticks out an imitation spelt the end of his wing in the hope of deceiving the eye of the over watchful sparrow who is after him.

It is not every individual of a hunted species that changes in this way. If they all changed, the birds would soon discover the trick, and it would become useless. Sometimes when the hunted species is large one it is not safe even for those that do change to copy the same poisonous species. So sometimes they copy two or even three different species. In this case the eggs that are laid by a female of any of the colors will hatch out into all the several kinds of flies. It is remarkable that as the male flies are stronger and of swifter flight than the female and better able to take care of themselves, they do not often change, but by keeping their original color serve to decoy the birds away from their mates and to keep up the delusion that the imitation is intended to create.

These disguises of the butterfly are wonderful enough, but they are all in the family, so to speak, and are far surpassed by other insects who, not finding any safe individual to copy among their own near relatives, take a bold step and imitate a member of an entirely different family. There is a moth that has assumed the disguise of the belligerent bee quite successfully. To do this he has himself hatched with the down on his wings so loose that a buzz or two shake it all off and leave his wings transparent and gauzy like the bee's. Then he crawls around with an imitation of a bee's peculiar gait and does his best to look as if he had a sting. There are other flies that have imitated bees more or less successfully, but none that has gone so far to do so as this one.

Mark Twain has called the ant a very much overrated bird. But if man has highly estimated this "bird" he has but followed in the footsteps of nature. The ant is one of nature's favorites. She has made him so dry and hard and indigestible that he requires a specially constructed animal to eat him. Hence he lives and increases in comparative peace and is the envy of all his neighbors. He would doubtless have many imitators if it were not that he is so hard to copy. But he has nevertheless found a follower in a certain spider. Now, there is a great difference between the natural appearance of spider and an ant, so great that the spider, even if he is a long, thin, black spider, might well be discouraged, for he has eight legs, and an ant has six, and he has two bulbous to his body and an ant three. Yet he is nothing daunted. By some system of tight lacing or other he first manages to divide his abdominal bulk in two. He does not get such a waist as an ant has, but he makes an apparent division, which is something. Then he walks on his six hind legs like an ant and waves his two fore legs in the air like an ant's antennae, and, if it is to be supposed, fancies himself indigestible.

But perhaps the most wonderful imitation is where an insect copies not the natural appearance of another, but his appearance when at work. There is a kind of ant in South America who makes it his business to strip the leaves from the trees and carry them to his nest, and the sight of one of these, crawling and often concealed under his leaf, is most common. The ant, as stated before, has few enemies. Now, there is a form where this is common a kind of fly that has grown upon its back a sort of fin of the general shape of a leaf and of a bright green color, so that as it crawls around it might well be mistaken for one of these ants under a leaf. Thus in its imitative zeal it has created a feature which is no part of the ant it copies.

Of all these imitation warriors none is so ambitious as one species of caterpillar. He is large, lizards like to eat him, and he is perfectly defenseless. When he is at rest he is like any other caterpillar, and no one would notice certain dark spots on his shoulders. But touch him, and at once he draws his head back into his body and presents to view a most terrifying dragon face. The spots on his back now look like great saucer eyes, and his dark head forms a leak of most beligerent aspect. The whole effect is ridiculously fierce and must be seen to be appreciated. An innocent lizard to whom this caterpillar was fed turned tail when he saw the transformation and did not stop until he was well hidden behind a twig.—New York Sun.

Magic Finger Rings.
Finger rings have played a more important part in history than any other ornaments. They were formerly symbols of authority, and subordinates were often invested with temporary power by the loan of the master's ring. We have examples of this in the case of Pharaoh. Aeneas and many others, in both sacred and profane history. Rings were at one time supposed to possess magical powers, and Plato tells us that Gyges owned a ring that would at his pleasure render him invisible, while from another source we learn of the wonderful being with which Solomon sealed the jars in which the disobedient jinn were immured before being dropped into the sea.—New York Advertiser.

THE LOG'S LEAP.

A Woodman's Wonderful Escape From a Threatened Death.

We were rolling logs down a bluff into the St. John river, below Grand Falls, said a lumberman. The bluff was about 40 rods up from the river, steep and worn pretty smooth by the log rolling. A log started over the brink would roll with tremendous velocity down that sharp descent. Toward the foot of the hill there was a slight ridge, and now and then a log would strike it and go bounding into the air and land well into the river.

It was a dry time that May, and the rolling logs made dusty work. The dust was so thick sometimes that we almost lost sight of the logs before they reached the bottom. If a log was started right, it generally followed a pretty straight course down the bluff, but once in awhile a crooked one went stewing, or another would get the advantage of the rollers and start off and first, and so roll on a curve and generally not reach the bottom, but lodge perhaps half way down. Some one would then have to go down and dislodge it.

One day a crooked log slowed and lodged. Tim Field went down to straighten it and sent it on its course. While he was engaged two men came up with a log. They stopped on the brink and waited for Tim to get out of the way, balancing their log with their "peevies."

They were bending forward, watching Tim, when somehow one of the "peevies" slipped, and the log started. The second man withdrew his tool to save himself from being hurled along with it. A cry of alarm broke from them.

"Tim! Oh, Tim! Look out!"

There was no time for the poor fellow to jump aside, and no human power could save him from being crushed by that huge descending log. We stood, horror-stricken, peering over the edge of the bluff.

Downward rolled the log, a cloud of dust rising in its wake. For a dozen rods it rolled, gaining velocity as it descended, and then suddenly it struck a rock or some obstruction and gave a great bound, high over Tim's head, and struck the ground below, whence it rolled and tumbled to the foot.

Tim was untouched. Although we rolled thousands of logs down this same bluff, I never saw a log go bound into the air like that one. It seemed to us that the hand of Providence had interfered.—Montreal Star.

THE OFFICE TOWEL.

No More Danger of Infection In It Than In Many Other Things.

The Lancet, which is never happy unless discovering sanitary sermons in stones and infection in everything, has fallen foul of the club towel. I suppose they do doubt that the club towel is never, in the strict sense of the term, washed. If there were no other reason for that, a sufficient one would be found in the fact that the clubs do not pay enough to permit of the washing being more than a matter of form.

It occurs to me, however, that if a man were so highly infected with any disease that by merely wiping his hands on a towel he could communicate the complaint to the next man who used the article, after it had been dipped in water and mangled in the interval, the chances are that he would disseminate infection by many other ways, whatever happened to the towel. There would certainly be a risk in handling a newspaper after him, and he might contaminate the billiard cloth or even the cues, not to mention the pens and the blotting paper.

If it is really necessary to take precautions against following members in this condition, we had better require every man to produce a doctor's certificate before he enters the club premises.—London Truth.

On the Arabian Sea.

On this Arabian sea in the spring season you can safely drift along the coast in an open boat. The land breeze after midnight until early morning and that from the sea in the afternoon and evening suffices to fill the sail and keep a gentle way on the craft. The servants are content to lie on their backs and lounge in the bow, and wrapped in a blanket in the stern, the master must be content to make his meals of tinned soup or baked and boiled over the boatman's smoldering embers. But how charming is the natural beauty of the surroundings! Such as to compensate the traveler for all physical discomforts.

Close by the cliffs drop abruptly into the water, clothed in some places with the feathery bamboo, the wavelets splash the rocks with blue light, above here and there on the commanding headlands are the old forts, which once echoed with the sound of cannon, but now the home of the parrot and hyena, grass grown and disfigured in their outlines by the assaults of scores of thousand rains. In the deep ravines below their ranges nestle the hamlets of the cultivators, who now, undisturbed by the freebooters, pursue their husbandry beneath the grateful shade of the trees.—Gentleman's Magazine.

Conditions Reversed.

A very pretty girl was sitting in a Colerain avenue car the other day. At a corner near jumped in a young man, evidently a bill collector on his rounds. "Why, Nellie!" said he. "Where have you been so long?"

"Home," said Nellie demurely. "Thought you was hammering some old typewriter for Plunk & Plunk."

"Well, I ain't."

"What you doing?"

"I'm married."

"Married!" exclaimed the youth. "Gee whiz! Who'd you marry?"

"Mr. Horace Plunk."

The face of the youth grew blank. "I can't see what you married him for."

Nellie blushed, and then clasped him in an amused smile. "I got tired having him dictate to me."—Cincinnati Tribune.

The Dighton "Writing Rock."

At Dighton, Mass., lying well out in the tide water of Taunton river, is a rock of great antiquity interest. It is a granite boulder about 11 feet long and 5 feet in greatest height and is known throughout New England as the "Dighton writing rock."

One side of the boulder is almost perfectly smooth, as though worn by glacial action. On this flat surface, in clear cut outlines, are dozens of characters, hieroglyphs and pictures, chiseled by some prehistoric worker. The archaeologists have never been able to decipher these characters, but they are of undoubted antiquity.—St. Louis Republic.

A Plain Case of Not In.

The office boy, with his legs wrapped around the legs of the chair, was tilted back in the corner reading a soiled copy of "Stump Fingering Dick, the Dandy of the Plains," when a visitor entered. The boy had heard his step through the hall and was calmly expecting him when the door opened.

"Is the boss in?" inquired the visitor.

The boy looked at him with almost a contemptuous expression and was slow to reply.

"I said," snapped the visitor, "is the boss in?"

"I heard you," said the boy, with a half sneer.

"Well, I want to know if the boss is in."

"That's a pretty question to be asking me, ain't it? Don't you know he ain't?"

NOTICE

To the President and Common Council of the City of Duluth.

Gentlemen: Your committee on streets, alleys and sidewalks, created by resolution passed on the 14th day of January, 1895, the petition of John C. Hunter, Clinton Marcell and others, praying for the vacation of that part of the old county road running through the former village of West Duluth, particularly described in said petition, for investigation and report thereon, would respectfully report:

That pursuant to notice duly given by the city clerk as required by said resolution and duly published in the official newspaper of the city of Duluth once in each week for four successive weeks, to-wit: On the 14th, 22nd and 29th days of January and on the 5th day of February, 1895, your committee met at the council chamber in the city hall in the city of Duluth on Monday, the 26th day of February, 1895, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of hearing and considering said petition, at said time and place, Messrs. Agstin, Davidson and Carey appeared specially before the committee, and objected to the jurisdiction or authority of the committee or of this council to entertain and conduct the proceedings thereon, and after hearing and considering the same, and after considering the said matter, your committee finds that said petition is signed by a majority of the owners of the frontage of the property on the line of that part of said highway, which by said petition is prayed to be vacated, and also for the distance of four hundred feet at each end thereof beyond the limits of each proposed vacation or discontinuance, and that the facts and reasons for such vacation as set forth in said petition are true, and your committee would therefore respectfully recommend that said petition be granted, and to that end that the following resolution be adopted:

E. M. PATTERSON,
L. CHRISTENSEN,
R. E. MURPHY,
Committee.

By Alderman Patterson:
Resolved by the Common Council of the City of Duluth:

That, whereas, on the 14th day of January, 1895, a petition of John C. Hunter, Clinton Marcell and others, owners of property in the city of Duluth, St. Louis county, Minnesota, praying for the vacation of that part of the old county road running through the former village of West Duluth, in said petition and herein after more particularly described, praying that said part of said county road be vacated and discontinued, was presented to this common council, and was read and considered, and a resolution was passed, and was accompanied by a plat of the portion of such highway proposed to be vacated, and was duly verified by the oath of two of the petitioners and

Whereas, on said 14th day of January, 1895, said petition was by resolution only passed, ordered by this common council to be filed for record with the city clerk, and was referred to the committee of this council on streets, alleys and sidewalks for investigation and report thereon, and

Whereas, the said clerk was by said resolution directed to give notice by publication in the official newspaper of the city of Duluth for four successive weeks, at least once in each week to the effect that said petition had been filed as aforesaid, and stating in brief its object and that said petition would be vacated and discontinued, and that said petition had been considered by said committee on streets, alleys and sidewalks, on Monday, the 26th day of February, 1895, at a meeting of said committee held on that day at 2 o'clock p. m., at the council chamber of this council, in the city of Duluth, and

Whereas, the said notice has been duly given by said city clerk and published in the official newspaper of the city of Duluth on the 14th, 22nd and 29th days of January, and on the 5th day of February, 1895, as required by said resolution, and

Whereas, said committee on streets, alleys and sidewalks has duly met as by said resolution required and is said notice set forth, and has investigated and considered said matter and has heard all parties interested, and has made report to this council recommending that said petition be granted, and

Whereas, said petition has been signed by a majority of the owners of the frontage of property on the line of that part of said highway proposed to be vacated, and also for the distance of four hundred feet at each end thereof beyond the limits of each proposed vacation or discontinuance, and has been duly verified by two of said petitioners; and

Whereas, the facts and reasons for such application set forth in said petition are true, and that part of said highway within the limits described in said petition and by said petition prayed to be vacated, has become of no use and has ceased in fact to be used as a highway, and Grand avenue west has taken the place of and is being used instead thereof;

Now, therefore, be it resolved that said part of said highway so prayed in said petition to be vacated and discontinued, to-wit:

That part of the old county road running through the former village of West Duluth and nearly parallel with Grand avenue west, and between said avenue and the St. Paul & Duluth Railway company's right-of-way, which lies between the westerly side line of Sixty-first avenue west and the easterly side line of Sixty-first avenue west, and the place of and is being used instead thereof;

Resolved further that this resolution be published in the official newspaper of the city of Duluth, be filed for record with the city clerk, and be a part of the minutes of the meeting of the council of the city of Duluth, St. Louis county, state of Minnesota.

Alderman Patterson moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:

Yeas—Aldermen Christensen, Cox, Evans, French, Getty, Harwood, Hale, Leach, Mitchell, Nelson, O'Brien, Patterson, Trevillion, Mr. President—Nays—None.

Passed Feb. 25, 1895.

Approved, Feb. 25, 1895.

MIGHT BE OBTAINED

Some Possibility of Securing Interurban Street Railway Mail Service Between Duluth and Superior.

Superintendent Barclay Thought It Could Be Obtained if the Two Cities Worked For It.

There Are Now Eight Trains Each Day But the Interurban Service Would Be Hourly.

It is quite possible that with a little agitation on the part of business men a street railway mail service between Duluth and West Superior may be inaugurated. Postmaster Helinski presented the idea to Superintendent Barclay of the railway mail service when he was up two or three days ago. He said he saw no reason why it could not be accomplished.

Mr. Barclay interviewed the street railway people on both sides of the bay. There is one hitch that would have to be adjusted. Of course the mail would have to be sent in a locked pouch. The government would require the street railway company to be responsible for the safety of the pouches. In summer they would have to be transferred to the ferries, and the companies are inclined to object to this.

There are eight trains per day now and Mr. Barclay thought this ought to be sufficient to handle the mail, but thought the other service could be obtained. If Duluth and Superior had interurban service such as St. Paul and Minneapolis have there would be no trouble in securing it.

August Rehbein Wants Damages for a Broken Foot.

August Rehbein has brought suit against the city for $5000, which is alleged to be the value of personal injuries received by him while working for the city. He was running a steam roller for the city Sept. 7, 1894, on Fourteenth avenue east, and he alleged that the machine was worn out and defective. He started to take it to the shops for repairs, when it got away from him on a down grade, and on account of some defect in its workings he could not stop it. He was forced to jump and in doing so he says he "broke his foot." Edson & Hanks are his attorneys.

"YOU'RE A LIAR"

The Exclamation Made by Harry Hayward
When a Witness Testified Against Him
This Morning.

George W. Jenks Saw Harry Running Near Loring Park on the Night of the Murder.

Dramatic and Harrowing Scene When Harry Turned on Adry With the Desperation
of the Lost.

Condition of Juror Dyer is Very Serious and
Dr. Spring is Alarmed for His Safety.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 2.—"You're a liar." The words came out between the clenched teeth of Harry Hayward, on trial for the murder of Catherine Gings. They betrayed the first evidence of real feeling on the part of the accused man which he has let slip during the six weeks the trial has been in progress. He flushed crimson as he uttered them. Though they were not spoken loudly, they were audible at the reporters' table and presumably in the jury box. George W. Jenks, a well-known broker, was the witness whose testimony had wrung that involuntary denunciation from the accused.

Mr. Jenks' evidence was easily the most important so far given in rebuttal, for it knocked a big hole in the careful alibi put in by the defense. Jenks testified that he took a car for the city at been at or near the spot and saw nothing of Grindall or the occurrence he describes.

D. A. McArthur, an advertising solicitor discredited another part of Harry's evidence by swearing that he saw him walking up the street with his friend Waterman, shortly before 6 o'clock on the night of the murder. There is a possibility that the closing arguments will have to be postponed. The condition of Samuel H. Dyer, the aged juror, is very serious this morning. His illness is due largely to varicose veins and his condition has become more aggravated day by day. Last night he secured very little rest.

Dr. Spring is alarmed for the safety of his patient and has adopted a new line of treatment. Mr. Dyer had to be carried into court in an arm chair. A professional nurse has been secured, and after adjournment today the invalid will be kept in bed under constant care. It is hoped that with careful nursing Mr. Dyer may be fit to come into court on Monday morning.

There was a sensational scene in court after the adjournment until Monday had been ordered. It was between Harry and his brother Adry. Harry was violently angry at Adry and swore at him, saying: "You damn son of a bitch, I want to swear out a warrant for this man."

"You don't," said Erwin, striving to quiet his client.

"I don't wish you any harm," said Adry. "I'd rather see you get out of this court a free man, and the brother went away with his deputy."

Harry then declared to the reporters that he knew of numerous fires Adry had set and thereby secured the insurance. He said he would prove what he said and send Adry to the penitentiary before he was hung.

It was a dramatic and harrowing scene. It seemed as if the accused man had at last realized his almost hopeless condition and with the desperation of the lost he turned upon his brother and accuser. It was a scene never to be forgotten by those who witnessed it. And this was but one of the dramatic scenes

LET US REJOICE

The Minnesota House Passed a Resolution
for All to Rejoice Over Adjournment of Congress.

Patriotic Americans Invited to Celebrate by Blowing Whistles, Flying Flags
and Booming of Cannon.

The Dressel Resolution to Inquire Into Distribution of World's Fair Fund Was Voted Down.

Several Members Resented the Making of Attacks on State Officials at Instance of Outsiders.

ST. PAUL, March 2.—The house devoted twenty-eight minutes to chaplain, roll call, reading of the journal and presentation of petitions and then heard committee reports. Mr. Boobar, for the normal schools committee, reported the bill for the Preston normal without recommendation; H. F. 217, relating to normal education, to pass; H. F. 186, Crookston normal, without recommendation; H. F. 465, to sell old building at St. Cloud normal, passed under suspension.

The committee on claims reported H. F. 239 to be indefinitely postponed; H. F. 495, for relief of Mrs. Hoffman, widow of Indian war soldier, to pass.

The Forty-fourth district delegation favorably reported the Anderson bill to repeal a special law regarding fishing in Chicago county and it passed under a suspension.

indefinitely postponed was adopted without a negative.

Mr. Downs introduced the following resolution:

"Whereas at high noon on March 4, the Fifty-third congress, with a Democratic majority in each house, will cease to exist; and

"Whereas the citizens of our beloved country have, during the life of this congress been subjected to untold domestic misery, financial distress and political disgrace;

"Resolved that all patriotic Americans, from Maine to Texas and from Florida to Oregon, are invited to celebrate the hour of our deliverance by the blowing of whistles, the flying of flags, the ringing of bells and the booming of cannon, thereby declaring to the world by a great object lesson that the American people have determined that never again will they trust the business affairs of this great nation to Democratic hands."

The resolution was adopted unanimously. The following bills were introduced:

Mr. Brainerd, to amend general laws 1893, creating and organizing new counties, towns and counties.

Mr. Olds, to appropriate $5000 for monument on 10-acre park site of battle of Wood Lake in the Sioux war. Military affairs.

Mr. Lovejoy, by request, for relief of tax payers whose taxes become delinquent June 1893 and 1894 and requiring 1 per cent interest on such taxes. Taxes.

Mr. Robillard, relating to collection and payment of the local assessments. Municipal legislation.

Mr. Cant, providing for appeals from municipal to district instead of supreme court in certain cases. Judiciary.

J. M. Smith, to amend general statutes 1878, relating to shorthand reporters.

Mr. Dingman, to amend general laws 1893, prohibiting cruelty to animals. Judiciary.

C. A. Smith, relating to expending money for higher education, making an additional annual appropriation of $5000. Education.

Mr. Zer, requiring general managers of railroad companies to issue certificates to surgeons and requiring all trains to stop at any station, when such physician or surgeon shall so desire or need.

NO EXECUTIONS.

This Means There Will be No Executions as a Result of the Recent Revolution.

An Immense Aerolite Shot Out of the Northern Heavens Over Reno, Nevada,
This Morning.

Passed Over the Town, Exploding With Terrific Force, Shaking Buildings and Waking the People.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—The steamship Australia arrived today seven days from Honolulu. Among her passengers are thirteen exiles from the Hawaiian islands. They were put on board by an official of the republic at the last moment before the sailing of the steamer. Among the number are only a few who have been accused of actual complicity in the late revolution. The remainder are mostly Britishers and Germans, who made themselves obnoxious to the republican government by doing too much talking.

Among the exiles who became known as supporters of the revolutionary party are Wunderberger, Creighton, Peterson, Rathern, Brown and Fitzsimmons. The most important news brought by the steamer was the decision of President Dole and cabinet commuting to imprisonment the death sentences imposed by court martial upon Wilcox, Seward, Rickard and Gulick, the four leading rebel plotters.

The sentences were commuted to thirty-five years imprisonment and a fine of $10,000 each. This means there will be no executions as a result of the recent revolution.

AN IMMENSE AEROLITE.
Passed Over a Nevada Town and Exploded
With Great Force.

RENO, Nev., March 2.—At 5:28 this morning an immense aerolite shot out of the northern heavens and seemingly passed over the town. It exploded with terrific force shaking the buildings and waking the people.

Those who saw it describe it as a magnificent sight, lighting up the heavens and earth in all directions. It was accompanied by a rushing, whirling noise, like a tornado.

People on the street involuntarily dodged. It was probably at a great distance, as the explosion was not heard for about two minutes after it had disappeared.

Baron Savarin did wonders for the world in the way of delicious cookery. How much more might he not have done with the help of Dr. Price's baking powder!

ANOTHER GREEN GOODS STORY.
Master Mechanic of an Iron Railroad Victimized by Sharpers.

CHICAGO, March 2.—J. F. Buchanan, master mechanic of the shops of the Iron Mountain railroad at Two Rivers, Minn., has just concluded an interesting experience with green goods men in which he lost $300, and is likely, he says, to lose a lady and a job. Buchanan reached Chicago last Tuesday and registered at the Russell hotel, as "Kate Simons, Two Rivers, Minn."

Later he met three men and after the customary carriage ride the party separated, Buchanan being out $300 and finding the usual bundle of newspapers in the place of the $3000 worth of "green goods" he had purchased. After a few days of amateur detective work, he told his story to the police.

He is the promised husband, he said, of Mrs. Kate Simons, a Two Rivers widow worth $50,000. Mrs. Simons, according to his story, had received a green goods circular, and after due consideration commissioned him to make a deal by which she was to receive $3000 for $300 of the genuine. She furnished the money and Buchanan was to do the rest.

Now he is compelled to return to her without either the $3000 or $300. He fears that she will decide on another husband and his feelings are further harrowed by the possibility that the publication of his troubles will result in the loss of his position. The green goods men are still at large.

TO FORECLOSE A MORTGAGE.
NEW YORK, March 2.—A private dispatch from Milwaukee says that a bill for the foreclosure of a mortgage on property of the Green Bay, Winona & St. Paul Railroad company has just been filed in the United States circuit court. The bill prays for foreclosure and the appointment of a receiver of the property.

JURY COULD NOT AGREE.
NEW YORK, March 2.—The jury in case of ex-Capt. Doherty, accused of accepting "protection" money from the keepers of a disorderly house has reported a disagreement.

the junction on Lowry hill shortly after 7:10 on the night of the murder. As the car reached Loring park, a block east of Kenwood boulevard, he saw a man running out on to the avenue.

He supposed the man wanted to catch the car and called the conductor's attention to the fact. The conductor stopped the car whereupon the man, who was running, stopped also, and it became evident that he was not after the car.

"Are you able to identify that man?" asked Mr. Hall.

"I believe I am," was the answer.

"Who was it?"

"It was Harry Hayward."

"You're a liar!" exclaimed Harry, as the blood mounted to his temples. He was quick to see the tremendous importance to him of this evidence. In the first place this evidence fitted in exactly with the evidence of Liverman Wilson that he had seen Harry Hayward driving out Kenwood boulevard with Miss Gings that night shortly after 7:10. If Harry had actually so driven and had then stopped the buggy, alighted and run back to the Ozark after Blint he would have crossed Hennepin avenue at just about the time Mr. Jenks claims to have seen him.

The evidence further is in direct contradiction to Harry's assertion that he was in the dining room until 7:22. This assertion of his is not positively supported by any of those who were in the dining room that night and is positively contradicted by some of them. The vital importance of Jenks' evidence was therefore manifest. The defense was unable to shake his belief that it was indeed Harry Hayward whom he had seen running behind the car.

The evidence of Grindall, the man by the claims to have seen the "third man" get into the buggy with Miss Gings was further discredited this morning by the evidence of two witnesses, who had which signalled the close of the state's case against Harry T. Hayward for murder.

Albert Hall, the assistant prosecutor, managed his calculations perfectly in the introduction of evidence in rebuttal and the effects were very startling.

In the penetrating glare of the last rocket, Harry Hayward's athletic figure stood out in relief against a black background. The story told by the final witness was positive and convincing. It was a surprise not alone to the defense, but to every one who has followed the history of the case through the evidence.

George W. Jenks, the broker, was the prosecution's last witness and it is his testimony which carries a weight which the defense will find most difficult to counteract. The fact that Mr. Jenks had seen a man running after the car he was on the night of the murder is already familiar to newspaper readers. The stoppage of the car and the instant slackening of speed by the pursuing runner has already been touched upon, but the state's attorneys have religiously guarded the fact that Mr. Jenks could identify the man.

President Cleveland and Secretary Lamont are both fond of doughnuts. They like them best when cooked with Dr. Price's cream baking powder.

New Pension Granted.
WASHINGTON, March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—An original pension was today granted to Solomon H. Dimmen, of Ledoux, Minn.

Could Properly Attached.
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., March 2.—Attachments against all the property of the late Jay Gould have been filed here by the Soldiers' Orphan Home of St. Louis, in behalf of the bondholders of the Kansas and Pacific railway. The amount claimed is $11,000,000.

Mr. Sander, insurance, reported H. F. 270 supporting salvage corps, with a substitute. The building and loan committee reported H. F. 394 on incorporation of loan associations, amended, to pass; H. F. 405, relating to building and loan associations doing general business, to pass; H. F. 407, allowing such associations to invest and receive money on deposit, to pass.

The Dressel resolution to investigate the distribution of the World's fair appropriation and moved its adoption. Mr. Furlong, who was one of the World's fair commissioners, seconded the motion.

Mr. Warner thought the passage of such a resolution would be an insult to the state of Minnesota. He knew nothing to be investigated unless it might be to learn why the board returned any money into the state treasury. He did not believe any money had been misappropriated and did not believe in any such claptrap as this and like resolutions.

The discussion was participated in by J. N. Jones, Mallett, Robinson, Furlong, Harshorn and Sander, and was at times rather heated, several members resenting the attacks made against state officials, especially when such attacks were at the instance of outsiders and without any positive knowledge on the part of the introducer of the resolution. Mr. Warner's motion that the matter be

A TRACE OF TILLINGHAST.
The Missing Wisconsin Banker Seen on an Eastbound Train.

ST. PAUL, March 2.—A dispatch to the Dispatch from Chippewa Falls, Wis., says: C. D. Tillinghast, the missing banker and attorney of Bloomer, did not go to Colfax as was supposed, but was seen at Neenah on a Wisconsin Central train on Monday, Feb. 18, by J. H. Crowell of this city.

The train was eastward bound and Tillinghast was not seen to get off and the supposition is that he did not leave the train until its destination was reached. Why he told the cashier when he drew the $500 he was going into the country in the interest of the Bank of Bloomer is the topic of conversation.

His accounts at Bloomer have been examined and found all right, and his domestic relations have always been very pleasant.

I have found the ROYAL BAKING POWDER to be an absolutely pure cream of tartar powder, entirely free from alum and ammonia, and of the very highest leavening power.

FAIR A MILLIONAIRE.

Charley Fair Has Disposed of His Interest in His Mother's Estate to His Sisters.

In Consequence Fair's Attorneys Have Dismissed the Suit Which Tied Up His Mother's Estate.

A Peculiar Feature Which Has Developed is the Inconsistency of the Late Ex-Senator Fair.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—Charles L. Fair is a millionaire in fact. To acquire this capital he has disposed of all his interest in his mother's estate which now belongs wholly to his sisters Mrs. Oelrichs and Miss Virginia Fair. In exchange for his surrender he received $500,000 in cash and securities and satisfactory covenants from his two sisters for a similar amount payable in April 1937. The first half million was paid in $100,000 cash and the balance in productive gift edged securities.

It was after this agreement had been reached that Fair's attorneys dismissed the suit which tied up his mother's estate. When the courts here decided that Charles Fair could not get the $500,000 which had been bequeathed to his brother, James, because it was not payable until 1897, Charles was in rather a bad way.

About this time Charles and his father became reconciled, and the dead senator made himself the active partner of his son. He not only counseled him to contest his mother's will, but advanced him money to enable him to do so and supported him while the suit was pending.

It was at the instigation of his father that the estate of Mrs. Fair was tied up and that he voluntarily relinquished his monthly allowance of $1000 from that source.

Finally the suit was dismissed and an arrangement was made which was mutually satisfactory.

Charles needed money and got it. Mrs. Oelrichs came immediately into $1,500,000 and Miss Fair will have an equal fortune when she is 25 in 1930. They will have absolute joint ownership of Mrs. Fair's estate, which is constantly increasing from its original amount of $1,000,000.

A peculiar feature developed recently is the inconsistency of the late ex-senator Fair. While he was counseling Charles and expressing his disapproval of trusts and strangers and irresponsible people being given authority to "handle her money," he continued to advise his son to manage his own inheritance. The first money paid by James G. Fair to Charles to break the trust created by Mrs. Fair's will was given on Sept. 14, 1934.

One week later the ex-senator made his own will, creating a trust "confided to strangers" against which he inveighed so vigorously, and for the legal destruction of which he was even then advancing money and continued to do so to the end of his days.

A stately leader in the procession of American food products is Dr. Price's cream baking powder.

Says It Is Not. WASHINGTON, March 2.—Sir Charles Hunter, an English baronet, was an interested spectator of the senate proceedings of the past few days. He has taken special interest in the financial debates and in conversation has assured the senators whom he met that this apparent growth of bimetalism feeling reported in England is not.

Well Known Author Dead. LONDON, March 2.—John Stuart Blackie, the well known author and Greek and Latin scholar, is dead at the age of 86.

Grateful as showers to the parched earth is the day of cooked with Dr. Price's baking powder.

Specimen Cases. S. H. Clifford, New Canaan, was troubled with neuritis and rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was tormented by flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and the sore was cured. John S. Shepherd, Catawba, N. C., had five large fever sores on his leg. Doctors said he was incurable. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and one box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him. Sold at Max. Wirtz's drug store.

Ten days less of time on account of illness and a doctor bill to pay, in anything but pleasant for a man of family to contemplate, whether he is a laborer, mechanic, merchant or publisher. James O. Jones, publisher of the Leader, Mexico, Tex., was sick in bed for ten days with the grip during its prevalence a year or two ago. Later in the season he had a second attack. He says: "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with considerable success. I think, only being in bed a little over two days. The second attack I am satisfied would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of this remedy." It should be borne in mind that the grip is much the same as a very severe cold and requires precisely the same treatment. When you wish to cure a cold quickly and effectively give this remedy a trial, as it is 25 cent bottles for sale by all druggists.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50 cent bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

BURKE'S OLD CHARGES.

Reiterated in a Resolution to Impeach Kenyon and Governor Clough.

ST. PAUL, March 2.—In the house yesterday, Mr. Brevig, a Populist member from Renneville county, sent up a resolution embodying a long statement—supposedly emanating from John H. Burke, a well known Minneapolisian who has heretofore made like charges to the governor and through the newspapers—in which Bank Examiner M. D. Kenyon is accused of corruption in office, in certifying that a number of leading financial institutions in St. Paul and Minneapolis were sound when in fact they were insolvent. It charges seven specific alleged frauds in different institutions, and adds:

"That the St. Paul & Minneapolis Trust company, American Exchange, Farmers & Merchants, State, Citizens, Commercial and Bank of New England banks have failed after being examined by said Kenyon, but the public and presumably no one else was ever notified by them that they had on deposit nearly $50,000 of public funds that are thereby lost," and that other banks have failed after being examined.

It further cites that it is nearly two years since such charges have been filed with the governor against Kenyon, and no action has been taken, and it is, therefore, resolved that a committee of five be appointed by the speaker to investigate all charges, letters or documents filed with Kenyon relating to any bank, financial concern or official; to examine all Kenyon's reports; to examine all letters and charges relating to the bank examiner filed with the governor, if needed; to examine the employees of banks and financial concerns and ascertain whether any corrupt considerations have passed to said Kenyon for his reports, and to "prepare on the evidence found articles of impeachment against Moses D. Kenyon, public examiner and superintendent of banks of this state, and if the evidence shall warrant, to prepare like articles of impeachment against David M. Clough, governor of this state."

A Judge on Trial. STOUTSBURY, Mass., March 2.—In the district court here Judge B. Morse was arraigned on the complaint of F. W. Marshall, editor of the Sharon Enterprise, charged with using profane language in a public conveyance and violating the town bylaws. The case which was tried in the defendant's own court by Judge Humphrey, created considerable interest and the court room was crowded. After a hearing lasting several hours the defendant was discharged.

Suffocated in Her Bath. SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—Miss Grace Anita Benjamin, a beautiful young lady of 20 years of age, died last night from suffocation in a bathroom. The bathroom is close and small and hot water is obtained by means of a gas burner under a large brass boiler in the center of the room. The attending physician explained to the coroner's deputy that the bathroom was so small and the power of the burner so great that the oxygen in the air was greatly burned out and Miss Benjamin faints.

More Bodies Found. NEW YORK, March 2.—The fall of the building in course of construction in Orchard street yesterday is found to have been more destructive of life than was first supposed. Today three corpses were removed from the ruins, making the casualties five killed and eight seriously injured.

Covered today are those of John Marie, James Ross and Joseph Marr.

New Protective League.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 2.—A meeting has been held here for the purpose of organizing the Equitable Protective League of the United States. The league is based upon the plan advocated by David Lubin, a bounty on export agricultural staples, by which it is proposed to enhance the home prices of the whole domestic product and extend to staple agricultural protection against foreign competition.

New System of Tactics.

VANCOUVER, Wash., March 2.—An interesting exhibition was given at Vancouver barracks by Capt. Eastman, of the Fourteenth infantry, U. S. A., who had his company exercise before Brig. Gen. Ous, the new system of tactics, whereby the company can be formed easily. Its merits lie in simply enabling the rawest recruits to perform all necessary company movements after a few hours instructions. It introduces an improved group system in extended order.

Sank at Sea.

NEW YORK, March 2.—The Wilson steamer Colorado, which reached port today from Hull, England, brought the captain and crew of ten men of the German bark Norma, which encountered a heavy storm, which caused her to leak badly. When the Colorado came in sight the water had made such a gain in her hold that she was about to sink.

Charles Emory Smith Dined.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Charles Emory Smith, ex-United States minister to Russia and editor of the Philadelphia Press, was the principal guest and speaker last night at a dinner given by the Political club at the Hotel Savoy. George Gustafson presided. Mr. Smith made an eloquent speech on financial topics.

Railroad Social Last Evening at Pilgrim Church Was a Pleading Novelty—Letter from Mrs. Dinwoodie.

From now until Easter the society editor will probably be the most miserable man on earth for the usual space will have been filled by the society editor. It is a pity that the society editor is not a more useful person. It is a pity that the society editor is not a more useful person. It is a pity that the society editor is not a more useful person.

THE RAILROAD SOCIAL. Charming Affair Given at the Pilgrim Church Last Evening.

The railroad social last evening at the Pilgrim Congregational church was a charming affair. There were booths representing different countries. Miss Elsie White was in charge of Rome. Miss Minton of Pekin, Miss Florence Ames of Amsterdam, Miss McClure, of Jerusalem, Miss Laddock of Madrid and Miss Fenton of Glasgow. Each was dressed in the costume of the country she represented.

The person making the trip was given a question at each booth and had to answer it correctly before leaving the booth. A prize was given to the one making the best time and Ernest Webster won it, making the round in eighteen minutes.

Those in charge of the social were: Miss Barnes, Mrs. F. D. Day, Mrs. Weiss and Mrs. Crowl.

Easily the foremost boon ever given to the household is Dr. Price's cream baking powder.

THE COTILLION. Delightful Affair Given by the Winter Club This Week.

On Tuesday evening the Winter club gave a cotillion at the Masonic Temple hall. There were about eight figures, led by Maj. Clinton B. Sears and C. J. Kershaw. The favors were all very pretty and were made by the ladies. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Cutler, Mr. and Money.

Money to loan on real estate security. The better the security the lower the rate.

Fire insurance written in companies able to pay losses promptly.

Houses to rent; houses to sell; stores to sell; stocks to rent. Good stocks that pay dividends, bought and sold.

The man who keeps waiting for better times instead of doing all he can in such times as prevail, deserves to get left—the times are not so bad as the politicians would have you believe.

More industry and less politics would be a good thing for all concerned.

MARCH, APRIL, MAY.

Paine's Celery Compound Makes People Well.

It Makes Strong Nerves and Pure Blood; It Cures Disease!

It is the One Remedy That all Schools of Physicians Prescribe.

The Demand for it is Tremendous; it Never Fails to Benefit.

Nothing Was Ever so Highly and Widely Recommended.

First Prescribed by America's Greatest Physician.

It Has Become a Blessing to the Entire Country.

Men and Women in the Highest Stations Publicly Recommend It.

Grateful People Everywhere Heartfully Endorse the Famous Remedy.

It makes people well! It builds up the weakened, shattered nerves; it sends new life and blood through the arteries.

Where everything else has failed Paine's celery compound—the greatest achievement of that giant among men, the ablest physician of this generation, Professor Edward E. Phelps, M.D., LL.D., of Dartmouth—this wonderful Paine's celery compound has in thousands of cases cured disease.

It has freed old age from many of its infirmities. It has made thousands of lives worth living that were once a burden. It has proven itself so easily the greatest of all spring remedies, making the weak strong and the infirm well, that in the big cities, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis and the rest, the leading newspapers, making their own canvasses, have found that the demand for Paine's celery compound is enormous, as far surpassing that of any other remedy as the curative power of this great compound does indisputably surpass that of any other.

For Paine's celery compound is not a patent medicine. It is not an ordinary tonic, sarsaparilla or nerve. It is so superior to all that they are not even good imitations.

Paine's celery compound positively and permanently cures nervous debility and exhaustion. Neuralgia, sleeplessness, melancholia, hysteria and headaches yield to its refreshing properties—all these troubles are directly traceable to the one cause, poorness of the blood and poorness of the nervous tissues.

For kidney troubles it is the most infallible of remedies. It owes its unfailing power to check at once the progress of this breakdown among the tissues of the kidneys to its remarkable nutritive efficiency.

Just as soon as Paine's celery compound begins its strengthening work there is at once a rallying of all the important organs of the body. The appetite improves, the spirits become more hopeful, the dull pains of disease lessen, sound, refreshing sleep returns. That tired, worn-out feeling departs, and the sufferer knows, without being told by a physician, that he or she is getting well.

The season of March, April and May—the springtime, when if one can do so he must recuperate his lost strength and get back the health that nature intended for him—that season is here. It behooves every man, woman and youth now to get well. And Paine's celery compound makes people well.

A shameless attempt to railroad
through the city council a damnable scheme embracing a steal of $300,000,
has ignominiously failed.

A brazen attempt to carry out the most corrupt piece of jobbery ever known in Duluth, or even in the Northwest perhaps, has just been nipped in the bud and exposed because of the incorruptibility of the members of the city council and several of the city officials.

Within the past ten days, at least twelve of Duluth's aldermen have either refused or missed a chance to break their official obligations, barter away their manhood and bring themselves before the gates of the penitentiary for a boot-ler's bribe. Times are hard and these aldermen get begrudging salaries of $25 a month, yet a golden opportunity to sell their votes and their honor at prices ranging from $2500 to $5000 each, has been indignantly spurned.

Several city officials have been brow-
beaten, insulted by improper proposals
and even threatened with dismissal
from the city's service unless they supported this base scheme. Each official,
he it said to his credit and the credit of Duluth, has met every advance and every temptation with the words: "Get these behind me, Satan."

The secret closet has been opened and the grinning skeleton exposed. In it, all can recognize the foul form of the notorious Clyne proposition, that misshapen monster of which, by his own boast and assertion, Willis J. Holmes, and not John Clyne, is both father and guardian.

The Clyne Proposition.
All will remember this Clyne proposition. Last fall, before the water-works purchase election, John Clyne, a resident of West Duluth, who has followed the business of a street and sewer contractor on a scale and to an extent not at all extensive, submitted a proposition
to the city council for the construction of a pumping station, a water main extension to Lester river and a duplicate
of the present plant in the city, operated and owned by the Duluth Gas and Water company. It was calculated that the proposition would greatly aid in defeating the proposition to purchase the plant of the Duluth Gas and Water company, which was voted on October 26
and, at the same time, prove a most profitable contract for Mr. Clyne and his backers, if accepted by the council.

The water plant purchase proposition
and the bonds carried, thereby giving the Clyne proposition a black eye. No sooner, however, was it smitten on one cheek than it turned the other. The proposition was modified so as to embrace only the construction of a new pumping station and a water main extension to connect with the old plant which the city has voted to purchase
from the Duluth Gas and Water company. Those pushing the scheme wanted
the city to award them a contract, with advertising for bids, in the sum of $800,000. Bonds for the faithful performance of the work were offered in the sum of $100,000, with W. J. Holmes and
H. H. Phelps as sureties.

The city fathers did not see anything to be gained by doing away with the regular custom of advertising for bids,
so despite assiduous lobbying by Mr.
Holmes and several checky lawyers, no action was taken and another eye of the hydra-headed monster was blackened.

Everyone then thought the scheme was dead. Recent developments prove that it was not even sleeping and, although in ambush most of the time, it was very much awake and in a condition of pernicious activity.

Working the Aldermen.
Some weeks ago, W. J. Holmes commenced to be very friendly again with several of the aldermen. Tom Wood, the lawyer who offices in the First National Bank building commenced to seek the society of several members of the city fatherhood, while a Fifth ward politician took one or two others under his wing and, in time, commenced a campaign of coaxing and persuasion in favor of this Clyne proposition.

"I want to talk business to you some of these days," remarked Mr. Holmes to a West End alderman.

"Why?" was the answer.
"Well," was the reply, "I am told you are the man I want to see. We've got some deals on and I am told by different friends of mine that you are the man
above all others in the council for me to enlist in the matter."

Slowly and surely Mr. Holmes grew bolder, more enthusiastic and more communicative. He wanted the council to accept the "Clyne proposition" and award a contract in the sum of $800,000.
Holmes is just a figurehead in this. I am the man," said he, smiting his breast with all the pride and importance of an Indian chieftain. "I am the man. I suppose you know that?"

The city engineer, D. R. Reed, was waited upon and asked to recommend the scheme to the aldermen if they came to him and asked his opinion and advice. The idea was also presented to Mr. Reed that a majority of the aldermen were very much in favor of the scheme, and if he would hold his position longer than the present year, he had better get in on the ground floor.

City Attorney Page Morris was also waited upon and requested and he seemed to recommend the scheme to the aldermen as he was making it clear that if he, also, did not come in on the wet,
join the majority and get in on the ground floor, he would be booted out of the office.

Craig Not in It.
At one time it was claimed that Superintendent Craig, of the gas and water company, was interested in the scheme
and that he was using his influence in its favor. It has been indisputably demonstrated to The Herald that there was no foundation for such assertions or claims.
One alderman, however, said that he had an idea that at first Mr. Craig let on that he thought the scheme was a good one,
just to find out all there was to it and that when the promoters of the scheme
"tumbled" to his smiling duplicity, he was dropped like hot potatoes and his person and office shunned, even as the devil shuns holy water.

In the work of persuading and convincing the aldermen it was always the rule to represent that nearly every other alderman was favorably inclined if not absolutely committed. For example, if
Mr. Holmes, or any of his associates, talked to Alderman Harwood it would be represented that Alderman Howard was "solid" and "O. K." When talking to Alderman Howard, for illustration, it would be represented that Alderman
Olafson was all right, when, in each case,
the wire puller knew he was not telling the truth.

It beat all my experience. I am willing to believe all such stories that I hear now.

One alderman followed the practice of learning the latest moves and then telling them to the city attorney.

"Don't listen to those things. Don't talk to these fellows. You'll get burnt!"
exclaimed Mr. Morris.

"I kept on just the same," said the alderman, "and if that Clyne proposition"
had ever formally come up in the council, I'd have made a speech and told things that would take your breath away."

One of the lobbyists called on an alderman and, on the ground of personal friendship, asked that he support
the Clyne proposition.

"For God's sake don't ask me to do anything like that. I'd like to do anything for you in my power but don't sink me that deep. Why, if I voted for that I'd never be able to look one of my horses in the face."

Had a Little List.

Mr. Holmes, it is asserted, kept a list of the aldermen and opposite each name
on the list there was a mark showing how each one stood. They were as follows:

O. No good.

N. Doubtful.

— All right.

There were three aldermen who had the "O"—no good—mark opposite their names—Aldermen Hale, Patterson and Getty. They were let severely alone by the head pushers of the scheme. These three and none of the two or three aldermen who were supposed to be actively helping the scheme were asked to join with them. Once or twice, however, the head schemer expressed an idea that Alderman Hale would come around in time. Whenever a "doubtful" man became "O. K." in the estimation of the head pushers the mark opposite his name on the little list was correspondingly changed.

Last Monday Mr. Holmes was jubilant.
He thought things were coming his way. He made assertions that eleven aldermen were pledged, and later on the number was increased to thirteen.
He even claimed that the resolution accepting the Clyne proposition
would be called up and passed that evening. A rumor to that effect got on the outside. Several of those interested in the sale and purchase of the Duluth
Gas and Water company's plant heard
it and were nearly frightened to death
in their opinion, and many others, too,
the acceptance of that proposition would mean that the courts would be so influenced as to declare the election of Oct. 26 illegal and throw the whole thing out.

Superintendent Craig, with a look of wonder on his face, rushed up to an alderman in whose word he always had confidence and said:

"Don't you have any more to me.
I've found out all about this."

"What do you mean?" was the puzzled
reply.

"Why? You have declared that the Clyne proposition was dead, and that it never would come up again for consideration."

"Well, that's right," declared the alderman.

"How is it, then, that these fellows claim from eleven to thirteen votes and declare that the resolution accepting the proposition will be passed tonight?"
queried the usually smiling Mr. Craig,
who was not at all on the inside for once
and did not know how the aldermen had made a monkey of the Clyne proposition schemers.

"Well, it will not come up. If it does,
you can have my head," and that was all
the alderman would say.

Mr. Holmes' Resolution.

Even the resolution accepting the Clyne proposition is a curiosity and expects to get the resolution through the council last Monday night and the methods
which he employed. The inside history
of the scheme has not all been told yet,
however. Statements made by the various aldermen to The Herald will not only
throw additional light on statements already made, but make further revelations, both astonishing and interesting.

The City Engineer Threatened.

A Herald reporter called upon City Engineer Reed. He was loth to answer questions, not because he wanted to conceal anything but, apparently, because he did not care to mix in a matter that never had come before him for official action or consideration on his part.
"What would be the reasonable expense of doing the work specified in the Clyne proposition as set forth in this resolution?"

"Well, I think it could easily be done for $500,000—possibly $450,000. I cannot say exactly."

"Do you think these specifications safe and fair ones for the city?" continued the scribe.

"Well, the way I read them, they don't tie anyone to much of anything. The way they are worded in that resolution
would make their fairness depend almost wholly on the moral qualifications of the
city engineer."

"Have you ever been asked to support
this scheme with your personal and official influence?"

"Well—yes, I have," admitted Mr.
Reed.

"By whom?" the reporter asked.

"By W. J. Holmes."

"What did he say?"

"He asked me to help and support the
scheme and he also wanted me to recommend it to certain aldermen if they came
to me for my opinion or advice."

"Did he say anything else?"

"Well, he said that if I showed myself favorably disposed towards his scheme, he saw no reason why I should
not remain right along in my present position and gave me to understand that it would be to my interest in every way to favor and recommend the scheme. As I said, the matter never came before me
officially, so I never have made any recommendations for or against it."

stand, however, that he did not think the Clyne proposition was one that the city
ought to entertain.

"Has anyone labored with you in the interests of the Clyne proposition within
the past few weeks?" asked a Herald
representative of Alderman J. W. Nelson.

"No, sir," replied he. "Mr. Holmes,
who certain members of the council told
me was interested in the matter, has been in a store several times. We have always exchanged remarks on the weather but he never has made any reference to the Clyne proposition."

within ten days from notification of the passage of this resolution, enter into a formal contract
in writing with the said city for the construction, equipment and completion of the said additional water system and plant, as herein
specified, and in the manner provided in said
plans and specifications thereto, under the supervision of the city engineer of said city,
and the usual form of such contract and ob-ligating the said Clyne to commence work on said additional water plant and system within thirty days after said plans and specifications
shall be furnished complete for such construction, the same to be furnished
within ten days after the passage of this resolution, and obliging him to construct, equip
and complete such plant and system on or before Jan. 1, 1896, and to pay for the same the sum that the said Clyne shall, at the time of the passing of said contract, furnish to the said
city a satisfactory bond in the sum of $100,000,
with sureties to be approved by the common council,
conditioned as usual in such cases for the faithful performance of such contract and the payment of all claims for material and labor
thereunder, and the protection of all workmen
thereon and those who furnish material therefor.

Provided, however, that said proposition is accepted upon the express condition that it shall be subject to the approval of the city engineer, and that the city shall be bound to raise money upon the bonds issued or which may be issued to defray the cost of such improvements, require the said contractor to do so, he shall receive payments as from time to time from the city, running not to exceed
two years from date of issue, drawing interest
at the rate of 7 per cent per annum.

Fourth, The mayor, city clerk and city engineer shall be and are hereby instructed to execute such contract between the said city and the said Clyne, in accordance with the terms of said proposition and this resolution, and the city clerk is instructed to notify the said Clyne of the adoption of this resolution and furnish him with a copy thereof, and to sign the same as shall be deemed proper in writing to said Clyne on the part of the said city of the determination of the said city not to duplicate
the present water system and of all things
therein contained and required.

Would Have Been a Snap.

"He who runs may read," so no space will be taken up with criticisms, but take that clause: "Said additional water plant and system shall, in a general way, consist of 1000 feet," etc., etc. Wouldn't a lot of lawyers have a fat thing of it attempting to prove in a court of law what is meant by "in a general way." Then, too, if doctors should disagree, so to speak, who would decide in those cases
when not specified, the pipes are to be of proper weight and thickness," etc., etc. The hydrants are to be erected as indicated by the engineer. What complications might follow if he utterly failed to "indicate." Then what a snap
it would be to get city orders bearing 7 per cent interest when city orders are in good demand at one quarter of 1 per cent above par. Then an $800,000 contract, with a profit of $300,000, is not so bad, either.

But Brother Holmes and his associates
not only were accommodating enough to furnish a ready-made resolution, but they also furnished to such aldermen as were to be leaders on the floor
when the scheme was to be railroaded through, written directions how to do the nefarious and disgraceful deed.
Here it is, as copied from directions in
Mr. Holmes' own handwriting:

"Move that this council now proceed to elect a successor to William Getty as alderman from the Second ward."

"Nominate
"Introduce resolution accepting Clyne proposition."

"Oppose reference to committee—insist that the people want pure water and the laboring men want work at once."

"Has been referred to board of public works. Read page 45, report '94."

The so-called report is that of the board of public works, as printed in the book of reports for the municipal year ending Feb. 28, 1894. It in no way can be considered a report on the Clyne proposition. It simply states the need of pure water, the advantages of city ownership, the low price of labor and the reasonable cost of construction under existing conditions and the reduction
that would follow in meter rates to private consumers.

All the above shows what W. J.
Holmes seriously hoped and expected to get the resolution through the council
last Monday night and the methods
which he employed. The inside history
of the scheme has not all been told yet,
however. Statements made by the various aldermen to The Herald will not only
throw additional light on statements already made, but make further revela-
tions, both astonishing and interesting.

way they are worded in that resolution
would make their fairness depend almost
wholly on the moral qualifications of the
city engineer."

"Have you ever been asked to support
this scheme with your personal and official influence?"

"Well—yes, I have," admitted Mr.
Reed.

"By whom?" the reporter asked.

"By W. J. Holmes."

"What did he say?"

"He asked me to help and support the
scheme and he also wanted me to recommend it to certain aldermen if they came
to me for my opinion or advice."

"Did he say anything else?"

"Well, he said that if I showed myself favorably disposed towards his
scheme, he saw no reason why I should
not remain right along in my present position and gave me to understand that it
would be to my interest in every way to
favor and recommend the scheme. As I
said, the matter never came before me
officially, so I never have made any recommendations for or against it."

stand, however, that he did not think the Clyne proposition was one that the city
ought to entertain.

"Has anyone labored with you in the
interests of the Clyne proposition within
the past few weeks?" asked a Herald
representative of Alderman J. W. Nelson.

"No, sir," replied he. "Mr. Holmes,
who certain members of the council told
me was interested in the matter, has been in a store several times. We have always exchanged remarks on the
weather but he never has made any
reference to the Clyne proposition."

WEST DULUTH ITEMS

Trouble in the Raab Household Caused by the Death of Jacob Raab on Saturday.

Mrs. Raab's Step Son Demanded That the Coroner Make a Post Mortem Examination of the Body.

She Absolutely Refused to Allow This and the Attending Physician Says Nothing is Wrong.

Mrs. Rebecca Raab is in trouble again. For some time her husband has been ill and on Friday last she called on the police department for protection on the plea that her step son had driven her out of doors, thrown away the medicine she was giving her husband and insisted on bringing another doctor from Duluth to treat the patient. The family row culminated on Saturday afternoon when the old gentleman died and the son called on Coroner Eklund and asked that a post mortem examination be held over the body of his father.

The coroner consented and yesterday came up to perform his duties. Mrs. Raab was furious at the idea of an examination of the remains and refused to permit the operation. In order to be sure of his position the coroner deferred action until he could consult the county attorney in regard to the matter.

The name of the deceased was Jacob Raab and he was about 75 years of age. Dr. Huntson has been treating him for several weeks and attributes his death to softening of the brain. The doctor says he does not know of any other cause and he thinks if there was anything of a suspicious nature connected with the case he would have detected the symptoms.

Coroner Eklund has decided not to make an examination of the body, but to give any definite reason for wanting it he would do it, but he gives none. On the other hand the attending physician says everything was all right and the man died a natural death.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence, Fourth avenue, near Bay Front.

THE HEALTH REPORT.

Death Rate of 8.1 This Year, a Decrease from that of Last Year.

The report of the health department for February is as follows: The total number of deaths was 41 and the death rate per 1000 was 7.9 per cent. Last year there were 41 deaths and a rate of 8.1. For the month of February last year the death rate was 7.9 per cent.

The principal causes of death were: Pneumonia, 13; consumption, 14; gastro-enteritis, 1; typhoid fever, 2; accidental deaths, 1; diphtheria, 2; cerebro-spinal meningitis, 2. There was one each from diabetes, peritonitis, imation, heart disease, cholera infantum, pelvic abscess, capillary bronchitis, infantile convulsions, intestinal obstruction, erysipelas, breast cancer, embolism and pleuritis.

Of those who died 12 were born in Duluth, 11 in other states and 23 in foreign lands; 26 were male and 15 female; 23 single and 10 married.

During the month there were 120 births—57 male and 63 female. Among these there was one pair of twins and one stillborn.

St. Paul's Church Mission.

The mission at St. Paul's church conducted by Archdeacon Webber is drawing more and more attention to the services which he is holding in St. Paul's church. Yesterday he spoke five times and every day this week makes three addresses. His preaching is characterized by his methods, is a vivid word painter, constantly refers to Scripture and in some ways suggests a comparison with the great Philip Brooks. He is in no respect sensational but is calm and composed in his talk and yet his words so fit the manifold needs of men's hearts that the tears often spring to one's eyes and the emotions are strongly appealed to as well as the reasoning powers. Services will be held daily this week at 10 a. m., 3:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. Those who go to two or three services are sure to be drawn into frequent attendance.

Arrived at Jaffa.

JAFFA, Palestine, March 4.—The Hamburg-American line steamship Furst Bismarck which left New York on Jan. 29 with a large party of excursionists, arrived here on Saturday.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years it supported a lucrative trade. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 to 25 grains. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surface of the system. They offer $100 for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

business known. I always supposed he was waiting for a street car.

Alderman O'Connell's story.

"How much were you offered to support the Clyne proposition?" abruptly asked a Herald man of Alderman O'Connell.

"I was offered $1500," was the answer.

"By whom?"

"W. J. Holmes," replied Mr. O'Connell.

"Please tell me all about it."

"Before the municipal primaries, Mr. Holmes came to me and said: 'O'Connell, if you support the Clyne proposition, I will give you $1500.' This was on Thursday."

"I want to look it up," I answered, "and will let you know Saturday."

"I figured on it and looked up prices of pipe, etc. I found that the prices at the time of the estimate were 25 per cent higher than now."

"Holmes called on me the next Saturday, I told him that I favored doing the work by day labor and small contracts, thereby giving the city the advantage of any profit."

"If you will support the Clyne proposition," replied Holmes, "I will see that you have no opposition and will insure your re-election."

"I won't agree to that," I said, "for I cannot and will not support that measure. Go ahead with your opposition. If people don't want me for alderman, all right."

"There will be $20,000 profit in this contract," continued Holmes. "If you support it, we will not re-elect you, but there will be $1500 in it for you."

"That made me angry," remarked Mr. O'Connell to the reporter, "and I replied: 'Now, Holmes, that's enough. If I have favored this plan before, I will fight it from this on. Now go ahead and get up all the opposition you want to.'"

The Herald's readers will remember that Mr. O'Connell had all the opposition that could be scared up.

Holmes called on Trevillion.

"Did W. J. Holmes ever ask your support for the Clyne proposition?" asked a reporter of Alderman Trevillion.

"No, he never did, but I think he was here several times to see me," I replied.

"One Saturday night six weeks ago a tall, slim man, with a full beard, not very dark in color, wearing, I think, a black astrakhan overcoat came in to see me. I was very busy and he said he would call again. He did not make his errand known. He called again when I was out, and a week ago last Monday he called a third time. He told me that he wanted to see me and asked me to call at his office on the fifth floor of the Palladio 508 or some number near that."

"I am not sure of the number," he said.

"The boys said he was a lawyer and I thought he wanted to see me in regard to a suit which I was a party, I neglected to go. I was sure that I had, I might have caught on to something."

Alderman Trevillion said that he had heard the Clyne proposition was to come out last Monday, but he did not and he paid no attention to it.

The description given above accords with that of Mr. Holmes. Yesterday a Herald reporter walked up five flights of stairs in the Palladio and on the door of room No. 507, fifth floor, read these words: "W. J. Holmes. Municipal Bonds. Mortgages. He most certainly must have been the man who paid Alderman Trevillion so many little visits."

Lerch was approached.

Alderman Lerch was very communicative when approached by a Herald representative. "I told the party who came to me that I did not approve of the scheme at all and that I had not ready yet to dig my political grave."

"Mr. Lerch also declined to admit that the party who 'approached' him held out any financial inducement."

"How much were you offered to support the Clyne proposition Alderman Patterson?" asked a Herald reporter.

"Nothing," was the reply. "When that fellow came to me the second time, I said: 'Keep away from me. I don't want anything to do with such a man as you.'"

"What man—Holmes?" the reporter quickly asked.

"No, Tom Wood, the lawyer. He looked terribly funny when I told him that and then, when he saw it was no use to try to do anything with me, explained to me that he was not personally interested at all, but that when those fellows scheme came to him and wanted him to help, he replied that he was in the law business and that the only way he would work would be as a lawyer, for a lawyer's fee."

The Herald wants to say right here that in all the evidence and information it has secured in this peculiar affair, not a word has been heard that would indicate that either Mr. Wood or any one else except Holmes attempted to influence a single man with offers of money or other bribes. So far as learned, the others employed only their hypnotic influences and powers of vocal persuasion.

It has been intimated that Superintendent Craig of the Duluth Gas and Water company, was offered a heavy per cent of the take-off if he would go into the deal. It is most certain that the proposition refused, and if an offer was made, The Herald has not even a hint as to who made it.

Alderman Cox offered $5000.

Alderman A. M. Cox, after much urging, consented to tell what he knew about the inside workings of the scheme.

"Tom Wood first tackled me at the city hall. I told him to go away as we were not all insane. No, he never made any criminal proposition—simply tried to persuade me to support the scheme."

"Then Holmes tackled me. He saw me frequently and at length got to coming to my house—sometimes two or three times a day."

"What does that man want, coming here so much?" asked my wife.

"I don't know," said I, "whether he is crazy or trying to get me into trouble, but I'm going to find out."

"He wanted me to help him out on the Clyne proposition. He represented that if that was accepted, the opposition to the water-works purchase election, on the part of Truelsen, Harrison and others would at once cease."

"That will make work, Mr. Cox," said he. "You can not as many men to work as you want to," he told me. He told me that my ward was predominated by workmen and that I could greatly strengthen my popularity by making work for them."

"Did he offer you money to support this?"

"I must say that he did," replied Cox.

"Now, how much?"

"Five thousand dollars," said the favorable way of the Sixth ward.

"How did it happen that he promised you $5000 and only offered O'Connell $1500, Mr. Cox?"

"Oh, he picked me out as an assistant. He honored me by selecting me for a sort of boodle sub-treasurer. At first he wanted me to handle all the cash and distribute it among the aldermen. I said: 'Oh, no. You must do that. I have a large family and don't want to be separated from it yet.'"

Others to Get $2500 Each.

"Then he wanted me to see Alderman Nelson, Ole and Christensen and fix them."

"How much were they to get?"

"How much were they to get?" I understood that Lerch was slated for the same amount. In fact, as I understand it, anyone who would support the scheme could have $2500, at the least."

"Did you try to fix any of the aldermen?"

"No. We would compare notes with each other and laugh. If the thing had ever come up in the council, the whole thing would have been exposed. Despite Holmes' claim of thirteen votes, there was not an alderman who would introduce the resolution."

Holmes' Other Scheme.

"You boys stick to me in this," Holmes told me, continued Cox, "and there is a price to follow. We will get an option on the West Duluth plant for $225,000, and sell it to the city for $300,000. There will be $75,000 apiece in that for each of you. That'll be all right won't it? Then, later on, we'll buy the gas plant back from the city and sell it to some private company. There will be something in that, too."

Mr. Cox reminded Mr. Holmes that Alderman O'Connell had publicly stated that the West Duluth plant was not worth over $60,000.

"Oh, well," replied Holmes, "those aldermen will talk differently then."

"One day Holmes wanted me to see him and arrange for boosting Page Morris out of the city attorney's office," continued Mr. Cox. "I told him I didn't know about that—I was rather in favor of keeping Morris there."

"Well," said Holmes, "he won't agree to recommend this scheme, and when it comes up, he's likely to jump up and oppose it. He's got to go out. We will put Phelps in his place."

One amusing thing happened last Monday, if The Herald is correctly informed. Holmes had been counting on President Howard's support. Going to one of the aldermen, the perniciously active West Duluthian said:

"Well, Howard has gone back on us. I guess he got afraid."

Not many hours later Mr. Holmes began to realize that all the aldermen had gone back on him and he even began to suspect that not a single one had ever been with him.

"Why," shouted Alderman Cox in the ears of the reporter, "people abuse Billy Craig and accuse him of all the mean things in the world. He's an angel, working in the garden of Eden, compared with these schemes back of the Clyne proposition."

The City Attorney Interviewed.

Last Saturday, a gentleman who called upon him, City Attorney Morris said that the resolution, as printed above, was handed to him by J. L. Washburn, with these words: "I was requested to draw up this resolution and hand it to you to look over. Mr. Morris then stated that Mr. Holmes later on came in and asked him to recommend it. He replied that he had not examined it, and as it had not come before him officially, he would not do so until it had. The city was his client and all business must come through the council."

Raised His Offer.

Today, at noon, Alderman Cox called at the Herald office an indignant and excited man.

"Holmes was to see me again Saturday night," exclaimed Cox as soon as he got inside the door. Then he proceeded to narrate the following as told to him by W. J. Holmes:

"A Herald reporter has been interviewing the aldermen on this Clyne proposition. He saw French and French told me that the reporter told him that you have intended all the time to throw me out of the door. I could not believe that you, now, Cox, you stand by me in this, put it through next Monday evening (tonight) and, in the long run, there will be $10,000 in it for you and $5000 apiece for all the rest of the boys."

Now, how much?"

"Five thousand dollars," said the favorable way of the Sixth ward.

What Will the Council Do?
The exclusive publication by The Herald last evening of the details of a bold attempt to bribe several members of the common council to pass the so-called Cline proposition to build extensions to the water system created a great sensational throughout the city. It was the most important item of local news
that has appeared for a year and the enterprise of The Herald in ferreting out
the nefarious scheme and laying bare all its startling details was the subject of many favorable comments.

The morning paper affected to make light of the story and to think it funny,
but the people who were interested in the daring scheme are inclined to regard it as a very serious matter, which may result in decidedly serious consequences to them.

It is a matter that can hardly be permitted to drop with this exposure. A grave crime has been committed, and those who have violated the bribery laws should be called upon to answer for it at the bar of justice. The common council itself cannot afford to treat the matter
lightly. The honor and integrity of several of its prominent members have been attacked by rascally offers of bribe money. Self respect demands that the council should take proper notice of the criminal insult and act accordingly.

A Disastrous Enterprise.
The attention of the St. Paul and Minneapolis people who have been advocating the idea of a ship canal between Lake Superior and the Mississippi
at the Twin Cities and who have succeeded in inducing congress to throw away $10,000 on a useless survey of the proposed route, may profitably be directed to the financial condition of the Manchester ship canal. This canal was a great enterprise. It was highly suggestive to commercial enterprise and its construction in the face of great difficulties was typical of British pluck. But after the expenditure of millions upon its construction it has proven a failure in every way. Its bankruptcy is already an established fact.

It was the dream of the Manchester people that this canal would make their city a seaport and they would no longer be compelled to pay tribute to Liverpool
and the railroads between the two cities
—something similar to the dream now indulged in by some people in St. Paul and Minneapolis. The London Statist, which is a financial journal of high standing, has published some statistics
about the Manchester canal which show how badly the Manchester people have been deceived by the canal, but they have been practically unaffected by it. Ships laden with raw materials for the great manufacturing town and goods for the merchants still go to Liverpool, their rich cargoes being still shipped to their destination by rail, instead of being more slowly and cheaply transported via the canal. The great work has done none of the things which it was expected to do, and, of course, it has cost a great deal more money than it was said it would do.

The Statist, which is always careful and conservative in its statements with regard to the standing of corporations, freely states that the Manchester Canal company is hopelessly bankrupt. According to the latest report made by the company, it appears that the total amount of its stock is $1,541,200, or in round numbers $77,000,000. But capital expenditure is still proceeding, and is now considerably greater than when this report was made.

The company has power to borrow
$3,500,000 additional; but already its
bare interest charges require the canal
to earn more than this latter amount annually, and the Statist says that before
the common shares, which amount to $20,000,000, can come in sight of a
dividend, the company must earn its
working expenses and over $2,000,000 a
year, irrespective of additions to capital,
sinking fund, depreciation, or reserves.

There are at present no indications that
the canal will ever earn so much money;
indeed, no expectation or estimate previously given of its earnings has been realized.

The saving of time and convenience,
promised by the construction of the
canal, has not been realized, and today
the people of Manchester are importing
to Liverpool, not to Manchester, and the volume of business of the railroads between the two cities has not decreased.

Government Telegraph Service.
A sketch showing the great development of the telegraph in Great Britain
since it passed under government control in 1870 as a result of Mr. Gladstone's
efforts, is given in a report to the state
department from United States Consul
Clerk Martin at Southampton. He shows that all of the separate companies' lines
were taken by the government in 1870 for £11,000,000 and that in the year
succeeding the government built 15,000
miles of wire to connect the various systems.

As an illustration of the results of their policy, the reports show that while in 1870 the total number of telegrams handled weekly by all offices was estimated at from 125,000 to 215,000, in 1893
the total exceeded 1,100,000 and the
number sent annually exceeded 70,000,000.
In 1870 the English press service was 200,000 words; now it amounts to 600,000 words, thirty-six times more
than formerly.

The present press rate is absurdly
small as compared with the tariff prior to 1870, and in place of sending seventy-
five words per minute one way, the wires
now carry 500 words a minute and six
messages are sent simultaneously on one
wire. This service is performed with perfect punctuality; the average time of
a message being about seven or nine
minutes as against two or three hours in 1870. The rate is 12 cents for twelve
words, paid in stamps.

It is not possible to calculate the cost
to the treasury of the telegraph service
because of its combination with the postal service; but the English government does
not consider it as a means of revenue, but rather as a means of helping
trade and informing the public.

The success of government control of
the British telegraph lines strengthens
the conviction that the system would prove successful in this country. There
is no valid reason why government control of American telegraph lines should
not prove satisfactory, and the sole question is whether it would be more satisfactory to the public than the present system of private ownership. One of chief obstacles is the large amount that
would be asked by the telegraph companies to surrender their franchises and
other property to the government.

It is a matter of ordinary belief that
the $2 sleeping car rate is uniform
throughout the country. This is not quite
the case, and now that so many legislatures are moving in the matter a glance
at the figures proposed for the future
may be taken. New York has a $1.50
rate and proposes to reduce it to 80
cents. Pennsylvania suggests $1 for the first 100 miles and 50 cents for each additional 100 miles. Illinois proposes
$1 for twenty-four hours; Texas is considering at $1 a night; Arkansas half a
cent a mile and the upper berth closed
when not in use. Indiana and Kansas
have thrown out $1 rate bills. Massachusetts thinks 40 cents sufficient, and
Nebraska has eleven bills pending with $1 the maximum in each case. While
some of the amounts proposed are too
small, there is no doubt the $2 rate is excessive.

No more they whisper through the woods;
Idle and mute their frothed strings,
In branch and brake, when Mida sings.

The company has power to borrow
$3,500,000 additional; but already its
bare interest charges require the canal
to earn more than this latter amount annually, and the Statist says that before
the common shares, which amount to $20,000,000, can come in sight of a
dividend, the company must earn its
working expenses and over $2,000,000 a
year, irrespective of additions to capital,
sinking fund, depreciation, or reserves.

There are at present no indications that
the canal will ever earn so much money;
indeed, no expectation or estimate previously given of its earnings has been
realized.

The saving of time and convenience,
promised by the construction of the
canal, has not been realized, and today
the people of Manchester are importing

volume of business of the railroads between the two cities has not decreased.

Government Telegraph Service.
A sketch showing the great development of the telegraph in Great Britain
since it passed under government control in 1870 as a result of Mr. Gladstone's
efforts, is given in a report to the state
department from United States Consul
Clerk Martin at Southampton. He
shows that all of the separate companies' lines
were taken by the government in 1870 for £11,000,000 and that in the year
succeeding the government built 15,000
miles of wire to connect the various systems.

As an illustration of the results of their
policy, the reports show that while in 1870 the total number of telegrams handled weekly by all offices was estimated at from 125,000 to 215,000, in 1893
the total exceeded 1,100,000 and the
number sent annually exceeded 70,000,000.
In 1870 the English press service was 200,000 words; now it amounts to 600,000 words, thirty-six times more
than formerly.

The present press rate is absurdly
small as compared with the tariff prior to 1870, and in place of sending seventy-
five words per minute one way, the wires
now carry 500 words a minute and six
messages are sent simultaneously on one
wire. This service is performed with perfect punctuality; the average time of
a message being about seven or nine
minutes as against two or three hours in 1870. The rate is 12 cents for twelve
words, paid in stamps.

It is not possible to calculate the cost
to the treasury of the telegraph service
because of its combination with the postal service; but the English government does
not consider it as a means of revenue, but rather as a means of helping
trade and informing the public.

The success of government control of
the British telegraph lines strengthens
the conviction that the system would
prove successful in this country. There
is no valid reason why government control of American telegraph lines should
not prove satisfactory, and the sole question is whether it would be more satisfactory to the public than the present
system of private ownership. One of chief obstacles is the large amount that
would be asked by the telegraph companies to surrender their franchises and
other property to the government.

It is a matter of ordinary belief that
the $2 sleeping car rate is uniform
throughout the country. This is not quite
the case, and now that so many legisla-
tures are moving in the matter a glance
at the figures proposed for the future
may be taken. New York has a $1.50
rate and proposes to reduce it to 80
cents. Pennsylvania suggests $1 for the
first 100 miles and 50 cents for each additional 100 miles. Illinois proposes
$1 for twenty-four hours; Texas is considering at $1 a night; Arkansas half a
cent a mile and the upper berth closed
when not in use. Indiana and Kansas
have thrown out $1 rate bills. Massachusetts thinks 40 cents sufficient, and
Nebraska has eleven bills pending with $1 the maximum in each case. While
some of the amounts proposed are too
small, there is no doubt the $2 rate is excessive.

HIS ATTEMPT FAILED

Alderman Evans Wanted the Council to Elect a Successor to Alderman Getty Last Evening.

The Other Aldermen Would Not See It That Way, However, and Took No Action.

New Council Meets Tonight and Will Have Two Aldermen Besides City Officers to Elect.

Alderman Evans attempted to commemorate his exit from the common council last night by springing a scheme to choose William Getty's successor but he signally failed. Almost the first thing the clerk read after the council came to order was the resignation of Mr. Getty. On motion of Alderman Hale, the resignation was accepted and the grin of business went on in its weary rounds.

Just before adjournment, Mr. Evans got up and said: "I move that we proceed to ballot for a man to fill Mr. Getty's place in this council. I think it no more than right and just that his ward have its representative when the new council meets tomorrow night to organize for the coming year."

Alderman Cox jumped up and exdoubtedly will succeed himself and everything seems most favorable for Dr. Goffe doing the same in the health department.

The "auditing committee" having in charge the investigation of the methods and doings of Street Commissioner McLaughlin, asked more time and was given this week. Sessions will be held Thursday and Friday. Some maintain that McLaughlin is being persecuted while others think that he has things tangled up to say the least, and he will be asked to resign.

ANOTHER RICH GOLD FIND.

Discovery of Another Valuable Property in the Seine District.

J. W. Thickets and William Peters returned Saturday from their trip up the Seine having discovered a new property while gone that promises to be one of the biggest gold mines in the country, says the Rainy Lake Journal of Feb. 28. It is located north of the famous Champion mine, and contains about 170 acres. The gentlemen have named the property the Hattie E. mine. The snow was deep, and the weather cold, but they succeeded in uncovering a 10-foot vein of quartz that shows up wonderful pinnings. Samples of the ore were sent to different places for assay. The owners fitted themselves with steel, tools, dynamite and provisions, engaged a crew of men and sent them up there to begin the work of development.

Col. J. H. Taylor, of Ironwood, Mich., president of the Sunniah Mining company and also of the Seine River City Mining company, said, in an interview: "I have been through a number of mining excitements, have been a practical miner all my life, but I want to say to you that this is my first conviction that no mining rush, since that of 1849, will equal that coming this way in the near future."

ON THE MESARA RANGE.

Good Progress is Made in Developing the Sellers Mine.

At the Sellers mine things are moving along with clocklike precision under the direction of Superintendent Munger, who is a thorough and practical mining man, says the Hibbing News. This week the foundation is being built for the large double engine about to be put in for hoisting, the cylinders of which are six feet in length with a hoisting capacity of four to five tons. The frame work for the new shaft house, 22 by 22, 60 feet high, is also about completed. At present the underground work is performed by seven men, but in a few days work will be commenced on three drifts leading north, northwest and northeast from the main shaft, which will require eighteen men under ground.

Capt. Crooks has resigned his position at the Adams mine and accepted a like position with the Hibbing-Bessemer company. He is now visiting his family at Brookside, Wis.

Do you like the McKinley tariff, or the other kind? Everybody likes food cooked with Dr. Price's baking powder.

Will Appeal the Case.

M. Ahrens, who was found guilty of running a second-hand store without a license, will appeal to the supreme court. Judge McGindley, his attorney, argued before Judge Stone yesterday for a new trial but it was denied. Notice of appeal to the supreme court was given.

A Birthday Party.

Yesterday afternoon Sam, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Long, gave a party to a large number of his child acquaintances at the Long residence, No. 1235 East Third street, in honor of his

AMUSEMENTS.

Robert Downing.

An audience only fair in numbers and somewhat weak as to applause and cool as to enthusiasm attended an entirely capable and worthy performance by the Downing company at the Lyceum last night. There was a double bill consisting of Robertson's "David Garrick" and an amusing skit entitled "French Marriage." Downing and Miss Blair have been seen in Duluth before, but in widely different roles from those in which they appeared last night. Downing is associated in the minds of the public with such characters as Virginian and the Gladiator, and his appearance in comedy was watched with interest. The experiment is most successful.

Garrick is a trying part. The portrayal of the great actor as he, in response to the prayers of a Paritician father, successfully acts the part of a drunkard in order to destroy the ideal of the daughter formed from seeing him in Hamlet, while at the same time his true and better nature revolts at the insult the false part offers to his noble soul. Frederick's Simon Ingot was excellent. The French Marriage was a robust part. Yet in the midst of a Hamlet played by such a worthy Garrick, and in spite of the fact that Downing's sonorous and pleasing voice, somewhat weighted with fleshiness, he carried the part acceptably with all its finess and delicacy.

The second act, in which Garrick's simulated drunkenness shocks the simple bourgeoisie who have accepted Simon Ingot's hospitality, and in which he discovers the daughter whose infatuation he has agreed to crush is one whose he has treasured in his heart ever since her appreciation of his Hamlet performance. The piece, though clever, is somewhat talky, and drags a bit on that account.

Miss Blair makes a handsome and picturesque Ada, and her part was taken capably. It seems to require more facility for posing and looking well than for speaking her lines, and Miss Blair was strong in both. Her pantomime sorrow at the death of her ideal when Garrick made a foolish show of himself in her father's house was charming.

Mr. Amory's "Squire Whiffles" was very funny. His drunken scene in the third act was a good bit of comedy well played. Mr. Ingot was very good. The excellent, though just a trifle spiritless. The remainder of the company are good in their small parts.

"French Marriage" is a delightful little French bit of familiar marital cross purposes in which Miss Blair and Mr. Downing and the audience barely exceeded a corporal's guard in size and the meager applause that now and then broke after long intervals of silence and the French Marriage was a very sympathetic quite as much by appreciation.

In the first act the scene laid in Herman Blatz's saloon contained a number of papers which the club would be given that they would be taken care of.

The papers to be furnished are the Representative and Union, published at Minneapolis, the Milwaukee Advance, the National Watchman, published at Washington, D. C., and the Tribune, published at New York.

Three hundred new books were ordered purchased and about $1000 in bills ordered paid. The sun was shining and the books were issued and about purchased.

Changes in Management.

The organization of the Inaska Mercantile company has changed considerably. Benjamin Herrig, the manager, has retired and become president and Edward Blake, of Mountain Iron, has become general manager. Mr. Buene, man remains secretary and Hulet C. Merritt treasurer. W. L. Crosby, of Duluth, has purchased the company's real estate interests at Grand Rapids and the bank has been discontinued.

Car Service Report.

The Lake Superior Car Service association report 18,253 cars handled at the head of the lakes during February, a very large number as compared with February of other years. The principal commodities handled were: Coal and coke, 9273; grain, 3743; lumber, 2576; flour, 1007; iron, 465; hay, 376; meat and live stock, 134; miscellaneous, 685.

SPRING NEEDS.

What Everybody Requires at This Season.

Some Things Are of the Utmost Importance to You.

This Will Tell You Just What You Most Need Now and How to Get It.

In the spring changes always take place in our systems which require attention. There is a tired, languid feeling, a depression, the digestive organs become deranged, the blood is bad, causing the complexion to become affected and the person feels an inability to work.

At such a time a spring medicine is absolutely necessary. It will invigorate the blood, regulate the digestive organs, clear the complexion, and make you feel strong and well.

Read what Mrs. W. H. Smith, of 74 Sutton street, Providence, R. I., has to say.

"I was taken sick five years ago with the grippe. It left my whole system and especially my nerves in a terribly weak condition. I was dreadfully nervous, and lost almost control of myself. I was all discouraged and did not know what I should do.

"My limbs were swollen, my feet ached and I had pains all over my body. I got scarcely any sleep, and what little I did sleep was not good. I took many remedies, but without benefit. Finally hearing of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy highly recommended, I determined to use it.

"After taking one bottle I was almost entirely cured of all my troubles. My nerves were strong, and the pains left me, the swelling disappeared, and I could do my usual work. I feel like a new man. I am cured. I wish every sufferer might use it."

The reason why you should take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is, because it is the surest and quickest medicine in its action known. It positively and permanently cures all forms of nervous weakness and exhaustion, invigorates the blood and gives health and strength. Take it now, for Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy will do more for you than any other remedy.

It is the best spring medicine known. It is not a patent medicine, but the prescription of the most successful living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West Fourteenth street, New York City. He has the largest practice in the world, and his grand medical discovery is the result of his vast experience. The great reputation of Dr. Greene is a guarantee that his medicine will cure, and the fact that he can be consulted by anyone, at any time, free of charge, personally or by letter, gives absolute assurance of the beneficial action of this wonderful medicine.

Farwell Surprise Party.

In a few days Mrs. Ford, mother of Mrs. J. H. Darling, of No. 532 West Third street, goes to Michigan to remain for a time. Last evening the ladies of the Eastern Star, of which order Mrs. Ford is a member, gave her a surprise party. About forty ladies and gentlemen were present and the evening was spent in games. Refreshments were also served and, in the course of the evening, Mrs. Ford was made the recipient of a very fine present, as a token of the esteem and friendship of the donors.

Banking Company in Trouble.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 5.—An application is to be made for a receiver for the Bank of America, N. Y. & C. in St. Louis. The bank is reported to be in a very bad financial condition. The officers believe it will be necessary to appoint a receiver to take charge of the bank's affairs.

INVESTIGATION MAY COME.

Possibility That One Will Follow the Exposure of Holmes.

The Herald's interesting and complete story of the inside history of the Clyne proposition and the attempts to hoodle certain aldermen was not only a complete "heat" on all The Herald's competitors but was a complete surprise to even a number of the aldermen and city officials.

The loud cries of the newshy on the street caused quite a commotion and there was a great rush to get copies of the paper. At the West End, especially, the demand was away ahead of the supply and at 11 o'clock last evening one dealer hunted up a Herald employee and secured a large bundle of papers.

Many people were much pleased with the exposure. Some were incredulous as to its literal truth and quite a number did not know what to think. At the council meeting Alderman Cox asked Alderman Lerch if he could look his horses in the face, and Lerch retorted by calling Cox a $10,000 beauty. The whole thing was so complete and amusing that many, despite the real seriousness, were much amused and made it an excuse for cracking any number of good jokes.

Said Alderman Howard this morning: "I don't know of anything that I have read for a long time that did me so much good as that article. I hold this man Holmes to blame for a good many of these suburban franchises and contracts and I hope this exposure will restrain some of his undesirable activity."

The Herald has also received many flattering compliments over its good fortune in publishing the article exclusively and the attempts of certain ones to belittle the story and the enterprise necessary to bring it out excites, in turn, both disgust and amusement.

It is hinted in aldermanic circles today that possibly a resolution may be introduced this evening ordering an investigation of the methods and doings of those backing the Clyne proposition.

HE CHARGES DECEIT.

George W. Davis, the Rainy Lake Explorer, Has Sued His Former Partner for a Large Sum.

According to His Charges Moore Was to Enter the Lands Which Davis Should Find Valuable.

He Claims He Lost Many Thousands of Dollars Through Misrepresentations Made by Moore.

George W. Davis, the pioneer explorer of the Rainy Lake region and the original discoverer of the Little American mine, has sued Charles A. Moore, another pioneer and former partner of Davis, for $10,750, which he alleges he lost as a result of Moore's faithlessness. Davis in his complaint alleges that in May, 1893, he was a mining expert, accustomed to exploring for and discovering gold and silver producing rock formations and that Moore was a Rat Portage real estate agent.

Previous to May Davis had made a cursory examination of the ground and had become convinced that the country was full of rich mineral formations. He was ignorant of the American laws relating to the acquisition of mineral properties, so as Moore professed to be acquainted with them they entered into a partnership by which Davis was to prospect on the American side and report to Moore, who was to enter the lands and give Davis a half interest. Davis then proceeded to prospect, and reported a number of locations worth in the aggregate $50,000, all in 71-72.

Moore then went to Duluth to find out about the mineral laws, and when he came back he said he had consulted with a leading Duluth attorney who had told him the lands should be entered as a claim. Davis now alleges that as a matter of fact Moore never received such advice and that the only way to obtain the lands was under the homestead and stone and timber acts. The locations became generally known, and the partners lost all but lots 7 and 8, section 37-71-22 and lot 5 of section 27, 71-22, through contests and prior filings.

For lots 7 and 8, section 33, on which the Little American mine is located, Davis got $7,500, and for lot 5, section 27, on Drywood Island, he got $2,750. He thinks he should have got $25,000 out of the deal.

Another cause of action is for $500 he claims to have given Moore to pay debts at Fort Francis with, which he alleges Moore kept.

F. A. Patrick, manager of the Stone-Ordern company, has petitioned the court to appoint a receiver for the affairs of George H. Cannon, whom he alleges is insolvent. He claims that Cannon sold his store to Strand & Haugen and has given part of the proceeds to preferred creditors. Judge Ensign has ordered Cannon to appear March 9 and show cause why the petition should not be granted. In the meantime Cannon is restrained from disposing of his property.

R. E. White has filed his bonds in the sum of $10,000 as assignee of Thomas H. Phillips, with Edward McCue and W. S. Woodbridge as sureties.

Musical Club Organized.

The Mazurette Musical club is the name of a new organization that has recently come into existence. The members are among the most talented of the French element in the city. The club is under the leadership of H. Bourgeault. The officers are J. C. Marquis, president; P. Langlois, secretary; J. F. Prefontaine, treasurer; A. Leblanc, T. Gelly, N. Pilon, B. Pelletier, T. Lenoir, A. Racette, A. Gauthier, and L. Forest have already signed as members. It is the intention of the organizers to add new features to the club as it progresses.

WE ALWAYS GIVE A HEAPED-UP, PRESSED-DOWN, OVERFLOWING MEASURE OF VALUE FOR EVERY DOLLAR SPENT IN OUR STORE.

FACTS OF THE CASE:

The first calendar month of spring is bringing us the greatest March business we have ever known. Measure it by bulk, weight, dollars or transactions, we get the same great result—BIGGER THAN EVER BEFORE.

The Cause Should be Remembered.

It contains a magnificent argument for further gains. It is simply that we are Manufacturers, and that we get the pick of the markets in the other various lines of goods we sell. Therefore, it is impossible for competition to meet either the goods or the prices. The stocks show only worthy merchandise. The range of choice is vast beyond approach. We can and do dictate prices at which we buy, and therefore again, it is impossible for competition to meet the prices at which we sell.

This being so, you will lose if you fail to consult this store when you buy at retail.

Men's Suits,

New Spring Styles, ARRIVING EVERY DAY. 200 or 300 perfectly made

Dress, Business and Working Suits,

odd sizes, found in the sorting up of our stock. The suits are all new, perfect and desirable, some of them only in the house a few months, 1 and 2 suits left from stives where we had 25 to 30. Our modern merchandising methods never allow us to carry a garment from one season to another.

Hence The Cuts:

55 Suits sold at $5.00, Now go for..... $2.00

35 Suits sold at $10.00, Now go for..... $4.00

63 Suits sold at $12.00, Now go for..... $6.50

42 Suits sold for $20.00, Now go for..... $12.00

Men's Trousers at $3.50.

Positively worth $6.00, $5.00 and $4.50; all new spring patterns, bought at a sacrifice in New York and only received here last week. The man that lets this opportunity pass will be the poorer for it.

Think OF THE PRETTIEST LITTLE BOY YOU EVER SAW. HOW WOULD HE LOOK SHABILLY DRESSED?

No need of having any boy poorly dressed now, considering the prices at which we're selling our matchless stock of Boys' Clothing for this week.

Odd Lots Less Than Half Price.

In going through our stock of Boys' Clothing we find one suit of a kind; bright, new goods, of course, but only one left where there were twenty-five. On those sold we likely made a little money. So on these we can take a loss.
